

Wilbur Logger Escapes Hurts In Accident

By ODY MOORHOUS

Roy Harvey of Wilbur was hospitalized several days last week with injuries received when the log truck he was driving went out of gear, killing the motor and causing the brakes to give out. Harvey jumped from the truck before it reached the bottom of a steep incline. His injuries were reported as not too serious and he is able to be about. He was employed by Roy Christie at the time the accident occurred.

Spokane Visitors Here

Violent Deaths Take Three Lives In State Tuesday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Three persons met violent deaths in separate accidents in Oregon Tuesday.

One was fatally wounded by a gun shot, one was believed the victim of a hit-run driver, and another died in a fall.

Donald Lehman, Portland, told police a gun he was examining accidentally discharged and the bullet struck his wife in the head, killing her. She was Mrs. Patricia Ann Lehman, 19, who was three months pregnant. Lehman said he and his wife were getting ready for their vacation and he was examining a borrowed gun when the mishap occurred.

Peter Russell Griner, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd O. Griner, was found dead beside the highway at his home near Philomath.

The boy's grandfather, William S. Newport, discovered the body. Cause of death was not immediately determined but police believed a hit-run driver was responsible.

Frank Mahn, 63, a resident of Twin Rocks, was killed when he fell from a scaffolding while nailing shakes to the side of his house.

SENATOR GUY CORDON and Representative Harris Ellsworth are pictured with President Eisenhower as he signed the bill, sponsored by the two Oregon Republicans, placing 462,000 acres of controversial Oregon and California timberlands under the secretary of agriculture as national forest lands. The new bill provides for distribution of about $7,000,000 in timber sale receipts from Oregon and California railroad grant lands . . . 75% to the counties, 25% to the national government.

Room and board will be furnished by the residents of Roseburg for six weeks.

The selection was made by a committee appointed by Mayor Ivor Smith. The mayor will be one of the six travelers.

The committee asked the townspeople for nominations and got 60. A questionnaire was sent to the 60 nominees, asking various pertinent questions about willingness to go, and other items. Twenty-eight answered.

That field was narrowed to 19 without too much difficulty but then it was necessary to take ballot after ballot for hours and hours. Finally, Joseph Wolfe, chairman of the committee and a member of the city council, announced a decision had been reached.

The five selected besides Smith, who will represent government and business, are:

James Eris, press and radio; Judson Dalley, labor; Jo Macaulay, housewife and organizer; Margaret Coffey, agriculture; Ione Tomlinson, business women and housewives.

First alternate for the men is the Rev. Dr. Oscar Adam, Methodist minister, who would represent church and education, and Frances Gallagher, mother, press and radio.

British Protest U. S. Decision On Foreign Bids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The British government is preparing to protest "at the highest level" an American decision to bypass lower British bids and award contracts for power-producing equipment to American firms.

Explaining the official government reaction to the U. S. Defense Department decision, Trade Minister D. Heathcoat Amory told the House of Commons Tuesday Ambassador Sir Roger Makims may request an interview with President Eisenhower.

The American Westinghouse Corp. won contracts for two water generators at the Chief Joseph Dam, both on the Columbia River in the Pacific Northwest, although underbid by the English Electric Co. The Westinghouse bid was $2,083,301. The British firm estimated $1,842,914 for the job.

Heathcoat Amory said the British ambassador will point out the award "does not follow the more liberal policy (in trade) which appeared to be foreshadowed by the President's message to Congress."

Officials here said the U. S. would have saved more than half a million dollars, less customs duty, by accepting the British bids.

Attempt To Ban Televised Senate Hearings Started

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said Tuesday commercially televised Senate investigations could lead to improper deals between "grandstanding and headline hunting" senators and influence-seeking sponsors.

In testimony prepared for a Senate rules subcommittee hearing Bennett urged quick action to forbid commercial sponsorship of televised or radio broadcasts of Senate business.

The subcommittee opened hearings Monday on a variety of proposals to write a new code of "fair play" regulations for the conduct of Senate investigations. The Republican leadership has no plans to week Senate action before next year.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) testified Monday the 36 days of televised hearings at which the Senate Investigations Subcommittee explored the row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), its chairman, and high Army officials, amounted to a "lawful, tedious and shameful" show.

