VA Conducting Successful Fight On Tuberculosis

For the past four years, Veterans Administration has conducted the most extensive war on tuberculosis among veterans ever known in the history of the country.

In announcing the results of the program, VA said they are so significant that they are expected to pay health dividends to the entire nation.

In the four year period that the program has been under way on a fully implemented basis, VA has screened 4,217,000 persons for TB. These include 2,513,000 patients and 704,000 employees. Among these two big groups, VA discovered 12,740 cases of active pulmonary (lung) TB and 34,470 cases of inactive pulmonary TB.

The segment of the population covered is so large, VA said, that the results not only will reduce the incidence of TB infection among veterans and their families, but also should reduce the number of TB cases and deaths among the general population.

Officially known as the tuberculosis case-finding survey program, the vast scope and importance of the endeavor are indicated in the four-year analysis just completed.

The figures show that an average of 67,000 persons were screened each month during the four-year period. Among this group, approximately 265 previously unknown cases of active pulmonary TB and 760 inactive cases have been turned up each month. This is an average of approximately 1,000 new cases found every month for the four-year period.

In view of the infectious nature of active pulmonary TB, VA said it considers the number of new cases found and treated each month as an achievement in the nation-wide campaign to bring TB under further control.

Hoover Believes Franklin Would Be In For Big Shock

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover Saturday took note of some Benjamin Franklin philosophy, and concluded that that early great American would be in for "many shocks" if he were alive now.

"Franklin was an individualist," Hoover said. "He held no belief in people's leaning on government. He contended they must have a sterner fate if the nation was to go forward."

Hoover's talk, broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System network, was prepared for a meeting of the International Benjamin Franklin Society, Inc.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Scandinavian Airlines' Gorm Viking Super-Cloudmaster landed 40 minutes ahead of schedule here early today, completing a 6,000-mile test polar flight across the top of the world from Los Angeles.

The company hopes to inaugurate regular Scandinavia-to-Los Angeles passenger service on the route by May 1 if necessary agreements can be concluded with Canada and the United States. The airline's first trans-polar test flight was made in November, 1952.

The four-engine DC6B left Los Angeles Friday and flew by way of Edmonton, Alta; Churchill, Man.; Frobisher Bay, in Canada's Northwest Territories; and Greenland.
