Women Traffic Cops On Increase

CHICAGO (AP)—Lady traffic cops are on the increase in U. S. cities, says the American Municipal Assn. It says the trend to greater employment of women as traffic policemen is growing wherever men for police jobs are scarce.

Women are used in parking and traffic control. This is in addition to their work in protecting intersections near schools. For more than 20 years, civilian women have been hired by cities as school guards, thus freeing regular police for other duties.

Women are members of traffic patrols in Seattle, Wash.; Evansville, Ind. and Phoenix, Ariz. In New Orleans, they are called parking checkers.

But in Richmond, Va., they are regular patrolmen, drawing the same pay as male members of the force. They also have the same authority, including the carrying of revolvers and the power to make arrests.

Japan Asks U. S. Help For Radiation Victims

TOKYO (AP)—The Foreign Office Monday called for outside technical assistance in treatment of 23 Japanese fishermen whose boat was dusted by radioactive particles from the United States H-bomb test at Bikini.

Earlier, Japanese physicians treating the victims prevented American medical authorities in atomic radiation sickness from examining all but two of the 23 victims. The Japanese doctors later asserted the United States refused to offer advice in the case—a charge denied by the U. S. State Department.
