

Ike Scores Weakness Of Military Reserve

John Hannah, then assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower and now returned to the Presidency of Michigan State College.

That plan called for every able-bodied young man to put in a military service stint and then join the reserve. The White House said at the time the program Hannah set forth as a plan to thwart any Soviet aggression was under consideration by the National Security Council but that no final decision had been reached on whether to submit it to Congress in that form.

In his address Eisenhower also gave France another prod in the hope of winning ratification of the European army project by that nation.

EDC Hopes Not Realized

Without mentioning that country by name, he said progress on the six-nation project "has not fulfilled our hopes." He also declared that in the struggle for free world security and peace, "neither the ups nor downs justify any slackening of our efforts."

Dealing with the European situation and collective security generally, he said: "The safety of any single nation in the free world depends directly on the substantial unity of all the nations in the free world. No nation outside the Iron Curtain can afford to be indifferent to the fate of any other nation devoted to freedom."

"If each, ignoring all others, pursues its own course toward its own ends, the Communists have unlimited opportunity to turn the full force of their power upon any selected victim. Each, beginning with the weakest and most exposed might then succumb in turn, until the strongest of all — ourselves — would be left alone to face a hostile world."

"The final result would be fearful to contemplate. We will never permit it to happen."

He said that because of the strength and the wealth of the United States, it has imposed upon it a heavy share of the whole burden of free world security.

U. S. Power At Zenith

Then, turning to how the United States measures up to the task, he painted this bright picture: "Today the United States has the most powerful and the most efficient fighting force it has ever maintained short of all — our war. In fact, in some respects it is the most powerful ever developed."

"We have an Air Force of growing effectiveness. It has 50 per cent more jets than last year. It possesses awesome power."

"We have a mighty Navy, with 13,000 active aircraft. It is a world leader in nuclear propulsion."

"We have our strongest peacetime Army, equipped with weapons, trained under modern doctrine. It is capable of carrying out its assignments in the modern world."

"We have a Marine Corps, tough and strong, rightly proud of its esprit and readiness."

"All this power is supported by developing intelligence and warning systems of constantly increasing effectiveness and scope."

It was just after painting that picture, however, that Eisenhower said "we have failed miserably" to maintain a large, powerful reserve.

orders from Mayor Elmer Reese to let gambling joints operate unmolested. Reese, who denied the accusation, was arrested on charges of willful neglect of duty.

And there were witnesses who previously had told an investigating state Democratic executive subcommittee of numerous instances of fraud in the May 4 Democratic primary this year.

They said a "crooked" political ring controlled election procedure with a firm grip.

Nominations Revoked

Because of that, the full state committee concluded that honest elections were impossible under the system that existed here, and revoked the nominations of four officials, including Sheriff Ralph Matthews and Circuit Solicitor Arthur Ferrell.

The solicitor, who normally would be directing the grand jury but who has been relieved of duty, is under indictment with two others on vote fraud charges in Birmingham which grew out of the election in which Patterson won the attorney general's nomination.

The other two are Si Garrett, the present attorney general, and Ismar Reed, who at the time was chairman of the Jefferson County (Birmingham) Democratic Committee. They were accused of adding 600 votes to the total for Patterson's opponent, Lee Porter of Gadsden.

Statement that "clear recognition of several important truths" is basic to an analysis of the world situation.

He listed those truths as:

1. The Communist dictatorship—"ruthless, strong and insatiable—is determined to establish its way over all the world."

2. The same dictatorship "is adroit in its selection and use of spirit and readiness."

3. The vital importance of collective security welding the free nations together.

4. From the free world's resources must be developed the many kinds of strength—spiritual, intellectual, economic and military—required to oppose successfully "the broad front of Communist pressure."

5. America's key position in any successful struggle to thwart Communist aggression.

Eisenhower spoke of Red subversion abroad and at home and said effective steps are being taken to crush it. Referring to the situation at home, he said:

"Your government will continue to wage relentless battle against subversion and infiltration... by measures realistically adjusted to the nature and the magnitude of the Red conspiracy..."

"And of this you may be sure: As we continue this battle, we shall not impair the constitutional safeguards protecting our liberties. Our nation is too strong to which, under the guise of protecting our institutions, would undermine the principles upon which they rest."

Strikes Ended At Two More Plywood Plants

March Of Strikers Back To Work Is Spreading

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A back-to-work move was reported Monday among some AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union locals in anticipation of settlement of the long Pacific Northwest lumber strike.

AFL workers at three Springfield, Ore., mills went back on the job despite an announcement by top union officials that the strike would continue until employers in both the fir and pine belts accept a peace proposal made by the governors of Oregon and Washington last week.

Fir employers accepted, but there was delay among pine employers.

