Candidate C. O. Porter Attacks Ellsworth's Vote

representative of them. In other speeches, he stated, "I shall state my own platform, the positive side of my campaign."

Before going into a detailed analysis of Ellsworth's voting record, Porter said his researches on the congressman's voting record are not complete. But, he said, "enough has been done to establish beyond any question where he stands on the important issues in Congress."

Porter outlined nine areas in which he believes Ellsworth's voting record is "black." Briefly, they are:

1. Public Power—"His record shows that he is not in favor of public power, with its benefits of low cost and abundant power. He is against federal investment and development of water power and for the private utilities, despite the immensely successful public power program in Oregon, which program he is now helping (Secretary of the Interior) McKay scuttle."

2. Timber—"He is a stooge for the big timber operators." His timber exchange bill, termed "special interest legislation" and a "give-away," was defeated in the House, 228 to 161. "Ellsworth's timber exchange bill, which construction bill has been denounced by Sen. Morse as 'full of sleeper clauses' and 'the scheme of the big operator.'"

3. Public Housing—"In the face of a proven and serious need, he has opposed federal assistance in housing people, especially people in the low- and middle-income groups."

4. National Defense—"He pinches a penny or two in opposing economic aid and technical assistance to backward countries and he fights the 'trade-not-aid' program with respect to more advanced nations, all the while unable to understand the relationship of Point Four and reciprocal trade to peace in the world."

5. Labor—"He has consistently been against any bill that sought to assist organized labor and for any bill to restrict organized labor." Later in his speech, Porter said "It is high time Harris Ellsworth came home to Roseburg. The News-Review, the Roseburg newspaper of which he was editor and now owns a part interest, is on the unfair list of the American Federation of Labor. I know nothing of the merits of the controversy but this would seem to be a problem worth Mr. Ellsworth's attention. He also might determine whether the profits of his paper require that the editorial employees work more than 40 hours a week, my information being that at present they are working more than 60 hours a week."

6. Wage and Price Controls—"He was always against these measures designed to protect the consumer. The consumer's interest in wage and price controls meant less to him than the interests of big business."

7. Agricultural Votes—"He has voted against programs designed to benefit the farmer."

8. Taxes—"He has favored tax measures that benefit the rich and opposes those that would benefit persons in lower income brackets."

9. Submerged Lands—"He voted to give away to three or four states $50 to $500 billion of reserves which the Supreme Court had three times said belonged to all the people of our nation. It is a fearful precedent, considering the value of our national forests and grazing lands, our water power sites and other resources owned by the nation."

Porter said it is his opinion that Ellsworth's voting record shows him to be against 99 per cent of the voters in the fourth district. He added that "the 200,000, more or less, voters in this district have a right to demand that the big timber men have no unfair advantages over the middle-sized and small operators."

Prior to his speech, the Harvard honor graduate spent part of the day visiting lumber mills in the area between Southberlin and Myrtle Creek. He said he discussed Ellsworth's timber exchange bill with many workers that he met.

The unopposed candidate for the Democratic nomination was introduced by Wally Watkins, president of the Young Democrats. About 75 young and old Democrats turned out to hear the speech.

Grechko, Soviet army commander in chief in East Germany, paid an unprecedented "courtesy" call on his American counterpart at his headquarters here in West Germany Thursday. The American, Gen. William M. Hoge, commander of the U.S. Army in Europe, had made a similar visit to Grechko in East Berlin last November.

10,000 Workers At Hanford Plant Quit In Protest

HANFORD, Wash. (AP)—Twenty-one AFL unions Thursday ordered more than 10,000 workers to stay away from the 150 million dollar construction project at the atomic energy works until all non-union men are dismissed.

Fifteen-hundred of the workmen declined to report for their jobs last night when the swing shift started because five non-union electrical workers had started assembling oil circuit breakers.

Five-hundred more declined to check in for the graveyard shift and the Pasco-Kennewick Building Trades Council decided against returning to work in exchange for withdrawal of the five men.

