

Siamese Twins Celebrate Their Third Birthdays

BY RICARD J. BROWN

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Natures winked at the little Galyon boys and they came back smiling. For them, life is a cumbersome shift of taking turns walking backward because Donnie and Ronnie are Siamese twins, joined at the abdomen. Somebody has to sleep on the bottom when they get tucked in at night.

But the boys were laughing Thursday as they celebrated their third birthday with an ice cream and cake party for the family. Cowboy shirts and pop guns brought grins to faces as clean and bright as milk. "They're just plain boys," their mother, Mrs. Wesley Galyon, says. The blond, blue-eyed brothers started to walk last March and carry themselves to the television set. Mrs. Galyon said: "They raise an awful fuss if it's time to eat and a pet program is on. They have wonderful appetites and eat just about everything."

Lumber Strike Panel To Meet For Arguments

PORTLAND (AP) — The long-sought attempt to settle the lumber dispute begins in Portland Thursday with labor unions presenting their arguments for a wage increase.

The dispute led to an 83-day strike in the Pacific Northwest last summer, and ended only after the governors of Oregon and Washington induced both sides to go back to work while a seven-man panel tries to find a solution.

The panel will hear management arguments against a wage increase Nov. 4. Rebuttal arguments will come later. The panel is to make its report within 90 days.

Two of the panel members were named by the AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers and the CIO Woodworkers. They are Earl Hartley, Seattle, of the AFL lumber union, and Chot Dusten, Portland, regional CIO director.

The other three were named by Govs. Paul Patterson of Oregon and Arthur B. Langlie of Washington. They are chairman Frederick G. Hamley, Washington supreme court justice; Dwight E. Robinson, University of Washington professor; and Victor P. Morris, University of Oregon dean of business administration.

Back To Movies For Marilyn After Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was back to the movie cameras Thursday for Marilyn Monroe, who divorced Joe DiMaggio in a 15-minute hearing Wednesday.

No comment was heard from the former New York Yankees baseball star on the end of their well publicized, nine-month marriage. Sobbing, the shapely blonde star, clad in a black flannel suit, told Judge Orlando H. Rhodes in Santa Monica Superior Court. "I had hoped to have out of marriage love, warmth, affection and understanding. But instead he gave me coolness and indifference. "My husband would get into moods and wouldn't talk to me for long periods—five to seven days sometimes—maybe longer—10 days. And if I tried to approach him, he usually said: 'Leave me alone.' "When I asked him, 'What's the matter?' he replied, 'Stop nagging me.' "He allowed me no visitors whatsoever. I don't believe I asked someone to do more than three times during the nine months we were married. On one occasion when I was sick, he allowed someone to see me, but then only under the condition that I offered to give up my work in hopes that would solve our problems. But that didn't change his attitude at all."

Under California law her interlocutory decree will be final in a year.

Plans For Taylor Hearing By Senate Group Abandoned

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Plans were abandoned Wednesday for a Senate hearing which had been proposed to give former U. S. Sen. Glen Taylor an opportunity to answer, under oath, assertions that he accepted Communist support in his 1948 election campaign.

Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who had ordered the hearing, announced Tuesday night that it would not be held. Asked to explain he would comment only that "Taylor has had nothing to say."

But in Wallace, Idaho, where he was campaigning, Taylor told reporters "I've been waiting to hear from him (Welker) about when the hearing was to be held." Taylor, who was the Progressive Party nominee for vice president in 1948, is the Democratic senatorial nominee for the various booths will be sold. Proceeds from the carnival are split five ways, one fifth to each high school class and one fifth to the student body as a whole.

Burglars Again Enter Tavern; Loot Very Small

City police reported today that burglars had broken in to Pat's Tavern at 111 S. Jackson St. for the second time in two days.

The entry this time was made apparently early Wednesday morning, police said. It was made by the same route as the burglary early Monday morning, through a side window.

The owner, C. A. (Pat) Patchett, fared better this time, however. The burglar netted only a cigarette lighter. Burglars Monday made away with $180.

Police reports show entry was made by chipping away putty around the window and prying the glass with a thin blade. The window was broken in the operation. After entering, an attempt was made to open the safe by the burglars, police said. The handle of the safe was broken off. The tavern was rified, but no money was found. Small change was left behind.

