

Three-Day School Plant Planning Conclave Held

A three-day statewide conference on school plant planning was held over the weekend in Eugene. More than 300 architects, mechanical engineers, contractors and school administrators heard the latest developments in school building trends.

Specialists in school planning and architecture were called in to speak at the conference. They included Charles D. Gibson, supervisor of school planning of the California State Dept. of Education, and Lawrence Perkins, Chicago, Ill., architect.

At least three Douglas County men participated in the actual program. County School Supt. Kenneth F. Barneburg presided over a Thursday evening group session on "School Building Problems of the Small School District."

Byron F. Evans, Glendale schools superintendent, acted as recorder for a clinic group on "Site Selection and Planning."

Al Neet, Myrtle Creek School superintendent, served as recorder for a clinic group on "Maintenance and School Planning."

Roseburg School Dist. 4 was represented at the conference by Supt. M. C. Deller and school board members Harold Hoyt and Arthur Lamka.

Deller said Monday that the conference dovetailed into the building problems now facing Dist. 4.

or jail term of 30 days, or both upon violation and conviction of persons owning or operating the railroad equipment.

(3) Mayor Percy Croft appointed Councilmen Byron Woodruff, Ken Ellison and William Adair to investigate a request from Cecil Sherwood, 1140 Hamilton St., for permission to build a carport closer to a property line than allowed by set-back regulations.

(4) Oliver Plumer pointed out that the State Highway Dept. has built a sidewalk on the east side rather than the west side of the west approach to new Highway 99 near Corey Avenue. It was pointed out the arrangement requires school students to make extra crossings in heavy traffic.

Mayor Croft said he is sure the problem will soon be taken care of by the state.

(5) The council approved final payments totalling about $3,000 on these projects: Kerber's Addition Storm sewer, Cass Street sanitary sewer and Kane Street widening. Acceptance of Cardinal street paving work was made with provision for payment on one small strip not now blacktopped.

(6) A recommendation from the airport committee that the Umpqua Flying Club be given the go-ahead on a new hanger at the airport was given approval.

(7) A letter received by the fire commission from California-Pacific Utilities Co. was read. It outlined safety precautions taken to prevent fire or explosion from handling of natural gas. One councilman said the Southern Pacific Co. has promised full cooperation in handling cars loaded with gas.

(8) A police committee recommendation for renewal of 14 liquor licenses of city businesses was accepted.

(9) Approval of payment of November bills was given.

Two Men Pay $75 Fines For Reckless Driving

Two men charged with reckless driving received $75 fines in district court Monday, according to Judge Warren A. Woodruff.

Pinball Devices Closed Down By City Officers

Olson said he told the three firms after permits were approved by the city that pay-offs wouldn't be tolerated. One distributor was warned about the time of the sheriff's office's pinball seizures in July. Later, more complaints were received and the Saturday shut-down followed.

A number of machines hadn't been paying off, the chief said, but juveniles were playing them, contrary to state law. These also were closed down over the week end.

The machines involved in the police department's crackdown Saturday night were located as follows:

Sunset: Carl's Fine Foods (2), Chuck's Coffee Shop, Pat's Tavern, Sandy's Tavern, Umpqua Lounge, Skyroom.

Carrioco: The Club Tavern, Friendly Tavern (2), Grand Hotel (2), Monarch Tavern, Monogram Cigar Store, Swede's Tavern, Moose Lodge.

Sanders: Monarch Tavern, Pastime Tavern.

Backing Assured Development Of Port Of Umpqua

A speech by Rep. Harris Ellsworth Monday night offered his assistance in the U.S. House of Representatives for development of the port of Umpqua. Ellsworth spoke at a meeting of the Umpqua Improvement Assn. in Drain.

His offer apparently whipped President Robert Hansen to immediate action. He called for a meeting "as soon as possible" with members of the port commission to set up a rough blueprint for work on the Reedsport harbor. The meeting will probably be scheduled in January.

Another sturdy shoulder also was offered to the wheel of the association's dreams. It was that of Douglas County Judge Carl Hill. He said the county court would support efforts of the association in getting routes to the improved harbor. "The county court is intensely interested in developing the county," he stated. He urged the association to make plans to "coordinate the road system with the port."

A more immediate problem for the association than its aims now, however, is securing a heavy membership from Chambers of Commerce, granges and any other groups interested. Only three groups are now dues paying. Others are on the "promised" list, according to President Hanson. The association is concentrating on the north Douglas County and southern Lane County areas now.

The next meeting will be scheduled in January, Hanson said.

Sen. McCarthy Issues Blast At Eisenhower

statement which ended like this: "Unfortunately the President sees fit to congratulate those who hold up the exposure of Communism in one breath and in the next breath urges patience, tolerance and niceties to those who are torturing American uniformed men."

When newsmen first told Hagerly about the McCarthy attack, the press secretary said he would have no comment. About an hour later, Hagerly called reporters to his office and told them that so far as the international aspects of McCarthy's criticism was concerned, he (Hagerly) wanted to refer them to Eisenhower's remarks at his news conference last week.

At that conference the President urged Americans to have the courage to be patient in trying to secure the release of 13 United States citizens—11 of them captured in uniform—who had been imprisoned by the Chinese Communists as spies.

Square Dancers Converge Here For Big Jamboree

Roseburg was spotlighted last Sunday afternoon when more than 500 square dance enthusiasts converged on the city for the Buckeroo Square Dance Club's second annual Jamboree.