Hennings said the problem of keeping investigations fair and objective "has so far gotten out of hand as to have shocked the nation."

He endorsed a bill which would set up a special Senate committee, headed by the vice president, to police the conduct of hearings. Hennings is one of a score of senators who signed the bill as co-sponsors.

Bennett appealed to the subcommittee to give consideration to his resolution, introduced during the McCarthy-Army hearings. Bennett said he doubts the wisdom of allowing TV and radio broadcasting of hearings under any circumstances, but his resolution would forbid only those commercial sponsorships. Such sponsorship was allowed in latter weeks of the McCarthy-Army hearings.

Bennett said that inquiry was marked by "questionable commercialism," and he added: "I cannot but feel that the sale of Senate proceedings is a prostitution of the legislative process."

GROUND BROKEN

PORTLAND (AP) — Ground was broken here Tuesday for the $2,000,000 State Dental School Building. The school, to be built on the University of Oregon Medical School campus, is scheduled for completion in June, 1956.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced Tuesday it has voted 4-1 against giving Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer access to restricted atomic data.

The commission acted on Oppenheimer's appeal from a 2-1 security board decision that although Oppenheimer was loyal and discreet, he was a security risk and should be denied further access to atomic secrets.

In the commission's 4-1 vote, the majority was made up of Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, and commissioners Eugene M. Zuckert, Joseph Campbell and Thomas E. Murray.

Voting to permit Oppenheimer access to restricted data was commissioner Henry D. Smyth.

The majority opinion, signed by Strauss, Zuckert and Campbell, said at one point:

"In respect to the criterion of 'associations,' we find that his (Oppenheimer's) associations with persons known to him to be Communists have extended far beyond the tolerable limits of prudence and self-restraint which are to be expected of one holding the high positions that the government has continuously entrusted to him since 1942. These associations have lasted too long to be justified as merely the intermittent and accidental revival of earlier friendships."

It was on the basis of associations and of character, the majority said, that it decided that Oppenheimer should not have clearance.

No importance was attached, the majority said, to Oppenheimer's opposition in 1949 to proceeding with the H-bomb program.

Investigation Power Abuse Seen As Danger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) declared Wednesday that abuse of the power to investigate has created public reaction "which may, unless we act quickly and wisely, result in a complete paralysis of the vital investigating power of Congress."

Unless Congress sets up its own rules for fair and impartial investigations, the Supreme Court may do it, Lehman said, adding he hopes the present Senate and House authority "is never hedged by rigid judicial restrictions."

Lehman spoke before a Senate Rules Subcommittee holding hearings on a variety of proposed rules to govern congressional investigations.

He said in his prepared testimony that "abuse of the investigating power by certain committees and certain committee chairmen" has been growing "not only over the past 2 years but over the past 20 years."

Two State Officials Retire On Wednesday

SALEM (AP) — Retirement of two state officials after many years service became effective Wednesday.

A. F. Harvey, superintendent of the Motor Regulation Division of the State Public Utilities Commission, has been with PUC since 1935 and a superintendent since 1938.

Leaving the Department of Agriculture after nearly 10 years is John E. Davis, entomologist. Davis established the state's first program for obtaining current information on economic insects.

Comic Books, TV, Radio Effects To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Children's Bureau will be asked to encourage a study by experts on the effects of comic books, TV and radio programs — especially the horror kind — on junior's behavior.

A resolution to this effect was passed Tuesday by a discussion group participating in the nationwide conference on juvenile delinquency called by Secretary of Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby.

George Ehinger, Dover, Del., child welfare chairman of the American Legion, exhibited a gruesome booklet which he said was the type of comic book that should be fought.

Robert Lappen of Des Moines, Ia., vice president of the Iowa Commission on Children and Youth, scoffed good-naturedly that he didn't believe one person has landed in jail simply because he was influenced by comic books, however horrid.

"Maybe comic books are not the only factor, but they could be a contributing factor," said a woman in the audience. "And anyway," she challenged Lappen, "can you give a single factor?"

"I certainly can," promptly replied Lappen, who also is a member of the Iowa Board of Control, which has supervision of the state's 15 penal institutions. "I'll give you three — women, alcohol or gambling."
