U.S. RESCUE PLANE stands by while eight survivors from a downed British Cathay Pacific Airways Skymaster paddle their life raft, right, to safety just off coast of Communist-held Hainan Island in the South China Sea. TOKYO — Communist China apologized to Britain today for shooting down a British airliner over the South China Sea Friday with an apparent loss of 10 lives, including three Americans.

A Peiping radio broadcast heard through the transport was Chinese Nationalist. It expressed a willingness to consider paying damages.

The apology — virtually unprecedented since the Red regime took over the Chinese mainland — was in a note to British Charge d'Affaires Humphrey Trevelyan from Chang Han-fun, Red Chinese vice minister for foreign affairs.

The conciliatory note, a reply to a British protest, seemed to tie in with Peiping's current line of propaganda aimed at getting a United Nations seat at the expense of the Nationalists by wooing Britain and France and denouncing the United States.

LONDON — British sentiment for accepting Communist China into the United Nations showed signs of souring Monday as newspapers hotly protested the shooting down of a British airliner off Hainan Island.

The papers' comments were published some hours before a Peiping radio broadcast, heard in Tokyo, termed the downing of the plane "unfortunate" and "entirely accidental." The broadcast said Red China would pay compensation for the incident. One of the 18 persons aboard the plane died of bullet wounds and nine others are missing and presumed dead.

The Foreign Office announced Sunday that Britain's charge d'affaires in Peiping, Humphrey Trevelyan, had delivered an official protest to the Chinese government.

Labor Paper Angry

One of the angriest editorials was published in the Daily Mirror. The paper protested the shooting Saturday night and U.S. Secretary charged the airliner was "deliberately shot down." Two American aircraft carriers, the Horn and the Philippine Sea, were ordered to the scene to protect the continuing search for the nine missing persons. Eight survivors were rescued.

The Dulles protest plus the movement of the carriers into Chinese waters was regarded in Washington as a show of strength to impress upon the Reds the gravity of the situation.

"What is the good of Chou En-Lai, China's premier, behaving like a civilized man at Geneva when his government permits such an atrocity at home?"

"Chou lately has been lecturing Western statesmen on peace and co-existence." It is time he lectured some of his own stupid and dangerous colleagues."

Texas Governor Facing Runoff

DALLAS, Tex. — Gov. Allan Shivers, who led Texas Democrats' bolt to Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952, apparently faces a runoff election in his bid for an unprecedented third term.

His opponent, Ralph Yarborough, champion of the "Loyalists" who stuck with Democrat Adlai Stevenson in the presidential race.

Unofficial returns from Saturday's first Democratic primary gave Shivers a 17,138 lead over Yarborough, not enough in the four-man race to avoid an Aug. 28 second primary.

Yarborough, 51, who had condemned Shivers' breakaway from the party in 1952, predicted victory for himself Aug. 28. "The Democrats of Texas," he said, "will vote to regain control of their party."

Shivers appeared equally confident.

"I welcome the opportunity to continue the fight for Texas," he said. "We will keep running a good, hard, clean fight in this runoff and with the help of the people of Texas we will win it."

Tracks Blasted, Douks Blamed

TRAIL, B.C. — Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were blamed Monday for two week-end dynamite blasts in interior British Columbia that damaged a railway line and a power line.

Police said the dynamiting of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Kettle Valley line on the outskirts of Penttikon and the blowing up of power lines some 30 miles north east of here had all the earmarks of earlier terror raids by the radical sect that has kept B. C.'s Kootenay district in turmoil for more than 20 years.

Large numbers of Sons are known to reside in the two widely separated blast areas although Penttikon is well outside the usual areas of Doukhobor bombing and arson raids.

At Penttikon, 100 miles west of here, police arrested four men Sunday for questioning in connection with the dynamite blast that ripped out several railway ties and slightly damaged one rail on the outskirts of the city. Police, who withheld names of the men, said no charges have been laid.

Damage repaired quickly

The blast damage was repaired within an hour by railway section-men.

Traffic over the line was disrupted farther west near Hope, B.C., some 40 miles east of Vancouver, when fire destroyed a 336-foot wooden trestle bridge in Coquihalla Pass. Railway officials said cause of the fire was not known but they stressed there was no indication of arson. Officials said the bridge would be reopened to traffic Tuesday night.

In the Beasley Bluffs area, 30 miles northeast of Trail, two power line poles were blown off at the base but there was no interruption of service.

The Freedomites, who number more than 3,000 in B.C., use arson and bombing attacks as a form of protest against man-made laws and the B.C. government's insistence that their children attend school. They contend that enforced school attendance is contrary to their religious beliefs and that education leads to strife and wars.

Rites Held Today For Glendale Man

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hill (D-Ala) said Monday farm income dropped two billion dollars last year and that enactment of the Eisenhower administration's farm program would pull it down "another 25 per cent."

Hill said in a statement that the "best insurance Congress can provide against a depression is to defeat Secretary of Agriculture Benson's sliding scale farm price plan and extend the existing program."

The Alabama senator said he plans an all-out fight to defeat the Benson plan.

The Senate appears to be closely divided on the farm price support issue, due for floor debate in the waning days of the current session. Senators voiced conflicting reactions to the decision of the nation's controls over next year's crop.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), backing President Eisenhower's flexible price support plan, called the result "a terrific reaction against rigid controls and rigid supports."

Ballot Seen Suable

Two other senators termed the wheat referendum a repudiation for Secretary Benson.

In the wheat referendum, 73.3 per cent of the growers lined up for limits on marketing in order to retain higher government price supports.

The level of supports has not yet been fixed. Benson and Eisenhower have been pushing for a flexible supports ranging between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, a legal standard said to give farmers a fair return in relation to their costs.

The House has voted for flexible supports between 82 1/2 and 90 per cent of parity. The Senate Agriculture Committee has voted 4-7 for one-year extension of the 80 per cent support on five basic crops: wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts and rice.

If Congress fails to enact a new farm bill or the President vetoes it, the 75-90 flexible range will operate. It was approved by Congress in 1948 and 1949, but never has gone into operation.

Repairs Bridge Opened To Traffic

The old Rice and Willis Creek bridge has been opened to traffic after being out of commission for more than a year, reports Dillard correspondent Rosa Reinbach. The bridge was damaged by fire on Halloween in 1952.

The Martha Rice Bridge, which crosses the South Umpqua river one mile south of Dillard, was built by donation material and labor in 1924. Residents of Willis Creek, Rice Creek, Dillard and Brockway made donations of material, even the cement, gravel, nails and bolts for the construction of this bridge.

The late W. V. Hurst of Myrtle Creek was head carpenter and overseer of the construction. F. C. Frear was county engineer and roadmaster at the time of the construction work. Other county officials helping to make the project a reality were George K. Quinn, county judge; Bruce McGregor, R. W. Long, and Ed Weaver, county commissioners, and I. B. Riddle, county clerk.

The bridge is an aid to logging and other traffic which comes from Willis and Rice Creek to the main highway. During the last two years, it has been moving around the new county road built at the base of Mount Bette.
