

3 Hospitalized After Accidents; None Are Serious

Three persons were sent to Roseburg hospitals Friday after two accidents. None of the three are in serious condition.

Ben L. Wurn, 410 W. Douglas St., is confined in Mercy Hospital with chest injuries and lacerations after his car met a truck head on at 8:55 p.m. on South Stephens Street near Rice. Driver of the truck, Adrian Dean Robbins, 1241 Brocton Lane, was bruised, state police said, but wasn't hospitalized.

The accident happened, according to officers, when Wurn, traveling north, swerved into the left lane of traffic to avoid a car pulling from the curb. Both Wurn's car and the truck were total wrecks. Police said no citations have been written. Wurn was taken to the hospital by P & B ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Bell, Roseburg, were held overnight in Douglas Community Hospital with shock and minor injuries after an accident at 12:50 p.m. at Garden Valley and Fisher roads.

State officers said Bell was cited for following too close when his car, named into the rear of one driven by Laura Gates Dean, Medford. Mrs. Dean, they said, had stopped on the pavement when she drove past Fisher Road, where she had planned to turn. They also were removed to the hospital by P & B.

Two minor accidents, one a hit-run, were recorded by city police Friday.

Witnesses obtained the description of a car they said left the scene of an accident after the driver had collided his car with one driven by Waldo Smith, 1334 Fair St., at Lane and Stephens at 8:40 p.m. Witnesses said the hit-run driver was driving the wrong direction on Lane, and hit Smith's car which was traveling on Stephens.

A traffic signal which failed to work on Stephens Street at Oak was blamed for the other. City police said cars driven by Jack Maynard Lamb, 18, Rt. 4 Box 1641, and Loretta Ellen Kelley, 18, Medford, collided there at about 6 p.m. Miss Kelley said that the red light on the Stephens signal wasn't operating, and she failed to see the Lamb car in time as she ran through the signal. Damage to the cars was moderate.

The Wurn-Robbins accident probably was one of the best covered of the year. Thirteen state police, city police and sheriff's reserves were on hand, along with a Sutherlin policeman and Dist. Atty Robert M. Stults. Reason was that the hardtop races just were breaking up south of town, and officers were on their way back.

Roseburg firemen were called out to flush gasoline off the pavement.

Dr. John Verberkmoes, Roseburg physician, has been appointed to associate membership in the Medical Research Foundation of Oregon for the year 1954, according to an announcement by Dr. John Raaf, president. The foundation was incorporated in 1942 to support research at the University of Oregon Medical School. To date over $100,000 has been made available to the school for this purpose.

City Police Investigate Four Larcenies Friday

Four larcenies are being investigated in Roseburg by city police after officers received complaints on Friday.

Robert B. Kellogg, 140 S. Jackson St., said a burglar entered his apartment through a window Friday evening and stole $80 in currency while Kellogg was away.

One hundred feet of high pressure hose, valued at $53, was stolen from a house under construction on Maple Street Thursday night. Jim Miller, plasterer, complained.

Freddie Schulze, 303 Hazel St., said Friday afternoon that his bicycle had been stolen.

Harold Haskin, 743 S. Pine St., said high school pranksters stole clothing from his wife's clothesline Friday afternoon.

Bail Placed On Pair Charged With Forgery

Bail of $1,000 was placed on Jack Lee Bullard, 25, when he appeared in district court Friday to face a charge of forgery, acting Judge Elmer G. Baldwin said.

Bail of $250 was placed on Bullard's 19-year-old companion, Gary Eileen Marquardt, on an identical charge.

The couple was apprehended by Sheriff Cal Baird and Deputy Dallas Bennett Thursday night just east of Roseburg. It is alleged the pair wrote and passed at least three bad checks in the county.

Dist. Atty. Robert M. Stults said the man and girl had signed a statement admitting their guilt.

Sentencing was deferred until next Friday. Each faces a possible maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The convicted are James F. Forest, 44, Missouri state chairman of the Communist party.

