

Kansas City Takes Over Athletics

CHICAGO (AP)—American League club owners voted unanimously last night to shift the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City.

The decision at the end of a hectic nine-hour meeting all but broke up the once-esteemed position in baseball of the Mack family. It signaled the final of one vivid chapter on the national pastime that was etched by the pioneering Connie Mack and opened what should be another under Chicago financier Arnold Johnson.

It was Johnson, 47, a top man in a business that grossed 70 million dollars last year—the Automatic Canteen Co. of America—who found that money on the barrelhead speaks loudest.

In the final analysis, his bid of $3,375,000 to buy out the Macks—Roy, Earle and Connie—including Connie Mack Stadium, was irrefragable. Will Harridge, president of the American League, said it was the only "sound" offer made.

Deal Done Monday

Officially, the deal for the 54-year-old franchise will not be closed until Monday. In what was assumed to be merely a gesture, Roy Mack was given until 11 a.m. EST, on that day to announce if he will sell his stock to Johnson.

This was regarded only a small technicality and a league spokesman said that Roy "told the meeting that he wanted the sale to Johnson completed."

This admission removed the only block, for Roy strongly had opposed his brother Earle and 92-year old father Connie in the sale and tried desperately, but vainly, to raise enough capital to keep the debt-ridden club in Philadelphia.

Johnson, who huddled more than once during the day with Roy, was completely satisfied that the deal was closed. He said he would order engineers to start work today on doubling the Kansas City stadium to boost seating capacity from 16,000 to 36,000 by the start of the 1955 season.

Phils To Get Stadium

He said he plans to sell Connie Mack Stadium to Bob Carpenter, owner of the Philadelphia Phillies, who has been leasing it from the Macks, and probably will close this transaction in Philadelphia this week.

"As for Roy Mack, I plan to offer him a responsible position in the Kansas City organization," Johnson said. "And I also must give thought to hiring a general manager and field manager. I'll do the selecting of them myself."

The Athletics reportedly were in debt to the tune of about $1,900,000—a figure broken down to include a $1,200,000 mortgage, $300,000 in current bills and $400,000 to the Jacobs brothers, concessionaires.

In the sale, Connie Mack will receive $600,000 and Earle and Roy each $450,000 for a total of $1,500,000. Added to the indebtedness, this would just about take care of Johnson's $3,375,000 price.

Four other parties appeared at the meeting to make offers, but Harridge stressed that Johnson's was the only solid one.

Kansas City Baseball Fans Wake Up To A's Transfer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"Wonderful."

That one word best fits the feeling of Kansas City baseball fans who woke up Wednesday morning to the realization this solid baseball town of the midlands was in the act of going major league.

Most of the city was asleep when the news broke late Tuesday night that American League owners had voted unanimously to permit Arnold Johnson, Chicago financier, to buy the financially decrepit Philadelphia Athletics and move the club to Kansas City.

Many of the fans who had a part in pledging the purchase of more than a million tickets for the 1955 season in event the deal went through, lost hope earlier in the evening when reports had it that Kansas City's chances of getting the franchise were "about 50-50."

The citizens last August approved overwhelmingly a $2,600,000 bond issue with which to purchase Blues Stadium—home of the city's American Assn. entry—and enlarge it from 16,000 to 36,000 seating capacity.

The Kansas City Star, which usually reserves such headlines for world wars or truces, streamered the news "Kansas City Goes Big League."

Mayor William E. Kemp commented "It's a great day for Kansas City." He said he felt the club owners have vindicated "our own appraisal that big league baseball is feasible in Kansas City."

Tag Teams At It Again This Week

The defeated team of Luigi Macera and Steve Gob will get another chance at the dreaded Kamuroff brothers Saturday night when they tangle at the Armory for the Northwest Australian tag team championship.

Macera and Gob protested that their defeat of last week was due to an illegal trip put on Macera when Ivan (Kamuroff) was outside the ring.

Matchmaker Elton Owen, who was forced to referee the card last week said afterwards that he called it as he saw it but that he wanted no more of refereeing for this brawl. He has acquired veteran referee Harry Elliot to do the job.

The winners of Saturday night's match will be unofficially recognized as the new Northwest champions pending official recognition by the various city commissions.

Full House Expected

A full house was on hand last week and fans are advised to pick up their reservations early at Powell's for this week's engagement.

