

THE BROWN-ADAIR WEDDING was an event of Feb. 16 at the First Methodist Church in Roseburg, when Donna Lea Adair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William (Bill) J. Adair, be-

The Roseburg Methodist Church was the scene Tuesday, Feb. 16, of the wedding of Miss Donna Lea Adair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William (Bill) J. Adair, to Max Gaylor (Spark) Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess W. Brown, all of this city.

The bride and groom gave special significance to the 16th, for it was two years from their first date.

At eight o'clock, the Rev. Ellsworth Tilton performed the impressive double ring ceremony. Mrs. Jack Adair, wearing a gown of lavender and a yellow rose corsage, was accompanied by Mrs. Myrtle Burr on the organ, as she sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Burr also played the incidental music and traditional wedding marches.

Bright yellow daffodils, long stemmed pussywillows, and sword ferns were given a romantic light from the double candelabra in the dimly lighted church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white nylon tulle gown over white silk with a lace bodice and bolero. Her veil of nylon tulle, matching her mitts, was edged with dainty lace and held in place by a crown of seed pearls. For something old, she wore a string of pearls given her by the bridegroom's mother. These had been handed down for many years in her family. The bride carried a large nosegay of forty red roses and white net.

Miss Carol Ann Neureiter, of Portland, was the bride's maid of honor. She wore a dainty pink ballerina length gown of nylon net with a string of pearls. She carried a nosegay of red roses and white net fashioned to match that of the bride's.

Jackie Mae Adair, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a long blue nylon gown with a string of pearls and carried a basket of red rose petals; sprinkling them before the bride.

Jack Adair, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were Jack Myers and Vernon Morris. The bride's mother wore a blue formal dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue dress with matching white accessories and a red rose corsage.

Miss Betty Boaz and Miss Barbara Wampler were in charge of the gifts and guest book. Immediately following the wedding was a bridal supper given by the bride's parents at the Umpqua Hotel. The white wedding cake was circled by daisies which also decorated the T-shape tables. Candles, angel chimes and other novelties added to the beauty. Mrs. Keith G. Merritt of Spokane, aunt of the bride, cut the cake. Those attending the supper were the bride and bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adair, Miss Carol Ann Neureiter, Vernon Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Myers, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Adair, Miss Jackie Mae Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Jess W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wiley, Mrs. Keith G. Merritt, and the Rev. and Mrs. Tilton.

For the dinner and traveling the bride chose a short-sleeved light blue dinner suit trimmed in navy blue. Her accessories were navy blue with a light blue cashmere coat trimmed in black velvet. Her corsage was of red roses.

Following a honeymoon to various coastal points, Mr. and Mrs. Brown are now at home to their friends at 813 Short St., Roseburg.

The roses, which were made beautifully realistic from wood fiber by the bride's aunt, Mrs. James E. Newberry, the church, and table decorations at the bridal supper, were all planned and arranged by Mrs. Earl Wiley. They were outstanding in originality and loveliness.

The bride and bridegroom attended Roseburg Senior High School together. The bride also attended the Roseburg School of Business and now is employed as secretary by the Nazarene Church. The bridegroom is employed by Roseburg Lumber Company.

"I GOT A DIAMOND BARGAIN"

(... maybe so, but you can't tell by just looking!)

Only an experienced diamond expert can identify a fine diamond when he sees one. Even then, he must use specialized instruments.

Often a so-called diamond "BARGAIN" is simply a compromise with quality, either in the diamond, the ring, or both.

For this reason, the American Gem Society recommends: "CHOOSE YOUR JEWELER BEFORE YOU CHOOSE YOUR DIAMOND"

The jeweler's reputation for value and honest counsel is the buyer's best assurance of a dollar-wise purchase.

If you are interested to learn more about diamonds, and how their value is determined, stop in and ask us for the American Gem Society's Free Booklet: "ABOUT GEMS AND JEWELERS" or simply stop and ask us the questions you may have. There is no obligation, of course.
