Glorious Fourth Held At Glendale

By MRS. G. B. FOX

An estimated 2500 persons attended the fireworks display July 4 at Glendale, which climaxed the celebration sponsored by the Glendale Lions.

Fireworks were shot off over the high school athletic field, and spectators began to take their places an hour and more before the time scheduled for the display.

Miss Myers Queen

The celebration officially began Saturday night with a dance in the city auditorium. Jeanette Myers was named July 4 sweetheart and occupied an honored place during the celebration.

A parade down Pacific Avenue was held Sunday with first prize going to three youngsters who represented pioneer times. Loree Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harris, and Ocie Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Perkins, were dressed as a pioneer couple pushing a wheelbarrow loaded with possessions and bed rolls, and bearing the signs, "Glendale or Bust." They were followed by Loree's sister, Ellen, who pushed a 120-year-old doll buggy. The buggy, according to Mrs. Harris, was brought from England by the children's great - great grandmother, and came across the plains in the Mormon migration.

Brings Laughs

The Lions Club's own entry in the parade was ineligible for a prize but caused a good deal of amusement. The Glendale Telephone truck carried, suspended in the air, a cage made partly from cable spool ends, representing the Glendale Jail. Two high school boys, Melvin Wood, and Ronnie Cooper, were in the barred enclosure. Printing around the top of the cage indicated that it was E. Losey's Hotel with special weekend rates. E. Losey is Glendale's police chief.

Jeannette Myers, July 4 sweetheart, rode with Lester Hurst on top of the truck.

Other parade entrants included the Boy Scout troop which marched together, youngsters on decorated bicycles and tricycles, youngsters riding the Glendale fire truck, an old-time Ford car belonging to Homer Burke, and a group of young people riding horseback. Judges were Al Mohr and George Reynolds.

The parade was followed by a ball game between Glendale and Butte Falls which Glendale won 6 to 4. Attendance was larger than at any previous games this year.

Between the time of the ball game and the parade, celebrants spent in games and amusements, both at the ball field and in the city auditorium.

Boy Scouts and Lions representatives sold refreshments.

DELEGATE—Marilyn J. Wilson, Myrtle Creek, will attend a Delta Delta Delta convention at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., beginning July 12 as a delegate of the Theta Mu Chapter. Miss Wilson is a student at Oregon State College. The meeting will last five days.

Crouch Asks McCarthy To Investigate Brownell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Communist Paul Crouch, a frequent government witness at hearings and trials on subversion, appeared today to have failed in an attempt to get the Senate Judiciary Committee to investigate high Justice Department officials.

However, Crouch reportedly has asked a second Senate group—the Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis)—to check on Atty. Gen. Brownell and his deputy, William P. Rogers.

REPORT ON STRIKE

Morse Holds Up Action On Priest Rapids Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Senate called up for consideration Saturday the Priest Rapids (Wash.) bill—a measure that could spark a lively debate on the administration's power policies.

The Columbia River project would generate more than one million kilowatts of power and has an estimated cost of 364 million dollars.

The bill, already passed by the House, would provide an approach to the administration's so-called "partnership" concept in development of water resources. The policy visualizes joint construction of dam projects by the federal government with state or local groups. Each of the partners would pay for different features of a project.

The Priest Rapids bill came up for consideration earlier this week on a consent calendar. Most bills usually pass by unanimous consent in such a situation but objection by a single senator can block any measure.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) objected to the Priest Rapids bill, saying he considered it of "such major importance with respect to the development of the entire power resources of the country that it ought to be scheduled for full debate in the Senate."

Roseburg Golfers Return Tuesday

Four Roseburg men, all members of the Oregon Senior Golfers Assn., will return home briefly on Tuesday night and Wednesday morning to participate in an 18-hole sweepstakes here as part of the association's annual caravan through western and central Oregon.

Lymon Spencer, himself a senior golfer, said all country club members have been asked to attend a banquet in honor of the golfers Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Roseburg Country Club. A social hour will precede the dinner.