Two supporting matches send Angelo Poffo against Dick Torio in the semi-final and Luis Martinez against Jim LaRock in the 20-minute or one-half special event.

Last week Torio upset the bigger Poffo with a backward hand spring followed by a dropkick and a press. Poffo was burned up, claiming that he wasn't given a full count. He now figures that he will avenge this misjudgment and wear his smaller foe down over the longer semi-final route.

Two more of the new sensations tangle in the special, Martinez, winner on a foul against Blackie Miller last week meets the ex-Olympic champion, LaRock. Martinez is living up to Pepper Gomez' recommendations while LaRock is the cleaving athlete who never lost a college match.

Casey Says Flag Depends On Deals

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Casey Stengel has told some of his friends in his home town that he isn't sure yet whether his Yankees will climb back into first place in the American League next year.

It all depends upon what kind of deals the club is able to make during the winter months.

"We were all set to talk turkey with some of the clubs during the World Series," said Casey, "but the thing was over before we could get down to business, so George Weiss (general manager) is getting out letters to the other clubs, and if anything pops up he'll call me and we'll decide what to do."

The Yanks are looking for pitching talent to back up youngsters Whitey Ford and Bob Grim. Stengel says he has several players "who can run and throw real good," and he'll trade any or all to help the club.

Infielder To Be Kept

Bill Skowron is one who is going to be kept, Stengel says.

Ancient World Series, Casey said he thought Leo Durocher "managed very well in those four games," but that he still can't understand how Cleveland "showed up so tired or crippled or whatever it was."

Casey had a word of advice, too, for the five persistent "also rans" in the American League, viz.: "Instead of worrying about their own business they keep thinking what to do to the Yankees. They'd better put first things first and get some rebuilding programs going."

But Casey still wouldn't go so far as to say the National is a stronger league. "You know who won five straight World Series, don't you?"

Huskies Off For Texas

SEATTLE (AP)—Coach Johnny Cherberg and the Washington Huskies will board a Texas-bound plane here Thursday for a flight to Waco and Saturday's inter-sectional football game with Baylor.

Cherberg ran the reserves through a stiff workout in home drills Tuesday. Noting the regulars are showing the strain of three tough games, Cherb said the reserves probably will see lots of action Saturday.

The coach said the backfield that performed so well against UCLA last week will start against Baylor.

Cherberg also announced two Washington linemen are being dropped from the squad for disciplinary reasons. They are Bert Watson, junior guard from Turlock, Calif., and George Strugar, sophomore tackle from Renton, Wash.

Cougars Pass, Run

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—The Washington State Cougars worked on passing and running plays in Tuesday's drills for the Pacific Coast Conference football game with California.

Coach Al Kircher studied an offense built around quarterbacks Frank Sarno and Bob Iverson. The game will be played at Berkeley.

OSC Quarterback Hurt

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State quarterback Jim Withrow injured his back Tuesday, and Coach Kip Taylor moved half-back Dick Mason to the slot.

Taylor said Mason will start against Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday if Withrow does not recover. Two other OSC quarterbacks, Ray Westfall and Bob Clark, also are ailing.

Taylor said all three will make the trip to Lincoln.

WRONG MAN? British Suspect Red Racing Trick

LONDON (AP)—The British mean to find out Wednesday night in the London vs. Moscow track and field meet if they really were the victim of an Iron Curtain conspiracy.

On Aug. 29 in Bern, Switzerland, at the European championships, Britain's Chris Chataway kept a close watch on Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's great distance man, in the 5,000 meters race. While Chataway watched Zatopek, Vladimir Kuc ran off with the race and set a world mark.

Kuc lives in Russia, headquarters for those back of the Iron Curtain.

After the race Chataway admitted he got caught watching the wrong man. And, dozens of sports writers, newspapers and hundreds of fans said it sure looked to them as if Zatopek played a swell decoy to distract Chataway while Kuc went out and won.

Chataway and Kuc tangle again Wednesday on the fast track at the White City Stadium. With star miler Dr. Roger Bannister on the sidelines because of medical duties, the Chataway-Kuc meeting is the top attraction of the meet.

The Moscow team—which includes athletes who must have moved to Moscow very recently—brought nine world record holders. It is unquestionably the nucleus of Russia's 1956 Olympic team which is expected to give the Americans a hard fight at Melbourne. But most of them are a year or two short of their prime.

