

Expense Accounts Of Cordon, McCall Declared Regular

SALEM (AP)—Campaign managers for U. S. Sen. Guy Cordon and Tom Lawson McCall denied charges Monday that their campaign expense statements contained irregularities.

Both are Republicans, Cordon running for reelection, and McCall running for Congress in Multnomah County.

Howard Morgan, state Democratic chairman, made the charges. E. F. Siede, treasurer of the Cordon committee, answered Morgan's attack on the $5,000 loan made by David B. Simpson, Portland, to the Cordon committee.

Siede said that the committee will repay Simpson, and that this is a practice "quite extensively indulged in by the Democratic National Committee."

Roland W. Mersereau II, chairman of the McCall committee, said there is no basis for Morgan's conclusion that the committee's expenditures were more than their receipts.

As to a $5,000 loan made to the committee by the U. S. National Bank of Portland, Mersereau said $2,500 of it has been repaid, and that the loan shouldn't be listed as a contribution, as Morgan contended.

Mersereau wrote that there has been no effort to conceal anything, and that there hasn't been any tampering with vouchers.

The committee's expense statement is "in every way an honest and straightforward statement and in compliance with the law," he wrote.

The answers were given to Secretary of State Earl T. Newbry, who also received the Morgan charges.

Monday was the last day on which the answers could be filed. Morgan assures others.

Morgan also made charges against the Republican National Committee. He claimed that an address made by Secretary of the Interior McKay on a television station was a political speech for Cordon, and that this expense should be listed as a campaign expense.

Morgan also brought charges State Sen. W. Lowell Steen, Milton-Freewater, who won Republican renomination, spent more than he reported.

The answers to these last two charges haven't been filed yet. Ed Bosanke, Republican state chairman, said Saturday, however, that an answer denying the Morgan charges over the McKay speech had been sent to Newbry.

Members Of Bar Set Contribution

A contribution of $1,575 from the 31 members of the Roseburg Bar is being made to the Central Douglas United Fund drive, according to CDUF drive director Russell Cary.

The amount, which more than doubles the contribution made last year by the bar members ($787), includes an average contribution exceeding $50. It also places the bar members in the advance gifts category.

Cary cited the bar action as an example of outstanding support of the forthcoming drive. The contribution comes five weeks in advance of the drive which will begin Sept. 21.

CDUF Board Chairman Dr. Byron Woodruff Monday afternoon called the action of the lawyers "a marvelous example of support needed by the drive to make it successful."

Director Cary said that if the community will follow the good example set by the attorneys the coming drive is sure to be a success.

Council Issues Sewer Bids Call

The Roseburg City Council has issued a call for bids on some downtown sewer work, with the bids to be opened for consideration at 10 a. m. on Aug. 27.

The action was the main item of business at a council session in the City Hall Monday night.

The sewer project will cost an estimated $816. It calls for installation of new 15-inch lines on Cass Street from Kane to a point just south of Jackson Street, with an 8-inch lateral line south on Main to a point opposite the site of the new Newberry store.

The Newberry Co. has already agreed to pay the city $3,500 as a share of the expense.

In other council action, newly appointed Councilman Kenneth Edlison was officially sworn in by City Recorder Mildred Hennessey and given committee assignments by Mayor Percy Croft. Edlison will head the judiciary committee and serve on the election, fire and street committees.

Much of the remainder of the meeting was taken up with discussion of control of overhanging and street-side signs in the business district. The matter will be given more study.

Also up for brief discussion was a plan for changing the boundary lines of certain wards within the city. The proposal would not affect precincts or voting places. A special meeting was called for today to consider the matter.

Also due to get attention at a special meeting this week is the city government's desire to propose a new tax base for the town. It is hoped such a proposal can be put on the November ballot.

Only five of eight councilmen were present Monday night, which constituted a working quorum but not enough to consider any ordinances.

Woman Taken To Hospital From Bus Depot

A 24-year-old New Mexico woman, mother of two, is in Douglas Community Hospital under the care of the Douglas County Public Welfare Commission after what must have been the roughest ride of her life.

Mrs. Clair Lee Darnold, Alamogordo, told Roseburg police late Monday night that she had traveled by Greyhound bus from Indio, Calif., to Roseburg after having a miscarriage. And she was accompanied by her children, Kevin, 2, and Doyle, 5.

Officers answered her call for assistance from the bus depot just before midnight. Mrs. Darnold said that she was attempting to get to Roseburg, where her mother-in-law resides. Police had to refuse her transportation to the Coos County community.

