Ellsworth, Cordon Measure Provides Joint Ownership

WASHINGTON (AP) —Construction of Cougar Dam and Reservoir by Army Engineers and Eugene, Ore., was proposed under bills introduced by Sen Cordon and Rep Ellsworth, Oregon Republicans.

The flood control and power project is on the south fork of the McKenzie River in Oregon.

The legislators released copies of a statement in which Secretary of Interior McKay gave the proposal "an emphatic endorsement"

The dam would be built by Army Engineers with Eugene, through the Eugene Water and Electric Board, contributing about 10½ million dollars toward its cost. The city's money would pay the entire cost of power facilities, including transmission lines, plus an additional 1½ million dollars toward flood control features.

Over-all cost of the project, including power is estimated at 34½ million dollars

Construction of Cougar Dam as a flood control project has been authorized by Congress.

The new bill would authorize the inclusion of power facilities at the city's expense

The dam would have an installed power capacity of approximately 35,000 kilowatts, all of which would be used by the city.

Cordon described the bill as the "perfect answer" to the partnership proposal put forward by President Eisenhower for the development of the nation's water resources.

McKay's statement said the Army Engineers had estimated the city's participation would result in a saving of 1½ million dollars to the federal government.

Ellsworth, calling the proposal "an ideal partnership arrangement," said that if the bill is not approved it would be necessary for the city to build its own dam in nglreae r ae aahes t"- the same general area.

a hot war there. Involvement anywhere in an all out war would be the greatest possible tragedy for America, Eisenhower added.

2. Asserted that the times are too serious for extreme political partisanship. He said he would counsel members of his administration to avoid it and would expect the Republican National Committee to show similar tolerance. These remarks were in response to questions about protests by Democrats that some Republicans have been making "dastardly" attacks on their party, seeking to link it to communism.

3. Volunteered that there is no basis for rumors the government is planning to increase the interest rate on rural electrification loans.

4. Announced that the two divisions which will be brought home from Korea are the 45th, to return to the U.S. about the middle of April, and the 40th, to return sometime in June. The 45th is made up largely of units of the Oklahoma National Guard and the 40th of California National Guardsmen.

5. Declared he has no intention of going into individual states during the coming congressional election campaign, and repeated he has no intention of participating in local contests. The President's remarks did not appear to close the door, however, to trips around the country in behalf of the administration program generally.

6. Disclosed that he hopes to travel to south Georgia this weekend to get in some bird hunting as the guest of the Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

7. Said in a prepared statement that 'by joining with the federal government in the multiple purpose development of the McKenzie River, the city of Eugene, Ore. is pioneering in the new concept of power development in the Pacific Northwest." He was alluding to the 34½ million dollar Cougar Dam which it is proposed to construct in Oregon.

8. Declined to express any view on the activities of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). A reporter had asked whether he approved of a statement by Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, that McCarthy's current political tour is a good thing for the party.

Umpqua Plywood Involved In Suit At Tacoma, Wash.

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A complaint which claims a Chicago firm and its owner are legally in control of the entirety of the common stock of the Wheeler-Osgood Co. here but have had no voice in its affairs was filed Tuesday in Federal Curt here.

Filed by MacArthur-Smith, Inc. and William M. MacArthur, the suit names the Wheeler - Osgood Co., Paul W. Billings, Edgar M. Eisenhower and the Umpqua Plywood Corp. as defendants.

The plaintiffs claim that there are now validly outstanding and issued only 15 shares of the common capital stock of Wheeler - Osgood, all of which are owned by the plaintiff.

The suit contends that on March 24, 1952, Wheeler-Osgood transferred to the Umpqua Plywood Corp. title to the Fir Manufacturing Co. of Oregon, a Wheeler-Osgood subsidiary, in exchange for 115,570 shares of Wheeler-Osgood common stock.

The suit further charges Billings, the president, and Eisenhower, the secretary of the Wheeler-Osgood firm, with "bad faith" in not requiring the Umpqua firm to surrender its Wheeler-Osgood stock certificates for cancellation.

Radio Station Records Readied For School Use

Several 16-inch science records donated by radio station KRXL are being catalogued for use in county schools, according to County Supt. Kenneth F. Barneburg.

The records are from the "Adventures in Research" series by Westinghouse and "Excursions in Science" series by General Electric. They will probably be suitable for use in high schools and upper elementary grades, Barneburg said.

Merle Barkhurst, vice principal at Myrtle Creek High School, has gone over the records to classify the material.

The 33-and-a-third r.p.m. records may be difficult to use on regular phonograph players, but it is hoped the problems of making use of the records can be ironed out, Barneburg said.

attacked, including the use of armed forces.

The significant anti-European army clause in the Russian plan read:

'The parties undertake not to enter any coalition or alliance or conclude any agreement, the purpose of which would contradict the purposes of the treaty on collective security in Europe."

Moscow has consistently maintained that the West, in rearming West Germans through the European Defense Community, is aiming a warlike dagger at the Soviet Union.

The treaty would be for 50 years, exactly as long as the Russians contend the West German government at Bonn would be tied to Western defense under EDC.

Molotov threw in one more determined effort to win a seat for Red China in United Nations councils. He proposed that the U. N. Security Council invite the government of the United States and the Peiping regime to send their representatives to the machinery that would be set up to administer the European security treaty. They would sit only as observers but this would place Red China on an equal footing with the United States inside U. N. councils.