William Wiseman, secretary of the council, said the target of the walkout is the Cisco Construction Co., Portland, Ore., a non-union firm which has an electrical contract with the Atomic Energy Commission for building of $275,000 worth of transmission lines.

The Portland firm has held the contract for more than a year and has been subcontracting to union firms. Wednesday, however, employees of the Schultz Electric Co., Pasco, a non-union firm, entered the construction area to work on the circuit breakers for Cisco under another sub-contract.

Paraguay Army Said In Revolt

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Paraguay was blanketed under official silence today, but unofficial reports trickled out that army elements had staged a revolt against President Federico Chaves' regime. It was unclear who held control.

Government radio stations in Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital, remained off the air, but private sources gave varying accounts of the revolt which apparently broke out Wednesday.

A private radio station said Loyola government forces succeeded in quelling the revolt. A chief of Police Chief L. Petit was killed in the fighting.

An account from clorinda, on the Argentine side of the Paraguayan border across from Asuncion, said the insurgents held the capital. It said Chaves and his ministers had taken refuge in Asuncion's military academy after the rebels seized control of communications.

Brownell Rules FBI Document Not Be Read

The reading of Brownell's letter. In some of the highspots. The McCarthy camp charged that some members of the Army's loyalty board had records of "Communist front activity and consistently voted to clear Communists."

Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel for McCarthy, made the assertion in declaring the Army resisted when the McCarthy committee sought to question members of the board.

The McCarthy camp—again Cohn speaking—implied that Army Counselor John G. Adams once offered to drop the Army's charges against the senators and his aides if the McCarthy committee would drop its investigation of alleged Communists in the Army. Cohn loosed this suggestion by asking Stevens whether Adams had ever reported making such an offer.

Stevens said Adams had not and added that if Adams did make the offer, he had "no such authority to speak for me in any such way at any time or any place."

Both sides fired charges that the other was deliberately stalling the inquiry. McCarthy accused the Army of repudiating an agreement to confine testimony to himself and Stevens. Stevens hotly insisted: "Positively not." A little later Army Counselor Joseph N. Welch asserted McCarthy was "now engaged in a filibuster device through cross examination."

United Action Need Voiced By Sec. Dulles

Newspapers voiced fears Britain would drift into a serious split with the United States over Allied action in Indochina. Moscow radio asserted that British refusal to join in "new aggressive plans" had "isolated" the United States at Geneva.

The American-proposed parley is expected to take place within the next three weeks in either Washington or Singapore. Informants said it would discuss plans for:

- 1. Underwriting any sort of political settlement in Indochina that might emerge from the Geneva parley.
- 2. Saving Indochina from being overrun by the Communist-led Vietminh if the peace talks fail.

Projected composition of the conference was not disclosed, but the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand and Canada at least are expected to send staff officers.

Mrs. Fong Held For Transporting Dead Girl's Body

PORTLAND (AP)—Mrs. Sherri Fong, 23, was accused Wednesday of transporting the body of a dead high school girl without the permission of the coroner.

The body was that of Diane Agnes Hank, 16, who disappeared after spending a night early in January at the home of Wey Him Fong and his Caucasian wife. The girl's body was found beside a road near Washougal, Wash., on Feb. 26.

Detective Capt. William D. Browne signed the complaint against Mrs. Fong. He said he filed the charge in order to keep her in custody for further questioning on the girl's death. He said one of the possibilities being explored is that the girl committed suicide.

An autopsy did not disclose the cause of death. In an earlier period of questioning Mrs. Fong said she knew nothing of the death. She said the girl spent the night at her home, but was in good health in the morning and left for school. Mrs. Fong said she knew only that the girl disappeared after that.

low the President to lead America in the leadership of the free world.

Gillette, a Foreign Relations Committee member, said the country will live to regret the administration's decision not to use the United Nations machinery to halt the Indochina war.

"We could have halted the Red aggressor before the bar of world opinion," he said, "but we preferred to revert to outworn methods of military intervention."

Gillette's remarks were prepared for a panel on "American security" at the second day's session of the Democratic National Committee meetings. The party rally will come to a close tonight with a $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinner at which former President Truman will be an informal speaker.
