Mineralogical Show Scheduled

The 14th annual convention and show of the Northwest Federation of Mineralogical Societies will be held at the Lane County Fairgrounds, Eugene, Sept. 3-5.
An invitation to Douglas County "rockhounds" to attend has been extended by the Eugene Mineral Club. The general public is invited to see the many mineral displays, according to Mrs. E. L. Teater of the Umpqua Mineral Club.
Included in the displays is a rock garden that will be put in place by the Tacoma Agate Club.
Albany mineralogist Fred Rhorer, known on the Pacific Coast for his mineral displays, has notified the Eugene club that he is bringing down the largest display he has ever shown at a convention.
Mrs. Teater said that Ralph Dietz, associate editor of "Gems and Minerals," has promised to show his Australian opal sphere at the show. She said it is reputed to be the largest such sphere in the world. This is the first time it will have been shown in the Northwest.
