Camp Easter Seal Places Call For 12 Handicapped

Camp Easter Seal on North Tenmile Lake, which Douglas County was highly instrumental in putting into operation, has issued a call for 12 handicapped children from the Roseburg area to visit the camp for 10 days starting Aug. 5.

E. G. High, one of the prime movers in setting up the camp, reported that no youngsters from Douglas County have yet taken advantage of the summer camp for crippled children. So, the management of the Oregon Foundation for Crippled Children and Adults has requested that the bulk of children reporting at the camp Aug. 5 be from Douglas County, since it played such an important part in getting the camp set up.

High stated the children need not be wheel chair cases. Any youngster with a handicap is eligible. He asked that parents of the children register with him at his insurance office on the corner of Cass and Jackson.

The second group of about 22 children are now enjoying the camp. All are from Portland and most are wheelchair cases, High said. High said the camp will operate this year as long as there are enough children to take advantage of it.

Churchill, Atlee Clash Over Red China Admission

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill clashed bitterly with Clement Attlee, former Labor prime minister, Wednesday in a House of Commons debate over the seating of Communist China in the United Nations.

Attlee started off by accusing Secretary of State Dulles of "playing right into the hands of the Communists" by failing to return to the Geneva conference. He said it is "wrong, unwise and contrary to the principles of the United Nations" to bar Red China from that organization.

Churchill replied that an effort now to force Red China into the U. N. would be regarded in the United States as an "uncalled for act of unfriendliness."

Churchill accused Attlee of making "one long whine of criticism against the United States and of course advancing the importance, if not the virtues of Communist China."

Churchill emphasized that Red China was still technically at war with the United Nations and was "stimulating the war in Indochina."

Red Cross Comes To Aid Of Persons In Distress

interviewing 199 applicants for relief, sifting valid claims from those of persons who appeared to be in position to get back on their feet without help.

The family of seven claimed the loss of bedding, mattresses and said a pump which brought drinking water to the house was damaged and needed repairs.

The case was referred to a specially appointed citizens' board, no member of which was connected directly with the Red Cross. The caseworker who heard the family's plea recommended aid.

The family received assistance from the national organization.

Today, the family still is living in the same house, which received minor damage from the flood. The father retains his job in the sawmill and some of the children are working in Roseburg.

Calvin H. Baird, county chapter chairman, calls the family a credit to the community. He also points out that had the Red Cross not come to the rescue during the troubled days following the flood, the family might have been pressed financially to a point where it would have been a drag on the community.

The Red Cross expended $17,880 here for relief during the flood.

In two other instances, the Red Cross has come similarly to the aid of Douglas County people.

In the summer of 1951, fire swept out of control over a large area of rural Elgarose, west of Roseburg. Nineteen cases were studied by the agency, which brought financial help in the amount of $7,800.

In December, 1951, 41 loggers were routed from a rooming house in Reedsport by fire. They had just been paid and many lost paybesides clothing. The Red Cross esides clothing, the Red Cross spent $1,400 then in aid.

wants to build steam plants. But Congress has put its foot down on the steam plant program.

"The power needed by the AEC can be obtained more cheaply from private utilities than by TVA construction of steam plants—and the private utilities pay taxes, too."

McKay denied several other Stevenson charges, including one that the Bureau of Land Management, the Forest Service, the National Park Service and other federal agencies are having their organizations "consolidated into ineffectiveness."

"I don't know what his yardstick of efficiency is," McKay said, "If he means by comparison with the last administration, I don't think these agencies would be called ineffective now."

McKay commented on the Stevenson speech in an interview at the airport here after his arrival from the East. He then left for his Salem home where he will stay until Friday, when he will leave for Alaska to make an official inspection tour.

Discrimination Charge Lodged By Exchange Student

PORTLAND (AP) — A charge that there was racial discrimination against a University of Oregon exchange student from Africa is under investigation by the State Bureau of Labor.

He is Godfrey Ibom, 24, a student from Nigeria. Edwin C. Berry, Urban League secretary here, said Ibom was denied service June 22 at a hotel coffee shop in Athena, Ore., where he had gone to work for the summer in a cannery. Furthermore, Berry said, the manager threatened to throw Ibom out.

Frank Leach, the manager, said Tuesday Ibom was refused service—not because of his race but because "he acted crazy or some thing."

W. E. Kimsey, state labor commissioner, said the charge was the 12th of its kind filed since the state civil rights law went into effect a year ago.

In six cases, he said, discrimination was proved, and the violators promised to stop it. No violation was found in four cases. Kimsey said two more are pending, the Athena case and one in Portland.

"All told I believe the very small number of complaints reveals a healthy situation in regard to discrimination in Oregon," he commented.

The Bureau of Labor has no enforcement power. It tries to smooth over discrimination trouble through education.

The Portland case, which came up Monday, involves two railroad dining car waiters who did not get service at a cafe.

Action Deferred On Riddle Plat

Approval of the entire plat of the Twin Oaks development by the Riddle City Council was withheld in the Council's Monday evening regular session, according to Erma Best, News-Review correspondent.

Council members took the action to enable a further check on legal technicalities regarding the city reservoir location, Mrs. Best said.

In other action the council passed an ordinance raising the hookup charge for new water connections from $25 to $65. They also upped the sewer service charge from $50 to $75, to cover increased cost of material and labor.

