Statehood For Hawaii Probable, Says Martin

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass.) said Saturday the enactment of Hawaii statehood legislation this year is "still a possibility."

He told a reporter, however, there is "no chance for Alaska."

Martin, in an interview, did not say how the administration leadership in Congress expected to sever Hawaii statehood from the combined Hawaii-Alaska bill now resting on the speaker's desk.

The bills were joined by the Senate in a "both or neither" move sponsored by Senate Democrats after the House had passed a bill for Hawaii statehood only.

Birch Faced Plywood

new WONDER WOOD FROM APMI

Now another new APMI quality product goes to market and becomes another link in the chain of Job Security for Associated workers.

This new Birch hardwood veneer has solid plywood cores — combining rare beauty with typical plywood strength and durability.

We're making it in 4'x8' panels, in 1/4" and 1/2" thickness. We're selling it from coast to coast through our own wholesale warehouses and selected independent jobbers.

Probably most important of all is the fact that we are demonstrating again to APMI employees that our continuous research and product development program works to insure Job Security for a long time to come.
