

Days Creek Methodists Decide Church Issues

By JEAN YODER

Three official groups of the Days Creek Methodist Church met Jan. 11 at the church. At the Sunday school meeting, conducted by Supt. Harry Martin, the pre-primary class was divided into two groups; below four years, and four and five-year-olds. Mrs. Howard Walton, minister, decided to hold evangelistic services the week of March 14. Letters are being sent to each church member encouraging them to become active members in the local church, wherever they now live.

Those present for the meetings were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin, Donna Martin, Wade Worthington Jr., Ben Bloomer, Mrs. Joe Harvey, Marlene Yoder, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walton and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin.

Benefit Planned
A benefit evening of volleyball and basketball is being planned for Monday, at the Days Creek School gym. The Days Creek high school girls will play a volleyball game with girls from the Canyonville Bible Academy, beginning at 7 p.m. At 8 p.m. the Days Creek men's town team will clash with the Glendale town team in a basketball game. Admission is free, but a donation will be taken up for the polo fund.

Camas Valley and Days Creek High School girls had supper together at the Days Creek school following an afternoon of volleyball in the Days Creek gym, Tuesday.

The Days Creek girls supplied the potluck dinner. In the evening the two boys basketball teams played two games in regular tournament play.

Following the game all the players and participants were treated to cocoa and cookies in the school cafeteria, a custom which Days Creek has inaugurated this year.

Camas Valley Junior Varsity basketball team took the preliminary game by a score of 36-31. Days Creek teams were victorious in other games: girls volleyball, 57-1 and 51-14; and the varsity basketball game, 54-21.

Although chairs are of great antiquity, they were for many centuries used as a mark of dignity rather than as an article of ordinary utility.

Morse Advises Elect Democrats

(MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) told the Rural Electrification Cooperative Assn. this week that the American people to protect their interests should elect a Democratic Congress in 1954.

He said the rural cooperatives need a friendly administration in Washington "and that means a new administration." Morse spoke before the national convention of the rural electrification group.

"The Eisenhower big business administration has been giving the farmer, the consumer and even certain industries 'the business,' said Morse.

The association adopted unanimously a resolution condemning the new Department of the Interior power policy for the country and the new Missouri Basin marketing criteria.

"The new interior power policy calls for the building only of multipurpose dams which others will not build — which means the choice sites will go to the commercial power companies," the resolution said.