She said she was on her way from Alamogordo to Marysville, Wash., to visit her mother. At Indio, she had the miscarriage. People there, she related, told her Roseburg police would take her to her mother-in-law.

Instead, they called Douglas Community Hospital for aid and notified Mrs. Lois Baker, director of county public welfare. The children were placed temporarily in the Douglas County Home. Mrs. Darnold is in the hospital.

The woman said she had hemorrhaged frequently between Indio and Roseburg. Her husband, George, she said, works in a garage at Alamogordo.

New Development Group To Study Port Feasibility

The first move of a new development organization in north and west Douglas County will be to obtain data expected to prove that improvement of the Port of Umpqua is economically feasible.

Bob Hansen, Sutherlin, elected temporary chairman of the group Monday night in Drain, said the data will reveal the amount of shipping that might be available for the port. Commodities which could be shipped are expected to be lumber and other products from northern Douglas County.

A subsidiary project will be for improvements to highways 28 and 225—the first between Drain and Reedsport; the other between Sutherlin and Oakland.

Hansen said the group will attempt to stir up interest in the latter move in Eugene, Cottage Grove and Roseburg.

Five cities were represented at the Monday meeting, held in Drain's Masonic Hall. They were Sutherlin, Reedsport, Drain, Yoncalla and Oakland. About 20 persons attended, among them State Rep. John Amacker, County Commissioner L. V. Bailey and County Sanitarian Claude Baker.

Hansen said the group will meet next on Sept. 8, again in Drain. No other temporary officers were named. A constitution will be presented at the next meeting, and the organization will be formed officially. Hansen's temporary office will expire in six months.

The chairman pointed out that members of the group had desired to continue affiliation with the Umpqua Basin Development Assn. He said the two organizations have different goals—the north county group coveting the port improvement and the Umpqua Basin organization seeking to lure new industry into Douglas County.

Plane, Forced To Land, Takes Off From Farm

A U. S. forest plane, which made a forced landing on a farm near Canyonville Friday evening, was flown out Monday. The pilot flew the plane back to its base at Cave Junction.

The forced landing was made in a field belonging to Ermil Briggs north of Canyonville. It was reported when one of the engines failed, according to Umpqua National Forest Administrative Assistant Clarence Rand.

In order to make room for the take-off, it was necessary for employees of California-Oregon Power Company to temporarily remove a power pole and take down wires. Rand said that the pilot of the two-engine Beechcraft, J. Schulz, was returning to Cave Junction late Friday after flying a load of smoke chasers to Wallowa National Forest in eastern Oregon.

When the engine failed the pilot decided to make the forced landing rather than attempt to fly over the mountains on one motor. Rand said. The pilot was alone in the plane.

The Briggs ranch is located about two and one-half miles north of Canyonville. No damage was reported to the plane and the pilot was uninjured in the landing, according to Rand.

No One Is To Blame In Death Of Infant

OAK HARBOR, Wash. (AP)—Capt. George Fuesek, commander of the Whidbey Island Naval Air Station, announced Monday that a Navy inquiry had led to a finding that "no blame is attached to anyone" for the death last week of a Whidbey Island baby after a fall.

The child was Scott Allen Devine, 11-month-old foster-son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Devine. The baby died last Tuesday in a Seattle hospital. Death was attributed to a brain injury.

The father was called home from Okinawa after the child's death.

The Navy commander said the investigation was conducted as a routine one, as is done after any death in a Navy command.

Angry Divorcees Picket Court For Back Alimony

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Some 30 angry divorcees picketed Friend of the Court Arthur J. Slagert and the circuit judges yesterday in an effort to collect back alimony, which in the case of some of the women amounted to well over $1,000.

They charge that laxness in Slagert's office has allowed husbands to fall behind in alimony payments and little effort is made to collect them.

Slagert countered the charges by pointing out that many of the men involved are not "of good character." The alternative, he said, is to put them in jail and place every family member on public support rolls.

Festival Of Faith Staged By World Church Council

By GEORGE CORNELL
CHICAGO (AP)—Chanting voices, chiming bells and air-piercing trumpets roared above 125,000 persons in Soldier Field Sunday, a highlight of the first day of the Assembly of the World Council of Churches.

In a spectacle packed with drama and reverence, figures huddled in a pool of light raised their arms high as the hymn of "Come, Lord Jesus, Come" surged forth.