Mexican Nationals Are Rounded Up At Klamath

KLAMATH FALLS (AP) — Forty Mexican nationals who have been working in this country illegally have been rounded up in the Klamath Basin in the past few days.

Alfred Neumann, Immigration Service officer, said all had agreed to pay their own way back to Mexico. He said this was unusual, since the government as a rule has provided transportation.

Neumann also said border supervision had been closer, and the number rounded up here this year was smaller than usual.

he would appear voluntarily at a hearing only if he had the right to cross-examine Welker.

Sourwine said he would report his findings to Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), the subcommittee chairman.

Welker's announcement that the hearing would not be held followed. In Wallace, Taylor said he was "not surprised the hearing was called off."

"The simple fact is," Taylor said, "Mr. Welker could find no other senator willing to downgrade the U. S. Senate by holding a political hearing on election eve."

4. Ragnor Johnson, who succeeded Crose as chairman, said he was dropping accusations that Ullman's firm had made misrepresentations to the home buyer or had violated the state real estate code. Johnson said he was not dropping a charge there was an indication of bad faith or incompetency.

Glendale Home Damaged By Fire

By MRS. G. B. FOX

The Joe Yegar residence on Quines Creek near Glendale was damaged recently when flames from a defective flu ate through a spare bedroom wall, burning into a mattress and smoldering for some length of time.

At about 3:30 a.m. Yegar was roused by the smoke which filled the house. His wife called the Douglas Fire Protective Assn., from the neighboring George Z. Newman house while Yegar bathed the blaze which burst into the open when he traced it to the bedroom.

The association, on the scene within 10 minutes, was able to save the house. Furniture in the room was a complete loss, Yegar reports, but the most serious damage was confined to the one room.

The benefit dance held recently at the Azalea Grange for Ralph Brady was well attended. Walter Winkelman and a group of other local musicians furnished the music. Refreshments were sold and a general donation resulted. One of the highlights of the evening was "The Bunny Hop" done by a large group of the young people.

The Azalea Community Church Sunday School had a record high of 79 in Sunday School Oct. 24. Three-week pins were presented to 10 children. Three boys were presented with three-month pins for not missing a Sunday for that length of time. A record is being kept for the Christian Life contest in which the group is competing.

Eisenhower Takes To Air For Major Election Talk

"slander, epithets, accusations and Communism in government." He singled out for special mention Vice President Nixon, who has been carrying much of the Republican campaign load in speeches all across the nation. He accused Nixon of playing a "cynical numbers game designed to suggest that thousands of our public servants were disloyal."

He also criticized Atty. Gen. Brownell, who he said "sought political profit by impugning the loyalty" of former President Truman.

Nixon arrived back in his home state of California yesterday after following the campaign trail through several Rocky Mountain states and Oregon. He said in Long Beach the election is "not in the bag" for either side because of what he said is a large group of as-yet-undecided voters. But he said he detected a shift of moderate Democrats to the GOP in states he has stumped.

Nixon's scheduled visit to Spokane, Wash., Saturday has touched off a political row in that city. Spokane's nonpartisan Mayor Arthur Meehan yesterday designated Saturday "Nixon Day." Democratic leaders objected. "We feel this is a direct insult to 50,000 Democrats in Spokane," Mrs. E. Dawson Whittaker, the county Democratic chairman, told the City Council. Democratic leaders demanded that Nixon be restricted to a nonpolitical talk.

Hemingway Wins Nobel Prize For Literature

haps the greatest phrasemaker of his time—Sir Winston Churchill, who writes, orates, paints and runs the British government.

A source close to the academy said its members decided that since Hemingway was slated to receive the award eventually "We might as well give it to him now, before he kills himself" in some exploit.

Earlier this year, when it was feared that Hemingway had been killed in a plane crash in Africa, many newspapers criticized the academy for not giving him the prize.

The author of such classics as "A Farewell to Arms," "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "The Snows of Kilimanjaro" and "The Old Man and the Sea" was chosen over a strong slate of candidates. Among the other contenders were Iceland's Halldor Laxness, Greece's Niko Kasantzakis and France's Albert Camus.
