DR. JAMES TERRY IS GUEST SPEAKER AT AAUW MEETING WEDNESDAY

Learning to live with one's limitations is all important in maintaining mental health according to Dr. James Terry, psychologist from the Veteran's Hospital, who spoke to members of the Roseburg branch of AAUW Wednesday evening in the Senior High School library.

Four basic concepts, adaptation, stress, motivation and frustration were discussed by Dr. Terry. Physical demands, demands within the self and demands of society are continually being made upon the individual, he said. Everyone has various levels of stress or zones of tolerance under these demands which the individual can stand before becoming overcome by the demands. The amount of stress placed on the individual is most important in understanding the mental illness, the speaker stated.

Physiological and social drives, barriers and goals all effect motivation, Dr. Terry said. Without frustration learning does not occur and there is "nothing much going on." Certain behavior mechanisms, some socially acceptable and some not, are necessary when an individual is unable to work through a frustration in a normal, accepted way.

Everyone uses some of these mechanisms at times and many of them become automatic, according to the speaker. Among the more socially approved of these mechanisms are compensation, rationalization and substitution while those only socially tolerated or disapproved are projection, identification, overcompensation and substitution, he explained.

In concluding Dr. Terry listed twelve basic manifestations of normality all of which no one has in the ideal. Included in the list were adequate security, adequate self esteem, consistency of personality, ability to accept love and affection and adequate bodily desires and ability to gratify them.

Following the psychologist's discussion a question session was held.

During the informal business session preceding Dr. Terry, announcements were made concerning the state AAUW convention in The Dalles, April 23 and 24, and the youth conference for junior and senior high school students to be held March 27 at the Southern Oregon College of Education at Ashland. Mimeographed sheets compiled by the nominating committee were passed out to all members regarding the election of officers, recording and corresponding secretaries to be held at the April meeting, the date and time of which will be announced later.

One of the most entertaining musical programs of the club year was presented by members of the 7th grade of the junior high school under the direction of Miss George Shanklin. Emceed by Jerome Halladay the program opened with a solo, "Lullaby of Broadway," by Jeanie Thompson. "The Varsity Seven," Dick Peterson, Julio Robinson, Steve Albion, Jesse Backley, Larry Van Scoyck, Charles De Ross and Barry Saracin, sang "Vive L'Amor." A most humorous version of the Charles Brown song "The Bird" was sung by Ed and Lois Eddy, garbed in typical roving 20's costumes.

Marlene Kowalski sang "Secret Love" followed by the four "Half Notes," Alice Hamilton, Marilyn Todd, Lucia De Chiara and Sabra Unrath, who rendered "Jada Jada." Jerry Spinas played two accordion solos, "Perfidia" and "Beer Barrel Polka." Another vocal solo, "Too Young to Tango," followed by Kay Jeffries. Concluding the program was "Mova Schaefer, Loxalynn Gilman and Grace Phillips, known as the "Junior Highnotes," who sang "I Get So Lonely."

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Pat Oliver, Mrs. Betty Daves, Mrs. Darlene Young, Mrs. Dorothy Bradley, Mrs. Carl Rand, Mrs. Nellie Hunnicutt, Mrs. Alta Schultz, Mrs. Florence Groshong, Mrs. Nellie Motschenbacher, Mrs. Marian Palm, Mrs. Letha Henbest, Mrs. Troas Wimer, Mrs. Dora Fent, Mrs. Lotis Phillips, Mrs. Pat Eastin, Mrs. Carl Rand, Mrs. Bernice Grell, Mrs. Ina Moore and the hostesses.

WOMAN'S SOCIETY OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH MEETS ON THURSDAY

The Woman's Society of the First Presbyterian Church met Thursday afternoon in the attractive social hall of the education building. The spirit of St. Patrick was very much in evidence in the colorful table settings for the desert-luncheon. Beautiful bouquets of daffodils and acacia centered the tables and larger arrangements of the same flowers were placed about the room. Hostesses were Mrs. R. R. Clarke, chairman, Mrs. Edwin G. Young, Mrs. M. B. Green, Mrs. James Millar, Mrs. W. M. Chalmers, Mrs. E. R. Metzger and Mrs. John E. Runyan.

Presbyterian Missions was the topic for the day's program. An amusing but informative skit entitled "Feminine Flutter," was very cleverly arranged and produced by the program committee. For instance, the audience learned that the Presbyterian Church divides its work in the general field of missions under three main boards: Foreign Missions, National Missions and Christian Education. It learned that 7 percent of the 1953 budget of the local society went to support this missionary program. Taking part were Mrs. Roy E. Hanford, Mrs. M. J. Newland, Mrs. Earl Plummer, Mrs. J. P. Motschenbacher and Mrs. William A. Oerding.

The third in the series of devotions, "Time of Beginnings" was presented by Mrs. C. E. Roberts, whose studies in the "Book of Acts" were both stimulating and well-timed.

Offertory music by Mrs. Frances Lintott was variations on the theme of the old hymn "I Love To Tell the Story" by Fischer. A vocal solo, "Just For Today" was sung by Mrs. Charles A. Dondoro.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. W. M. Campbell, president. Several new members were introduced and presented with beautiful camellia corsages. A special guest was Mrs. Robert Ganz, Myrtle Creek, president of the newly formed Woman's Society of the recently established Tri-City Presbyterian Church.

The spring meeting of Southwest Oregon Presbyterian Society will be held in Roseburg March 26 beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary. A dinner will be served at the Baptist Church preceding the evening session. The Friday morning session will convene at 8:30 and the meeting will close at noon. Lunch will be open to everyone by reservation.

The next regular meeting will be April 8.