The four local men — Horace Berg, Lester Nielsen, Hub Quine and Walter Fisher — are among seven members here. Bulk of the membership comes from Portland, Spencer said. The caravan is a get-acquainted tour. Beginning in Corvallis on Monday, the caravan stops in Eugene Tuesday, here Wednesday, and will continue on through Medford, Klamath Falls, Bend and The Dalles.

Medal play for trophies will begin in the sweepstakes at about 8 a.m. Wednesday, Spencer said.

YOUR BODY

ROSEBURG, OREGON — These health articles are written and paid for by Dr. B. A. SMITH, Chiropractic and Naturopathic Physican, 1500 Garden Valley Road, in the interest of public health and to help you understand the body function. Look for these informative articles every Saturday.

Congestive heart failure is a state in which the heart muscle is no longer capable of handling the circulatory load. Congestive heart failure is the common end-stage of a number of diseases involving the heart. It may be a consequence of rheumatic heart disease, long-standing high blood pressure syphilitic involvement, or occlusion of the principal artery of the heart or its smaller branches. It may also occur without any apparent cause.

The symptoms include weakness, easily fatigued, shortness of breath or exertion. Cough and sometimes blood-tinged expectoration are also noted. These are usually signs of failing ability of the left ventricle of the heart. In primary failure of the right ventricle, the individual is aware of swelling of the ankles at the end of the day, decreased urination, increased body weight and pain under the ribs on the right side. Dull pain over the heart and down the left arm and up the left side of the neck is often a striking manifestation.

As the heart failure progresses, less and less physical effort can be borne without inducing shortness of breath.

Pain in the area of the heart cannot always be attributed to heart conditions however. Chest pain may, in fact, be in the chest wall. It may be caused by neuralgia between and along the ribs, shingles, inflamation of the breast. Pain in the chest may also be caused by indigestion, plurisy, pneumonia, and a score of other involvements.

Pain induced by heart conditions may be caused by valvular disease, pericarditis, inflammation of the aorta and other disorders. The most serious and severe pain in the heart is occasioned by coronary artery disease. This condition is almost always first noted at the end or in the center of the breast bone. Often pain is referred to a distant area, such as the arm, neck or jaw, the point of shoulder or the elbow.

The heart, in fact, when the body is at rest, expends energy comparably equivalent to lifting sixteen pounds of weight three feet every minute. (Pd Adv.)

Question, Answer Forum On Budget Draws Response

The Roseburg school administrators, budget board and board of directors drew their sharpest open criticism at a public meeting at Riversdale School Friday night.

But most members on the panel of eight which faced more than 50 voters expressed a feeling the session had helped clear up several misunderstandings on the budget among the voters.

Panel members were: Supt. M. C. Deller, Building and Grounds Supt. Guy Davis, school board member Harold Hoyt, budget board members Cliff Collins, Ray Doerner and Sid Moon and Kiwanian Ray Puckett.

One of the chief objections voiced at the meeting was a request for the reason the budget board had not cut the budget again after it had been defeated the second time.

Several of the panel members combined to answer that the people had helped set up the budget with their requests for services. The board could not find any possible cuts which would not injure the program.

One man, who reacted most vociferously at the meeting, was asked where cuts could be made. He failed to answer at first, but finally retorted that a carpenter and plumber could be dropped. Board members answered that these were contracted and were more than paying their way on the contracts.

The same man accused the board of being topheavy with administration. He said that several of the department administrators were making $10,000. The panel said this was not true. The only $10,000-a-year man is Supt. Deller. The panel pointed out that the teacher schedule sets the highest teacher salaries at about $6,000.

The three - hour meeting was comprised wholly of questions and answers.

Eisenhower Veto Hinted If Farm Bill Is Contrary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate foes in the battle over farm price supports today advanced rival forecasts on what President Eisenhower would do if Congress votes conprice props for the nation's major crops.

