marly natural resources. U. S. "Men in white" must go to places where most people are not Christians, not acquainted with democracy, and so forth.

In background the counter-revolution which ousted a Communist regime, the speaker said the action would have been a holocaust if Polish arms shipped to the country had been accompanied by ammunition.

The "reign of terror" which led up to the revolt included many assassinations of the common people, people who prefer Christianity to atheistic Communism. Mass graves uncovered were compared to Nazi Germany's in famous Dachau.

U. S. "intervention" was a necessary result after the Red arms shipment and other acts of intended violence, the speaker believes.

Bolt opened his address by claiming he is a Republican. Then he repeated the next dinner meeting, ending with "so help me, Sen. McCarthy."

He was introduced by Club President Paul E. Geddes, who announced the next dinner meeting of the organization for Jan. 12, at which time writer Sidney Montague will talk.

CDUF Campaign Goes Over Top In Roseburg

UF budget amount in addition to the specified gifts, Woodruff stated. The fund president gave credit to others for the fulfillment of the goal, he said.

"The citizens of this area, realizing the worth of a United Fund campaign, have contributed their time and money generously and wholeheartedly to make this campaign a success. I would like to express my sincere gratitude and heartfelt appreciation to all the officers and directors of the Central Douglas United Fund organization for their cooperation and help toward reaching our goal."

"I should particularly like to thank our campaign chairman, Russell Cary, and all chairmen and workers in the various departments for their unselfish devotion to this campaign, without which our goal could not have been reached."

Cary also expressed "appreciation to those who made the drive a success."

2-Cent Gasoline Tax Must Wait, Says Group

available revenue runs to only 22 millions a year. A 2-cent gas tax would bring in the needed $ million, he said.

Without this minimum program, Baldock told the committee, "road building in Oregon will soon lose the advantage gained by the 72 million dollar bond expenditure (of the past five years) and slip rapidly behind in caring for current needs with current revenue. The critical highway deficiencies would become a serious handicap...."

GOOD TURKEY WEATHER
Less rainfall and warmer weather is in store for central Douglas County residents, according to the five-day forecast of the U. S. Weather Bureau. Recurring rains, mostly falling about Wednesday and Friday were forecast, but the amount predicted was for less than one-half inch of precipitation.

Moose, Eagles Combine Efforts For Toy Drive

The Roseburg Moose Lodge is combining its forces with the Eagles Lodge in the gigantic operation of gathering toys for needy children.

In past years, the Eagles Lodge of Roseburg has collected and repaired toys for distribution to children who otherwise would not have any on Christmas morning.

Richard Tucker, civic affairs chairman of the Local Order of the Moose, and Barney Fenwick, general manager of the annual toy drive by the Eagles Lodge, reported today that this year more children will be needing toys than ever before.

Therefore, Moose Lodge has thrown in its lot with the local Eagles.

Tucker reports that the Moose Lodge is conducting a similar movement (called "Operation Santa Claus") all over the North American continent.

Both Tucker and Fenwick urged members of the two lodges to assist in the work of picking up toys and repairing them at the Eagles workshop.

Anyone having old toys to donate may take them to either the Moose or Eagles lodge halls. They may also call Fenwick or Tucker, through whom arrangements will be made to pick the toys up.

Both men agreed, "We want to make as many children as possible happy on Christmas." They also called for gifts for boys and girls in their teens.

One of the feeder lines from the new city reservoir was reported broken about 5 p.m. last week.

Charles N. Dody of the city crews reported that an 18-inch steel feeder line weld had broken loose about 20 feet below the reservoir.

He said it was probably caused by settling under the pipe. A large stream of water poured from the break, but did not cause any major damage to private property.

Dody said that water to the broken section of pipe was quickly shut off and complete repairs were made. No city water users suffered any inconvenience while the break was being repaired.

Oakland Woman Passes Monday

Mrs. Marie Sonne, 82, longtime resident of Oakland, died in a Roseburg hospital Monday following a short illness.

She was born May 16, 1872, in Denmark. She had lived for several years in the East and in California before moving to Oakland in 1916.

Excellent Rating Accorded To 23 Band Members

Twenty-three students out of 108 participating received excellent rating in the Roseburg Junior High School solo contest for band instruments held Saturday.

The contest, first for junior high musicians, lasted all day. It was held at Central Junior High School.

Judges of the junior musicians were five instructors from Douglas County schools, according to coordinator Walter Buehning. Buehning is band director for Central and Joseph Lane junior high schools. He did not serve as a judge.

Excellent ratings were awarded to students playing the following instruments: Flute — Steve Carlson, Central; clarinet — Peggy Bundy, Pat Vell, Myrna Marsters, John Sandquist and Don Olson, all of Central; Kendall Cairns and David Bibler, both of Joseph Lane.

Saxophones — Artie Luckat and Shari Akers, both of Central; Janice Long and Kay Pilger, both of Joseph Lane.

Cornets — Sharyl Swenson, Central; David Stevens and Claudette Tucker, both of Joseph Lane. French horn — Faye Reeder, Joseph Lane.

Trombones — Doug Nielsen, Allyn Ford, Larry Dysert and Don Loomis, all of Central. Bass horn — Jim Keefe, Central.

Drums — Floyd Wicklund, Central; Larry Crain, Joseph Lane.

Forty-four other musicians were rated good, Buehning said. The remainder were listed as fair or as needing improvement.

Judging the contest were Caleb Standoffer, Sutherlin high school band director; Tom Hall, Roseburg High School band director; Wendell Johnson, Roseburg High School orchestra director; Robert Robins, Roseburg high school choral director; and Glen Leuning, general music instructor at Joseph Lane.

Symphony Group Dates Concert For December 9

Music from the famed Broadway musical "The King & I" and Schubert's Fifth Symphony will be featured in the opening concert of the Roseburg Symphony Orchestra.

Date for the initial concert has been set for Dec. 9, according to Director Wendell Johnson.

The 25-piece orchestra appeared before an audience for the first time this season Saturday. Orchestra members played for patients at the Veterans' Hospital.

More than 150 persons have purchased season tickets, according to the Mrs. Jack Myers, temporary chairman of the temporary board of the Roseburg Symphony Society.

Families buying season tickets are entitled to free tickets for each of the youngsters in the family, Mrs. Myers said.

Tickets may be secured in advance of the first concert by calling Mrs. Myers at 3-6101 or by contacting Mrs. Morris Bowker at Lu-verne's Dress Shop, 124 N. Jackson, Roseburg.

Individual tickets to the concerts will be available before each performance Mrs. Myers said. Concerts will be held at Central Junior High School, beginning at 8:15 p.m.
