Supreme Court Kayoes Censoring Of Two Movies

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Supreme Court ruled unanimously this week that New York State and Ohio improperly censored two controversial movies. New York had forbidden the showing of the sexy French film, "La Ronde," and Ohio censors had banned the crime movie "M."

The cases were carried to the highest tribunal in the contention that any censorship of movies violates the constitutional guarantees of free speech and press.

The high court announced its action in a brief order which said only that judgments given by the highest courts of Ohio and New York were reversed. The state courts had held that the pictures could be censored.

During argument of the cases on Jan. 17, the court was told that six states and some 50 cities have film censorship laws. The state, in addition to New York and Ohio, are Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and Kansas.

Before listening to the arguments, the justices saw both "La Ronde" and "M" in a private showing in the Supreme Court building.

In another action, the high court reversed itself and agreed to review a ruling that the Federal Power Commission is required to fix prices on interstate sales of natural gas by companies which produce and gather the fuel.

The high tribunal last Nov. 30 had refused to consider the ruling by the U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Reconsideration of the November refusal was asked by the Phillips Petroleum Co. and the states of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The Supreme Court granted their request Monday with an order which noted that Justice Black dissented from the action.

The tribunal gave no indication in its order Monday as to how far-reaching its decision may be so far as the movie industry is concerned.

It merely cited a 1952 decision which held that movies are entitled to the constitutional guarantees of free speech and press. The court said at that time, however, that these guarantees do not give absolute freedom to show every sort of picture at all times and all places.

In its 1952 decision the high tribunal said New York State could not legally ban the movie, "The Miracle," on the ground that it was sacrilegious.

MITCHELL APPROVED WASHINGTON (AP)— The Senate Tuesday unanimously and without debate approved the nomination of James P. Mitchell, former New York department store official, as secretary of labor.

Darryl Zanuck Pulls Surprise Trapeze Stunts

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Darryl Zanuck Tuesday established himself as one of the toughest acts to follow in show business. No one—not even Jimmy Durante who preceded the 20th Century-Fox boss—topped what a full house at Ciro's saw in amazement early Tuesday.

Zanuck was at once acclaimed by Hollywood as the greatest trapeze act since the Flying Concellos, and the Bernarr MacFadden of the middle-aged set.

Darryl did his stuff as the climax to a $15,000 party for 400 filmdom elite. It was tossed by Ciro's owner, Herman Hoyer, in honor of Terry Moore and Susan Zanuck, who recently returned from an entertaining in Korea.

Many famous Hollywood names—all costumed in oriental garb—entertained. Then someone called for Zanuck, father and boss of the guests of honor, to close the show with a speech.

He started off in his best banquet style. But suddenly he stripped off his shirt and called for the lowering of a trapeze used in a previous act.

"I hope my publicity director isn't here to stop me," cried the producer. The publicity man wasn't.

Then Zanuck announced that he would "do a stunt that only few men in the world can do." He tried to chin himself with one arm, promptly eliminating himself from the quintet.

Next, while the crowd counted in unison, he began chinning himself as he swung gently to and fro. He got all the way up to six.

At that point Miss Moore ran up on stage, planted a congratulatory kiss on the biss, and sang a number in his honor.

Zanuck then jumped up to the trapeze and chinned himself a few more times.