Sen. Young (R-ND), a champion of the existing rigid support system, said in an interview he didn't think Eisenhower would exercise a veto. He predicted most Republican and Democratic senators would vote for a one-year extension of high level supports.

But Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, a backer of the administration's flexible price prop plan, said an extension bill would run into a presidential turndown. "There simply would be no new farm legislation," he said.

An Eisenhower veto, if not overridden by the legislators, would have heavy impact on the farm program because under present law a flexible 75-90 per cent of parity support system would automatically go into effect.

This farm legislation was passed by Congress in 1948-9 but so far Congress has not let it take effect.

Raft Takes Off On Hawaii Cruise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rocking on swelling seas, a 32-foot yellow raft, bearing five men, was drifting with the currents off the San Francisco coast today Saturday.

It was the barge Lehi, on which the five hope to drift to Hawaii—a 2,200-mile voyage they figure will take seven weeks.

They took neither food nor water, planning to live from the sea and to catch rain water—or run sea water through a solar still.

The raft, skippered by a Mormon elder, Devere Baker of Petaluma, was towed through the Golden Gate late Friday and left to drift on the currents.

They didn't have to untie the tow rope outside the gate. It broke. As Baker gathered in the dangling end, he shouted: "Looks like this is it!"

United Fruit Co. Signs Honduran Labor Contract

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The U.S.-owned United Fruit Co. and Honduran labor leaders signed an agreement last night ending a two-month strike by 23,500 banana workers. The settlemment raises minimum daily wages from $1.68 to $2.04.

Work was expected to be resumed Monday on the company's vast plantations.

The walkout had paralyzed banana operations on the north coast and spread to factories, breweries, and logging and mining companies. The United Fruit Co. estimated banana shipments would be less than half the rate before the strike because disease, floods and neglect have damaged the plantations.

Seattle Printer Is Charged With Counterfeiting

SEATTLE (AP) — A middle-aged printing shop owner, father of five children and long a respected member of his trade, was under arrest Satuday on a charge of making hundreds of bogus $10 bills.

Secret Service agents and Seattle police arrested Margion G. Thompson, 53, Friday at his downtown printing shop after a rash of fresh counterfeit bills led them to him.

Thompson was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner John A. Burns, bound over to a federal grand jury and released on $1,500 bond.

William B. Cline, special agent in charge of the Secret Service office here, said Thompson admitted in a signed statment he made the engravings from which at least 1,300 phony $10 bills were manufactured, printed the bills on bond paper from his own stock and with his own ink.

He also outlined the work of the crime records section which publishes bulletins and pamphlets to help coordinate the work of regional law enforcement.

The district attorneys will hear talks on law enforcement problems, many of them delivered by members of the staff of Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton, sponsor of the conference.

President Backs Hobby's Telecast On Health Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower lent his personal prestige last night to a telecast report by Secretary of Welfare Hobby on administration plans to encourage broadened private health insurance programs.

The President introduced Mrs. Hobby to her television audience She spoke from the White House broadcast room.

Urging enactment of a plan for federal reinsurance of private health insurance programs, Mrs. Hobby said:

"To provide more of you with better insurance, insurance organizations will have to try out new type policies in which they have little experience. This involves risks."

She said the federal government would share this risk by making an initial 25-million-dollar capital advance to a revolving reinsurance fund. The fund would be designed to support itself through premiums paid into it by private insurance firms.

Mrs. Hobby said the proposal is neither socialized medicine nor a handout to insurance companies. Committees in both Senate and House have announceed the plan but no action has been taken on the floor of either house.

Greek Beauty Ban Draws Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five congressmen have urged federal authorities to let the Greek maiden enter an American beauty contest —lest she become a pawn in the cold war.

The five, members of a House Judiciary subcommittee, protested the "unexplained barring" from this country of Rika Dialina, Greece's 21-year-old candidate for Miss Universe beauty contest honors.