Ben Perrott, water commissioner, was authorized to hire needed extra help to expedite the installation of water meters in the city. Meter charges are to begin as soon as all meters have been installed.

The council also instructed F. L. Kummer, city recorder, to write the State Highway Commission asking for information on the date fixed for beginning state construction on Front Street.

Frank Hague Served Papers At Funeral

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP) — Frank Hague, former Democratic chieftain, was slapped with two subpoenas Monday while attending funeral services for his nephew, city commissioner Frank Hague Eggers.

When the first subpoena was thrust at Hague outside the funeral home, a near-riot followed in the waiting crowd. The second subpoena was served on the 78-year-old former mayor while his car was stopped for a traffic light on the way home from the funeral.

The first subpoena ordered Hague's appearance in a court suit brought by the city to recover three million dollars. The second demanded Hague's appearance at a city commission hearing July 21.

son asked to be released as he had taken over the job as head of the polio drive. The board will appoint a new director.

The problem of finding suitable permanent quarters for the drive was discussed at length by the board. After weighing the merits of all available space, they moved to give direct authority to Dr. Woodruff and drive executive secretary Mrs. Mona Hult to negotiate rental space as soon as possible.

A committee composed of Harold Schmeer, Dave Busenbark and Dean Ross was appointed to select a publicity chairman for the drive. They will report their findings at the next CDUF meeting.

A special report by Mrs. Hult concerning Community Chest funds available to United Fund showed that the $500 remaining in the chest account had been voted to UF.

Crittenden, in speaking to the directors, told them that "I'm very happy to be associated with this work." He added that this thing cannot fail because of the "amount of horsepower behind it."

He made several suggestions to the directors concerning the upcoming drive, adding that "this is, perhaps, our darkest moment, but by taking a long-range look into the future, we can build this up."

the wrong warrant. In court, George wouldn't tell if he were George or Charles and got jailed for contempt. They were acquitted when their lawyer showed the government never had legal possession of the plane.

With the acquittal, the Finns thought the government acted illegally when the Air Force was ordered to remove the ship to Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nev.

That's when they slapped handcuffs on U. S. Atty. Laughlin E. Waters as he left a hotel. The Finns said they wanted to make a citizen's arrest of the prosecutor but a federal judge thought otherwise. He gave them the year in jail.

That started the fasting. The Finns drink water and officials at the California Medical Facility at Terminal Island have given orders to force feed the two only if their condition becomes critical.

Beef Barbecue Is Big Event Of Elks Picnic

The annual Elks' picnic will be held Sunday at the Rod & Gun Club in Winchester, according to Exalted Ruler Arlo Jacklin. Starting time is 12 noon.

Serving of a barbecued 900-pound, purebred steer will take place between 1 and 2:30 p.m. The picnic is for all members of the Roseburg Elks Club and their families.

Special features at the picnic include giving away a second 900-pound steer to some Elk. The steer will be butchered, packaged and wrapped, and stored in a locker for a year at no charge, Jacklin said. There will also be games for everyone. One event features a softball game between the married and unmarried men present.

Both steers have been grain fed for the past three months at the Carl Christiansen ranch on the South Umpqua, Jacklin said. They have been named "BP" and "OE."

Ferguson Urges Scrapping Rigid Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) urged the Senate Wednesday to scrap the present system of rigid farm price supports which, he said, "has failed."

"It has failed despite the fact that the government now has about 6½ billion dollars tied up in price supports," he said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery. "By the end of this year the figure will probably rise to around 9 billion dollars."

Ferguson, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, is supporting the Eisenhower administration's proposal to replace the present system with a system of flexible supports for basic crops.

The administration recommended supports ranging between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, a legal standard for farm prices said to give producers a fair return in relation to their costs. The House has voted for flexible supports between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity. But the Senate Agriculture Committee has voted 8-7 to continue the present rigid 90 per cent props for basic crops.

Senate debate on the farm bill is now scheduled to start Monday.

Technicalities Block Myrtle Creek Election

Clerk Mrs. Alice Hillabold to turn matters of collection of $1,200 delinquent rents over to the city attorney. Some of the tenants have refused to pay a $15-per-month increase on the units.

A condemnation proceeding was tabled after a Roseburg man, William Oerding, promised the Council he would put his building in Myrtle Creek in top shape. He introduced Lou Metzger, also of Roseburg, who he said would be in charge of remodeling the building which had been declared by the council as unsafe. The Council agreed to withhold any further action because of Oerding's cooperation. The building has been mentioned as a possible site for the new Southern Douglas County Elks Lodge.

Also on the order of business was the swearing in of K. R. Winston as a new councilman by City Recorder Myllenbeck.

Councilman Robert Kelly presided at the meeting because of the absence of Mayor Lloyd McClintock.

Big Heat Wave Pushes Eastward

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's most extensive and most severe heat wave pushed eastward to the Atlantic today while a cool front from the northern Rockies began moving into the Midwest.

But no relief was in sight for south-central sections of the country, where seven consecutive days of plus 100-degree heat have taken a toll of crop and poultry losses.

Heat deaths mounted to at least 17 across the country and more records toppled yesterday as the swelter belt stretched from southern Texas and South Dakota eastward.