A settlement seemed near, however, as the AFL had indicated it would accept the peace plan, and A. F. Hartung, CIO woodworkers' president, scheduled a meeting with the governors in Portland to consider acceptance of the plan.

Increase Accepted

All told, some 2,000 workers were back on the job in Lane County, where Springfield and Eugene are located. Also returning were 1,150 CIO members at the Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. plant at Springfield. They voted over the weekend to accept a 2 1/2-cent hourly wage increase offer. The Hines Lumber Co. plywood mill at Westfir also got back in production as 248 men returned. They voted last week to go back, pending a master settlement.

The peace plan advanced by the governors calls for strikers to return to work while a seven-man committee investigates the issues of the dispute.

AFL officials said they would accept this if locals ratify the plan and employers in the fir and pine region go along with it.

One group of pine employers, however, said they could not reach an immediate decision.

Other Settlements

There were these other developments reported in the strike over the week end:

The Santiam Lumber Co. at Sweet Home reached agreement with its workers' negotiating committee. The agreement, terms of which were not announced, is expected to be ratified by union members Tuesday.

Cascade Plywood at Lebanon, Ore., reported it planned to resume operations despite postponement of the general industry-wide AFL fact-finding agreement.

The Willamette Valley Lumber Co. at Dallas, Ore., reached agreement with its workers on a 2 1/2-cent hourly increase. The agreement provides for a wage re-adjustment in the event of a different industry-wide settlement.

At Corvallis, AFL workers at the Corvallis Lumber Co., which employs 135, voted 60-0 to ratify the governors' peace pact.

At Portland M & M Wood Working Co. announced it had reached agreement with 320 AFL millmen's union employees. Terms of the settlement were not announced.

At Eugene, CIO officials reported that employees of Associated Plywood had rejected a company offer of a 2 1/2-cent increase.

Cong. Ellsworth Back In Roseburg; To Speak Tuesday

Congressman Harris Ellsworth arrived back in his home town Sunday afternoon and Mrs. Ellsworth came to Roseburg after attending the celebration of the new Talent Irrigation Project at Ashland.

The congressman prepared to settle down to some speech making and visiting throughout the Fourth Congressional Dist. His first public address in Roseburg will be before the Douglas County Republican Central Committee Tuesday evening. (The public is invited to attend the dinner meeting at the Umpqua Hotel.)

At Tuesday's meeting, Cong. Ellsworth will discuss the work of the 83rd Congress.

Rep. Ellsworth said he's going to make out a travel schedule soon. His first major northwest address will be before delegates attending the American Forestry Assn's annual convention in Portland Sept. 8.

In his travels throughout the district, Cong. Ellsworth said he intends "to see the things the federal government is interested in in the district." He plans to meet and talk with as many folks as possible.

"I want to tell them what happened during the 83rd Congress," he said in a short interview Monday morning.

The congressman was happy with the results of his work during this past congressional session. Ten of his bills were passed by the House of Representatives.

Two of the most important bills affecting this district, he said, were: one which set up the Talent Irrigation District and a second which brought settlement of the road and C & C land. The latter will give one and one-half million dollars to Douglas County, he pointed out.

The Ellsworths are now at home at Laurelvood, and Cong. Ellsworth is reopening his office at 317 Pacific Bldg. immediately.

And Mrs. Ellsworth plan a short vacation at Diamond Lake the latter part of this week. It's probably the only vacation they'll get.

The Ellsworths drove across the country. They visited their two daughters en route home to Oregon. In Cleveland, O., they saw Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Dittmann (Mary Margaret) and family. In Santa Fe, N.M., they stopped for a bit with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. McKenna (Jane) and family.

Big Increases In Farms, People, Patterson's Topics

Board, while his wife is treasurer of the County PTA Council.

Turning from that part of the program, Gov. Patterson said he can recognize a "renaissance" of county fairs in Oregon. That, he said, has "testified" that the state's people are cognizant of the importance of farm diversification.

The fair he described as a place where a person can show off his works to "the most important people in the world — his neighbors."

The governor had a word of caution for the future.

He said that whether it's liked or not, the state will soon be home of vast new populations as the westward migrations continue.

"Your job," he declared, "is to prepare the community to receive its share of the people to become part of us. With this sort of acceptance, we can retain Oregon as we know it."

The governor and Mrs. Patterson were sired into the city by state and county police. They led a crowd approaching 4,000 through a free barbecue. A flock of the Republican faithful and cops milled in their wake as they progressed through the fairgrounds.

State Sen. Paul E. Geddes introduced the guest to air-goers. Sharing the platform with Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Geddes were State Rep. and Mrs. V. T. Jackson, State Rep. John Amacher, Mayor Percy Croft of Roseburg and Mrs. Harrie Booth, who set up arrangements for receiving the visitors.