In telegrams to Secretary of State Dulles and Atty. Gen. Brownell the congressmen said they were "truly puzzled" why Dulles and Brownell didn't grant Miss Dialina a temporary visa in the public interest.

Press dispatches from Athens said the brunette beauty was barred because there wasn't time to complete an investigation of her background required under the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act. The contest is at Long Beach, Calif., July 25.

Reed Trustees Uphold Decision Of Ballantine

PORTLAND (AP) — The Reed College board of trustees Friday lined up behind President Duncan S. Ballantine and against the faculty in a situation that resulted from the House Un-American Activities Committee's hearings here last month.

The board unanimously upheld prejudice," of Lloyd J. Reynolds, a graphic arts professor, from the college's summer faculty, pending investigation.

Chairman enry F. Cabell said the board had retained an attorney to advise it "on general matters" affecting Reynolds and two other faculty members named by witnesses at the hearing as one-time members of the Communist Party.

Cabell said he believed "some form of hearing will have to be held" concerning Reynolds and the other two, Dr. Stanley Moore and Leonard Marsak.

The faculty passed a resolution criticizing Ballantine's removal of Reynolds without consulting the faculty and saying there had been a loss of faculty confidence in the college president.

The board said it had studied the resolution and found that "this suspension without pay in no way pre-judges the inquiry that must be made respecting the status of Mr. Reynolds or other members of the faculty."

India Protests Atom Bomb Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — India is demanding a half in U.S. hydrogen bomb tests in the Marshall Islands until the World Court can rule on their legality under the U.N. trust agreements.

V. K. Krishna Menon, Indian delegate to the U.N. Trusteeship Council, made the demand in the Council last night. He charged the agreement for U.S. Administration of the Pacific Islands did not give her the right to make them a nuclear weapons proving ground.

Siding with Russian and Syrian delegates in barbed attacks on the U.S. tests, Menon said the experiments threatened to destroy not only life in the islands but the islands themselves.

Mason Sears, the U.S. delegate replied no lives had been lost and no property destroyed. He reiterated the U.S. stand the tests were legal and added that they were part of the U.S. program for protection of the free world, including India.

Menon shot back: "India will take care of itself."

City Budget Carries In Heavy Voting Friday

cess by nearly $47,000, the city budget committee was able to pare up 869 votes. Fifty less people cast "no" ballots.

The third budget poll came after an extensive campaign by service clubs and individuals to get out the vote. The Jay-C-Ettes spent Friday on their telephones and going from door to door to push a heavy vote. City officials completed speech-making rounds. The Junior Chamber of Commerce sound-trucked the streets.

Most of the effort was to get a heavier vote, and didn't necessarily show favoritism to the budget.

The city council even altered the polling setup to put two voting places each in the gerrymandering second and third wards, both of which are split by the South Umpqua River. It had been noticed after the two previous elections that people wouldn't cross the river to cast their ballots.

With the approval of the budget, which totals $513,196, the city may now go ahead with plans for enlarging services of the police, fire and public works departments. That the new fire substation in West Roseburg will operate is assured.

A $111,000 street improvement program to be paid out of state gasoline tax fund rebates wouldn't have been affected seriously had the budget been voted down. The fund is provided from Salem for that purpose.

But the voters saved a street-lighting program, additional patrol duty by police in residential areas, better fire protection and other municipal services by their decision.

The tax load on property will be increased slightly to approximately 22 mills, compared to the 20.9 assessed against property owners last year.

The total of 1,689 votes cast represented about 29.9 per cent of the city's approximately 5,650 registered voters. Balloting was so heavy that additional ballots had to be rushed to the Ward II polling place at Umpqua Radio and Television, Inc., on Harvard Avenue late in the afternoon.

Mayor Percy Croft expressed satisfaction with the result, saying: "We all worked hard, and the heavy turnout shows how it paid off." He said the number of voters turning out made the issue a valid test.

On municipal elections of this type, a 30 per cent showing is about double the average.