California Fans Defend Young Pug

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The nation's television fans and quite a few boxing experts formed a dim view of the fighting future of California's young heavyweight, Charley Powell, when he was stopped by experienced Charley Norkus at San Francisco last week.

Submitted Tuesday, however, were a few dissenting reactions.

"That was nothing for a young kid fighting his 13th time," said Al Weill, who just happens to own heavyweight champion of the world, Rocky Marciano.

Hard-shelled Babe McCoy, a genuine student of boxing and a matchmaker in Los Angeles, saw the bout in person, just as he has seen the ex-professional football player in most of his scraps.

"Powell looked better than he McCoy declared flatly.

McCoy Interested

The cherubic Babe, admittedly interested in Powell as an attraction for his Olympic Auditorium, added:

"I'm convinced Powell will be a great fighter. Barring, of course, injury to his hands."

Hand injuries are common with inexperienced boxers. And when Powell dislocated a finger in his powerful right hand in the second round, "he was forced to take the defensive and he didn't have the equipment to cope with a strong, tough guy like Norkus," McCoy said.

Stephen (Suey) Welch, who stepped back into the fight scene—of sorts—after a long absence from the active managing ranks, said Powell will continue to fight. "Jack Dempsey didn't quit when Jim Flynn knocked him out in one round. Did Mickey Walker quit when he got stopped in his eighth fight?"

"One fight, one round, don't make or break a career."

Myrtle Creek Jayvees Wallop Douglas, 33-0

The Myrtle Creek jayvees won their third ball game of the season Tuesday in defeating the Douglas jayvees 33-0 at Myrtle Creek.

Scoring in each quarter the winners piled up a commanding half-time lead of 19-0.

Scores came when Darrell Hadley passed 35 yards to Floyd Cavanaugh; Hubert Stokes ran eight yards, three yards and 21 yards at right end; Cavanaugh quarterback sneaked seven yards.

Cavanaugh passed to Eldon Maas for one conversion and Stokes passed to Hadley for the other.

Douglas failed to threaten.

Ducks Stress Defense

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Coach Len Casanova stressed goal line defense Tuesday in drills for the Saturday NCAA "Game of the Week" with Southern California.

Casanova said the Ducks, whose stubborn defense helped eke out a 13-7 win over the Trojans last season, can repeat Saturday by turning in a matching performance.

The game, to be played in Multnomah Stadium at Portland, will be televised nationally.

Idaho Draws Tough Foe

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—An assistant coach who scouted the Arizona-Colorado game last week warned the Idaho Vandals Tuesday they will face their toughest foe of the season when they play Arizona Saturday.

Scout Gene Stauber said although Arizona lost 40-18, the Arizonians looked better than any team Idaho has played this year.

Shaw Aerials Lead Nation; Larson, Lederman Follow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pacific Coast Conference preference for the forward pass is reflected in national college football statistics. Westerners take the top three places in individual passing.

The national leader in both passing and total offense is Oregon quarterback George Shaw. Despite some sprains which have plagued him two weeks, the Webfoot star has completed 41 passes for 580 yards and gained a total of 661 yards.

California's Paul Larson is second with 37 aerials completed for 443 yards. Sandy Lederman, who tossed 35 good ones for Washington before a broken leg put him out, has rolled up 459 yards.

But the PCC isn't content to sit back and stare at those figures. Oregon, drilling for its TV game of the week with USC at Portland, worked on goal line defense. The Trojans prepped with an extensive aerial drill and saved some time for defense against the passes they expect from Shaw.

Quarters Get Notice

The key technique for signal calling came in for attention, too. "We've spent more time with our quarterbacks this season than a ever before," USC coach Jess Hill said. "I guess it's just a question of the signal callers getting more experience."

Indications were that Stanford will take to the air at Los Angeles against UCLA. Sophomore quarterback John Brodie will start. Sam Morley, Stanford's great pass catcher of last year, was added to the coaching staff to soup up the ends.

Coach Chuck Taylor said a 40-minute scrimmage looked shoddy—but observers pointed out he's said that just before Indian victories.

One point may make the difference in the Stanford game, UCLA coach Red Sanders seems to think. Setting Johnny Herman, Stan Brown and Doug Bradley against 11-man lines, he put the place-kickers to booting for the goal posts most of the day. Stanford chopped down UCLA 21-20 last year.
