

Morse Speaking:

Attacks Levelled Against Cordon, Power Passages

PORTLAND — The prospect that Sen. Guy Cordon will become chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee is not a happy one to Oregon's other senator, Wayne Morse.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) Tuesday blocked Senate passage of a bill to authorize construction of Priest Rapids Dam by Washington State groups.

The bill, approved by the House, came up in the Senate under procedure where a single senator could block passage.

Morse said he considered the bill "so important to the power policy of the country it should be scheduled for a full day."

The Priest Rapids Dam is one of several so-called "partnership" proposals whereby dams would be built jointly by the federal government and local interests.

Under the legislation the Priest Rapids site would be developed for power purposes by the Grant County, Wash., Public Utility District, a group of districts or the Washington State Power Commission.

The federal government would pay the cost of installing flood control and navigation facilities, should it decide to include them in the structure.

Morse has opposed the "partnership" concept of water resource development.

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash) told a news conference he expects the bill to be scheduled for Senate consideration soon, possibly later this week.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore) attacked Tuesday a power project in the Eisenhower administration's power program.

He broke in several times during a speech by Sen. Hill (D-Ala) against a proposed power contract which the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has been directed to negotiate with a private utility group in the Tennessee Valley.

Morse charged the administration with making a grab-bag of the people's wealth and said the proposed contract "is more than a giveaway, it's a surrender."

Under the contract the private utility combine would build a plant in Arkansas and deliver the power to the Tennessee Valley Authority, which then would supply a similar amount to the AEC plant at Paducah, Ky. TVA supporters are fighting the proposal.

The Oregon senator said if the proposal goes through, the administration probably will try to impose its will on other independent government agencies.

"Oh, brother," he exclaimed, "you haven't seen anything yet. When they get through at the rate they're going, they'll make a statesman out of Ulysses S. Grant."

Workers Strike Atomic Plants

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — CIO workers who help produce the nation's entire supply of fissionable uranium-235 for atomic weapons, struck Wednesday at plants here and in Paducah, Ky.

Ignoring the possibility of a Taft-Hartley law injunction, the CIO Chemical Workers Union posted pickets at 5 a. m., EST, three hours before the appointed hour of the strike. Some 4,500 production and maintenance workers are affected.

Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Co., which operates the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission, ordered in supervisory personnel to keep the plants in production.

Police said construction and other workers passed through the picket lines into the plants' area without incident.

The chemical process for production of U-235 is so complex officials have said it might take a year to get the plants in operation again once stopped.

President Eisenhower issued an order Tuesday for a fact-finding board to investigate the wage dispute. But union officials said they would ignore the President's action.

The struck plants, costing hundreds of millions of dollars, produce U-235 by the gaseous diffusion method.

The strike is the first in the nation's history by workers who help produce U-235. A rival AFL union, which bargains for 4,500 employees at two other atomic plants, struck two days last July to mark the first walkout by production workers at any atomic plant.

There have been numerous strikes by construction workers here and at other atomic installations, but none of these affected production.

Days Creek Writer Active In Civic Life

DAYS CREEK CORRESPONDENT—Mrs. Jean Yoder, pictured here with her three children, Jimmy, Barbie and Larry, is the News-Review correspondent for the Days Creek area. She is the wife of Supt. Marlen Yoder, and leads an active life as such. She worked for a college paper before her marriage, and is well qualified for her job. (Paul Jenkins Picture).

The busy life of a superintendent's wife, a mother of three small fry, advisor for the school annual, and to top it off, correspondent for the Days Creek area.

Such is the life of Jean Yoder, honor correspondent for today. Mrs. Yoder is known first and foremost as just that: Mrs. Marleen D. Yoder, wife of the superintendent of schools of District 15. Next, she considers herself a mother of three of the most active children in Days Creek. There's Larry, 7, Jimmy, 5, and Barbie, 2½. Jimmy of course is the only one in school, but the others are making plans along those lines.

Father Yoder has been associated with the Camas Valley schools before he was transferred to Days Creek and was Roseburg's first YMCA secretary. Mrs. Yoder follows him closely in his activities, and has an admirable educational background as well. She received her B. A. degree from the University of Oregon after her marriage before Larry "decided" Mama didn't need any more education.

She was a journalism major at the University for three years. She was editor of her high school paper and has written for the Emerald and Oregonian at the university.

Her hobbies are as numerous as her activities and she lists sewing, writing and "active spectator" as her top three. She then adds a thoughtful "cooking."

A native Oregonian, she lists her lone talent as "getting in too deep."

She remarks that she is particularly happy with her situation in life and wouldn't trade her husband, her youngsters, her no-good mongrel, "Tippy" for all the wealth in the world.

Brown claimed that the position of the truckers was widely "misunderstood" two years ago when initiative and referendum measures backed by the industry on the ballot were voted down. The measures had to do with highway usage rates paid by truckers to the state.

He pointed out that the industry last year paid about $10 million in Oregon as ton-mile highway usage fees, a sum exceeding costs of maintenance on all Oregon highways.

A revolution in transportation, second in 120 years, is a result of trucking growth, Brown declared. The first revolution came in the early 19th century with the advent of the railroad.

He described trucking as a supplement, rather than a replacement, to rail transportation. Railroad revenues now are higher than ever before, he said.

Trucking has put specialization into transportation, he claimed. To prove it, he pointed out that trucks have made possible delivery of fresh fruit to every city in the country, among other services.

