

Re-Organizing Of Immigration Service Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—A broad plan for re-organizing and decentralizing the Immigration Service has been announced by Atty. Gen. Brownell.

The attorney general said the changes, embodying the ideas of Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing, are designed to speed procedures, set up closer supervision over the work, and delegate additional authority to the field.

The general re-organization is the first of its kind since immigration matters were transferred from the Labor Department to the Justice Department in 1940.

The service has operated for years with a Washington headquarters and 15 district offices throughout the country and in the territories and possessions.

The new plan calls for a reduction from 15 to 11 in the number of districts by abolishing the Los Angeles, Honolulu, Baltimore and St. Albans, Vt. districts. Headquarters in those cities will become sub-offices.

San Francisco headquarters will direct Hawaii and Guam. San Francisco and El Paso will divide the area now controlled by Los Angeles. Baltimore will be consolidated under Philadelphia. Boston and Buffalo, N. Y. will absorb the St. Albans district.

ly, but a panel on public relations was staged anyway as the convention neared an end.

Members of the panel were: George Sirnio, director of Health and Education for the State Dept. of Education; Charles V. Stanton, editor of the News-Review; Earle Vossen, principal of Willamette High School in Eugene; Harold Hoyt, Roseburg school board member, and Paul Johnston, director of health and physical education at Springfield.

Sirnio opened the sequence of thought on the subject by urging listeners to keep the public informed of present school activities and interpret future plans.

Stanton took the thought from there to point out that a newspaper is a "partner in a worthy project." He said as long as information from schools contained "news," it was welcomed. But he said the burden rests with the schools to make the information known to the paper.

Vossen called public relations a "selling job," and Hoyt came up with another vehicle for such selling. He called students in schools the "best possible vehicle" for bringing about good relations.

Johnson contended that demonstrations involving many students would aid in gaining support from a district's citizenry.

gram, he added. "To be effective the counselor needs to be a good mirror of the counselee's experiences," he said.

The speaker warned counselors not to underestimate the value of vocational counseling. "It involves the whole area of personality," he said.

Dr. Bell tossed out a few quick suggestions concerning a successful counseling program. He advised (1) complete study of the local situation and needs; (2) informing parents, school board, administrators and faculty of the program; (3) selection of a needed area as a starting point; (4) familiarizing teachers with summer counseling workshops; and (5) not overburdening teachers with clerical details.

The keynote was introduced by Dr. John A. Schulz of the Oregon State General Extension Division. State General Extension Division.

Presiding over the morning session was Douglas County School Supt. Kenneth F. Barneburg.

A clarinet quintet from Myrtle Creek High School provided early morning music for the workshop.

Municipal spokesmen of the two leading parties warmly agreed they must establish a strong new democratic coalition here under the shadow of the Russian army, regardless of their partisan quarrels in West Germany over foreign policy.

The Berliners stingingly repudiated the Communists and the Nazi-tainted German party.

Vancouver Acts To Stop Wave Of Armed Robberies

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Three special machine gun squads have been put on Vancouver streets by Police Chief Walter Mulligan in the latest move to combat a rising wave of armed robberies.

The heavily-armed squads, each commanded by a Sergeant, patrolled the city as the hunt was stepped up for an escaped convict believed responsible for one of three holdups Thursday night.

Traveling in patrol cars, the machine gun squads will cruise throughout the downtown sections, concentrating in known "crime areas," the scene of recent holdups.

There are two men to a car. The Sergeant in command being armed with a machine gun. They are Thompson-type guns.

Reports of the robberies started coming in only a few hours after Mulligan announced his plan to throw all available police officers into the fight against the stepped-up crime in the city.

The chief and the police commission called an emergency meeting Thursday, 24 hours after two lightning-swift bank holdups which netted the robbers $42,000. The holdups made six bank robberies in as many weeks, and marked the first time in the history of the city that two had been robbed in the same day.

Pyun Says Russia Masterminded Reds' Aggression

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun of South Korea has charged here the Soviet Union masterminded, equipped and brought the Chinese Reds into an "unprovoked Communist aggression" on that republic in 1950.

He also told the U. N. General Assembly's Political Committee, "If the Communists really mean coexistence, Korea is the right place where they can demonstrate it with much good accruing to themselves in the form of world-wide confidence."

As chief Korean delegate to the Assembly, he pledged full support of a resolution introduced by 15 of the 16 U. N. Korean War allies. The resolution would reaffirm the U. N. hope for a unified, independent and democratic Korea and ticket the Korean problem for consideration in the Assembly again next year.

Pyun endorsed U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth's Wednesday speech for the resolution, calling it a "wonderfully worked out statement." He assailed the address made the same day by Jacob A. Malik, Soviet ambassador to London.

He said Malik, in proposing a rival resolution to disband the U. N. Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea, wanted to "make place for a Communist-desired setup," either with or without U. N. sponsorship.

Oregon To Pay Benefit Claims To Two Widows

OLYMPIA (AP)—The widows of two Washington men killed at Bonneville Dam will receive death benefits from the state of Oregon, a Washington State labor and industries official has announced.

John Shaughnessy, supervisor of the state division of industrial insurance, said Oregon has agreed to pay the benefits claims of Mrs. Leonard Boylan of Cathlamet and Mrs. George W. Graham of Longview, whose husbands were killed last August in an accident which took the lives of five tugboatmen.

Boylan, 54, and Graham, 44, with Merle Lucius Tobias, 48, and Donald Allen Lewis, 20, both of Portland, were on the tug when it was caught under the spillway on the lower face of the dam and sunk.

The fifth victim was Magor Julius Larsen, 66, of Salem, who was captain of the ill-fated vessel.

Shaughnessy said the agreement by Oregon to pay claims to the widows of Boylan and Graham, as well as to the relatives of Tobias and Lewis, came after officials of the two states held conferences to determine which state had liability in the case.

Capt. Larsen was under federal jurisdiction, Shaughnessy said, and any claims resulting from his death must be made to the federal government.