McKinley Party Nearing Camp

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A rescue party of eight men clawed up the rugged slopes of snow-covered Mt. McKinley Saturday to ward a tiny tent housing the broken body of a man they hope still is alive.

The rescue party, spurred by clearing weather and air-dropped provisions, radioed its base late Friday night it was within 1,000 feet of the tent in which Pfc. George Argus was lying.

The tent was sighted from the air late Friday night by Morton Wood, one of three survivors of a 1,000-foot fall which killed one man and left Argus helpless with a broken hip.

As a swirling snowstorm fell on Friday night, the Air Force flew Wood over McKinley in a C-47. He spotted the tent standing undamaged at the 11,000-foot level.

From the plane Wood radioed instructions to the ground party, and with renewed hope that Argus might still be alive, the rescuers below pushed ahead.

The entire $40,000 must be raised by taxation. Inside the 6 percent limitation is $26,000, leaving $14,000 on which voters must put their stamp of approval to make the budget effective.

Firing in all directions, McCarthy said: "Eisenhower is 'an extremely busy man' and is 'getting bad advice'."

He is not suggesting that Brownell "resign or anything like that," but he hopes to persuade the attorney general "that where he does have the duty to enforce the law, that we have the duty to expose any failure to enforce the law."

He stands on his position that federal employees are "duty bound to give me information even though some little bureaucrat stamped it secret to protect himself."

Insurance Co. Doctor Comes To Fat Man's Aid

CHICAGO (AP) — An insurance company physician says that fat men have "gotten a raw deal," and that they should "eat and be happy."

Dr. Richard Gubner, assistant director of medical research for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, defended the fatties who have been badgered in recent years by doctors demanding that they "take it off."

Gubner told the American College of Cardiology yesterday that if there are complications in a fat man by the time he is 60 there is no particular reason for him to cut down eating.

"We would be unnecessarily taking away one of the few pleasures left in life," Dr. Gubner said. He explained there is no indication obesity in itself is a cause of heart ailments. But, he added, it can lead to high blood pressure and diabetes, which in turn can lead to cardio-vascular ailments.

YOUR BODY

ROSEBURG, OREGON — These health articles are written and paid for by Dr. B. A. SMITH, Chiropractic and Naturopathic Physician, 1500 Garden Valley Road, in the interest of public health and to help you understand the body function. Look for these informative articles every Saturday.

Colitis is an inflammation of the bowel, whether it be the acute form or the ulcerative, spastic, or mucous type. Ulcerative and mucous colitis are considered to be the same by many specialists in gastro-intestinal diseases. The ulcerative or mucous type appear to be by far the most common. The acute type may be caused by food poisoning, gripe, or organisms within the bowel.

Ulcerative or mucous colitis is a form of chronic diarrhea, more common in nervous women between the ages of twenty and forty-five. Ulcerative colitis is believed not to be caused by actual inflammation of the mucous membrane, but probably by constant irritation of the bowel, produced by chronic constipation combined with a highly nervous disposition. Most individuals suffering from chronic colitis are emotional, overworked, or in a condition of chronic worry, or have so-called "nervous prostration," hysteria, or some other form of nervous weakness.

Chronic constipation and a history of indigestion lasting for a long period are forerunners of this disease. There are numerous painful passages of mucus, either alone or mixed with the ordinary bowel discharges, as well as rumbling noises in the bowel. This is because the mucus adheres closely to the walls of the bowel, and great effort is required to detach and expel it. The mucus appears as a transparent, slimy substance or in the form of white strings and occasionally as a piece of tubular membrane.

An attack, characterized by pain and numerous passages of mucus alone or mixed with bowel discharges, lasting several hours or days. Burning, freedom from the trouble there is usually constipation. The bowel discharges may contain more or less blood at times.

The organisms of Amoebic dysentery, occasionally bacillary dysentery, or infection by any of several varieties of organisms of which streptococci are most common, also intestinal tuberculosis, and a thrombosis of the bowel lining among the frequent causes of colon irritation which may have a bearing upon the chronic constant irritation leading to the disease.