The outdoor service brought together believers of many creeds and customs in one of this country's greatest displays of Christian faith. The massive crowd, brought to Chicago by four special trains, 503 chartered buses and 9,300 automobiles from all over the nation, jammed the huge stadium and packed the entrances.

The number inside before the service began was estimated by Park District Police Chief George A. O. Lewis as "more than 125,000." At the same time, an announcer said 30,000 were outside, unable to get in.

The stirring Festival of Faith came after the World Assembly opened with a morning worship service in suburban Evanston, with the 1,500 representatives from 161 denominations in 48 countries present.

"We have learned how to study, to speak, to stand and to serve together," Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Washington, one of five council presidents, said in a sermon. "We intend to stay together."

The dramatic evening service depicted in music and pageantry the creation of the earth and man, the rise of evil, the coming of Christ, his Resurrection and finally, the promise of a new world. It used a cast of 4,000.

With the huge bowl of the field in darkness, a fanfare of trumpets sounded suddenly from a high parapet, and a spear of light fell on a man standing in the center of the field on a tall, gold-draped rostrum.

"Oh, all ye works of the Lord," he intoned. And out of the darkness chorused a choir of hundreds. "Bless Ye the Lord." There were more praises and responses, then a 2,000-member choir sang out: "Holy, holy, holy."

Flood lights bathed the green field, and into the arena moved a slow procession of leaders of the worldwide aggregation of churches—old churches, new ones, Protestant, Orthodox, Old Catholic and ancient Eastern communions.

All had the power of Jesus' name," sang the chorus. Then, for two hours, there unfolded a tableau of stirring music, of dancers in costumes of gold, pink, blue, green, lavender and red.

In an evocative movements, under an ever-changing spectrum of lights, they traced the birth of life, its subjection to evil and the struggle against it toward redemption.

16 Allied Nations Ease Restrictions On Trade With Reds

LONDON (AP)—Sixteen Allied nations by agreement Monday eased strategic controls on their trade with Communist nations of Europe.

The move, decided on last month after British-American talks in Washington, immediately benefited a few British firms.

A board of trade spokesmen said 14 million dollars worth of Russian contracts with British firms now could be sanctioned after being held up some months.

Russia earlier in the year, signed firm orders for 172 million dollars worth of business with British manufacturers. The goods ordered ranged from textile machinery to a steel rolling plant. About 56 million dollars worth was okayed immediately because the orders were for goods that were not considered war-potential. The rest of the business was frozen pending a green light from Britain's partners.

Released Goods Listed
The board of trade spokesmen gave this breakdown of the Russian business which had been held up:

- 1. With the easing of controls Monday, 14 million dollars worth of goods now can be freed.
- 2. The Paris-based group of 16 Allied nations which plays a watchdog role over East-West trade, will meet soon to decide whether steel rolling plant can be sold to the Soviets. If the answer is yes, 28 million dollars worth of orders placed with British firms will be carried out.
- 3. A further 14 million dollars worth of orders for machine tools and other items are subject to quantitative embargoes. The Paris group has still to fix the ceiling for these embargoes and the fate of the orders with British firms awaits the outcome of the group's study.

The reduction of strategic controls on East-West trade was decided on by the United States and Britain in the first place. They were endorsed later by the 14 other Allied countries which include all the North Atlantic allies, West Germany and Japan. These easements do not affect the embargoes on trade with Red China.

New York Bandit Placed On Most Wanted List

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter James Wilkinson, tagged as leader of a New York state bandit gang, Tuesday was added to the FBI's list of "10 most wanted men."

The government wants Wilkinson on a charge of fleeing across state lines after what it described as a vicious kidnap-robbery at Corinth, N.Y., last Feb. 12.

Wilkinson, 30, and two others were alleged to have gone at night to the home of a Corinth supermarket manager, forced him at gunpoint to accompany them to the store and then looted his safe of nearly $3,000.

The FBI said the abductors decided to leave the manager to freeze to death in a locked meat refrigerator. The man's life was saved when his family, alarmed at his disappearance, started a police search.

State Dept. Reversal Gives Visa To Mexican

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department reversed itself Monday to permit Carlos Chavez, Mexican composer-conductor, to come to the United States to conduct orchestras in Los Angeles and Portland, Ore.

Less than an hour earlier, a department spokesman told inquiring news men Chavez had been denied a temporary visa because he was ineligible under the immigration laws.

Then later the department announced Atty. Gen. Browne, acting on recommendations of the American embassy in Mexico City, had decided to "waive his ineligibility and admit him."

Hayes pointed out that he had him as a student while he was instructing at OSC.
