Woman On Final Ride Kills Herself And Horse

PHILADELPHIA — A frail 70-year-old woman riding in a senior Fairmont Park Wednesday, the 70-year-old woman and her horse, "Suebe," were a familiar sight on the park horse paths for the past several years.

A short while later a mounted pack policeman came across a horse some in a squelched wooden plot near the ivory stable where Miss Pollin kept her horse. The young woman and her mount lay side by side. Both had been cut through the head with a 20-caliber rifle which was lodged in a nearby tree branch. The horse's head was covered with a blue denim skirt.

Police said the woman apparently shot the horse and then took her own life. A note lying in the trunk of the car was addressed to her brother, Arthur, in New York, said Miss Pollin planned to take her own life in 20 years and expressed regret for her "impulsive" act. Friends described Miss Pollin as "moody" but father, with whom she lived, said his daughter was depressed recently because she was unable to find employment.

Cancer Expert Proposes Making Cigarettes Safe

By ROSA HEINBACH

SAO PAULO, Brazil — A try at making cigarettes safe from any threat of heart disease and cancer was proposed today by Dr. E. C. Cuyler Hammond of Yale University.

The answer, he said in a paper for the 16th International Cancer Congress here, could be to develop new types of strains of cigarette tobacco free of the agent or agents which some scientists suspect may be causing or contributing to heart trouble and cancer.

This might be accomplished in two years, he might take as many as seven, the specialist said. Hammond is a biochemist at Yale and also director of statistical research for the American Cancer Society. He and Dr. Daniel Horn reported last month that men aged 50 to 70 who smoke a pack of cigarettes daily are about twice as likely to die of heart trouble or cancer of all types as nonsmokers.

Cigarettes Dangerous Smoking a pipe or cigars seems not to carry much of any risks, said Hammond, a pipe smoker himself. The danger from cigarettes, he went on, could be in the special type of tobacco which has been developed for cigarettes.

These tobacco, he speculated, could contain one or more chemicals which adversely affect the heart, blood vessels, lungs or other tissues of some people. From the viewpoint of the public, the apparent solution is to make smoking safe," Hammond declared.

Development of a "harmless strain of tobacco plant" would be more practical, he asserted, "than to use a highly toxic strain and then attempt to remove the harmful ingredients from the tobacco by chemical means or from the smoke by filter or condenser."

He said the chemical composition varies considerably in different types of tobacco, even in different batches of the same general type.

Buyer Of Salmon In Closed Season Freed By Jury

THE DALLES — A Yakima fish buyer was cleared Wednesday of a charge of buying fish from buyers in the closed season, and the Wasco County district attorney said the decision was a blow at conservation.

The district attorney, Donald Bender, said he will talk with the federal district attorney for Oregon, Ed Luckas, and with the Oregon Fish Commission on possible remedial measures. The case was that of Myrt Bowers, Yakima, who appealed a $500 fine imposed in justice court on a charge he possessed 4,000 pounds of salmon in the closed season.

Indians by treaty are permitted to fish in the closed season for their own subsistence. Some Indians interpret this to mean they can sell the fish to any other fisherman in the closed season. Bender said, however, he did not possess the fish at the time of his arrest. He said he had bought his storage equipment to the Indians, and they were using it. After the commercial season opened, he bought the fish and shipped it to market, he said.

A Circuit Court jury took just 20 minutes to reach a verdict releasing the justice court conviction.