Brown also claimed increase in property valuations away from railroads was a result of increased truck transport. He said that high property values were found only along rail lines until recent years, when highways have been built to every city.

The trucking executive declared that one in every 11 paychecks today in the United States have been made possible by the industry, directly or indirectly.

Plane Crashes Homes; 4 Dead

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — An Air Force jet plane crashed Wednesday just outside the downtown district and an unofficial report said four persons were killed, including the pilot.

Two persons were also taken to Providence Hospital suffering burns and shock. Searching parties were probing the debris of homes in the crash area for bodies.

Search was being made for three children who were reported to have been playing near the first home that was hit by the F84F assembly line.

One of the three homes set afire was occupied by Eural Redwine, 54, an invalid. It was not known whether he was in the house at the time.

The plane, one of five in the air at the time made a banking turn, struck trees and crashed on the top of a two-story concrete block and frame house at 850 Nebraska. It then plowed into a house across the street.

First reports were that several moving cars were hit.

Art Kinney Jr., 43, was asleep in the first house struck but he escaped without injury. He said he woke up in dust. He crawled out of the debris, unaided.

President Opposes Stand Of Knowland On U.N. Issue

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said Wednesday he is completely and unalterably opposed to letting Red China into the United Nations under present conditions. But he said he is not ready to say this country should withdraw from the U.N. if the Reds are admitted.

Eisenhower thus took issue by implication with Republican Senate Leader Knowland of California and some other lawmakers who are urging United States withdrawal from the U.N. if the People's Republic of China is admitted over American protests.

At a news conference, the President also said a strike at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., atomic plants would be a serious thing and would put the United States in a most embarrassing and difficult position.

He said, however, he has great hope the strikers will go back to work as a result of his action Tuesday night setting up an emergency fact finding board.

T-H Injunction Possible

CIO workers at the two plants struck a few hours before the President's news conference, ignoring the possibility of a Taft-Hartley law injunction.

On another subject Eisenhower said prospects now are rosy that Congress will enact a legislative record, based on his proposals, of which any administration could be proud.

The President said he will be proud to go before the country and praise what Congress has done at this session if the record proves to be as good as he expects.

Eisenhower described himself as delighted with the House's adoption of the flexible price support principle in the farm bill. He said that although he wasn't exactly what he recommended, he regards its passage as a great and sweeping victory.

Scale Replaces Original

The bill provides a flexible scale of price supports for basic crops ranging from 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity, replacing the rigid 90 per cent supports of the present law. Eisenhower originally had asked for a flexible system ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity, but the House and Senate government as fair to the farmer in relation to the prices of goods he buys.

In response to a question, Eisenhower voiced complete confidence in the integrity, loyalty and efficiency of Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and said the agency is under constant examination by the executive branch to see it does its work with honesty and decency.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has said the CIA is dangerously infiltrated with Communists and has been under preliminary investigation by the McCarthy investigations subcommittee.

Information Volunteered

McCarthy Tuesday night said he has offered to turn over his information to a subcommittee of the Hoover Commission, now studying reorganization of the executive department of government. Dulles has denied any Communist infiltration of the agency.

On other subjects, the President said: 1. He has by no means given up on the Congress will approve statehood for Hawaii at this session, although the issue presents a tricky situation. The Senate has approved a bill granting statehood to both Hawaii and Alaska. This bill has been stymied in the House. The situation has been deadlocked for weeks, although Republican congressional leaders are working to break the jam.

2. Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee is welcome to come and see him about the Tennessee Valley Administration. Clement has described the President's remarks last week about TVA as deeply disturbing. The governor telegraphed the President suggesting a personal meeting.

Eisenhower last week defended, as a worthy experiment, his order to the Atomic Energy Commission to contract for private electric power at West Memphis, Ark., near the TVA area. Some congressmen have protested that the AEC could get the power cheaper from TVA.

Deadline Passes For School Audits

Tuesday was the deadline for all school district clerks to have turned in their school records for the annual school audit, reports Asst. County Supt. W. M. Campbell.

He requested they be turned in immediately to the county school superintendent's office. The annual audit of all school records in the county, except Roseburg, will be made by A. B. Collier.

Campbell warned that the audits must be completed as soon as possible since computation of the basic school support fund cannot be made until they have been reviewed. The basic school funds will not be distributed until the audits have been made and filed with the state.

Alvin Herbert Roberts, 24, Yoncalla, was released from the Douglas County jail Sunday after posting $100 bail. He had been arrested Saturday by state police for being drunk on a public highway.

Two other men were fined for being drunk on a public street. Frank Ferdinand Rockwell, 52, Milo, and Hobart E. Miller, 46, Days Creek, pleaded guilty to the charges. Each was arrested Saturday by a deputy sheriff and each was fined $50, reports Judge Baldwin. Both were arrested at Canbyville.

Firemen Alarmed Twice To Extinguish Blazes

Roseburg firemen were called out twice Tuesday evening to extinguish minor blazes, according to Chief W. E. Mills.

At 4:55, firemen were called to 1011 S. Jackson St., where a permit fire went out of control and burned some grass.

At 9:08, firemen rushed to the 100 block on Stephens street near Hansen Motors where a car parked on the street caught fire. About $10 damage was done to the front seat of the 1936 model owned by David Chatterton of Roseburg. Mills said careless smoking caused the blaze.