In spite of the heavy rain, couples from as far as Vancouver, Wash., and Astoria in the north to Klamath Falls in the southeast were on hand to spend a spirited, if somewhat crowded, afternoon of dancing in the Buckeroo Barn.

More than 20 well known Oregon callers appeared on the program, including Roseburg callers Hans Steizenmueller, Norval Cockeram and Hal Haskins. Curley Reynolds was master of ceremonies for the affair.

It was by far the largest square dance event ever held in Roseburg. There were as many as 45 squares of dancers on the floor at one time, with many others having to wait their turn to "set 'em up."

Boyd Canoy, Buckeroo Club president, pointed out that the popularity of square dancing in the county is growing by leaps and bounds and that square dancers would welcome the completion of a community building that will provide adequate room for events such as the Sunday Jamboree.

A highlight of the entertainment Sunday was the group of exhibition dances arranged by the Roseburg International Folk Dancers. These dancers, in their colorful costumes, are outstanding with their expert interpretation of festival dances from many lands.

Relationship Of Schools, Public At Crossroads

and early 1960s. Since the seclusion act of 1916, the problem has been less acute.

3. Nationalization: Fifty thousand separate cultures have existed in the nation, and the schools have been able to mold them into a community possessing "common views." Now, said Dr. Stevenson, educators want to know if internationalism should be taught.

4. Equalitarianism: Dr. Stevenson described this as building equal opportunity for all. Here, again, the problem remains.

Until recently, the educator declared, the schools have been the pride of the public, and he said, blame is heaped on them for various reasons.

The major reason is that of the school — public relationship being at the crossroads.

He enlarged: "Do the people want high schools to be vocational institutions or to remain as preparatory schools for college? Does education need to be along the lines of the three Rs, or has the nation become such a country of readers and writers that the traditional fundamentals be de-emphasized?"

He explained that "schools are no longer a monopoly" in education, pointing out the educational advantages inherent in newspapers, magazines, radio and television.

The public isn't so sure of its objectives as in the past, Dr. Stevenson commented.

Schools reflect the society they are in, he said, and therefore a re-alignment of objectives is indicated:

1. Coordination of skills so all are aimed at a set of objectives;

2. Schools reflect the society they are in, he said. A re-alignment of objectives is indicated, along with provision for more teachers.

"It's a job to be done by the people," he concluded.

FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS

Two men were fined in district court Monday after arraignment on charges of being drunk on a public highway.

William Dwight McFadden, 29, Riddle, was fined $50, and James Franklin Moore, 24, Roseburg, was fined $25, according to Judge Warren A. Woodruff. The men were arrested by state police.

JIMMY RAY PIPER ... death cause found

Girl's Death Attributed To Brain Inflammation

Pathological examination shows the death of a 15-year-old Roseburg girl on Nov. 20 was caused by hemorrhage brought on by a combination of diseases.

A report to Coroner L. L. Powers attributes the death of Jimmy Ray Piper to acute meningo-poli-encephalomyelitis, or a combination of meningitis, Poliomyelitis and encephalitis (inflammation of the brain).

The girl died in her sleep at the home of her foster mother, Mrs. Marie Clemons. A student at Joseph Lane Junior High School, she came to Roseburg five years ago. She was born at Sheridan, Ark., on Sept. 11, 1939. Her parents preceded her in death.

Still No Body Found; Rainwater Released

L. Z. Rainwater, 29, Riddle, was given a five-day jail sentence, then released under three-month probation Monday after he was arraigned in district court on a charge of vagrancy.

Rainwater created quite a stir Sunday evening when he gave himself up to Riddle Chief Ken Hunt and told a story about murdering a man he had been with in a tavern.

State and county officers called into the case failed to find any clues—including a body—which would substantiate what Rainwater said.

BOND CANCELED

Donald Floyd Hagquist, 21, Roseburg, was lodged in the county jail Monday after a property bond furnished by his parents was withdrawn. Hagquist was released under bond following indictment last summer on a charge of forgery.

Y-Indian Guides Program Will Be Outlined Tonight

Aims and purposes of the YMCA-sponsored Y-Indian Guides program will be outlined tonight at Central Junior High School.

The initial meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. It is for parents only, according to YMCA executive secretary Don Naden. Some 2,000 dads and sons are enrolled in Y tribes throughout the Northwest.

Purpose of the program is to encourage companionship of father and son, Naden said. Tribes consist of nine dads and their sons. The tribes meet regularly for simple craft work, group get-togethers and refreshments.

The program is set up for fathers of boys aged 6 through 8. Slogan of the Y-Indian Guides is "pals forever."

Naden gave the following as the aims of the youth program: to be clean in body and pure in heart; to be pals forever; to love their sacred circle of the family; to be attentive while others speak; to love my neighbor as myself; and to see and preserve the beauty of the Great Spirit's (God's) work in forest field and stream.

All parents, husbands and wives are invited to learn details of the program at the initial session Tuesday night. Movies showing the work of the Y Indian Guides will be shown.

Armed Guards Posted At Oil Drilling Site

Armed guards were posted at the Melrose oil drilling site Tuesday.

Geologist Les Childs said the guards were posted by Community Gas and Oil Co., Inc., to keep sightseers away from the operation while drilling is in its present state.

Access to the drilling site will be forbidden anyone not holding special permits from D. N. Busenbark, president of Community Gas and Oil Co., Inc. or Elton Jackson, president of Oil Developers, Inc., Childs said.

He termed the drilling operation a "tight hole" and said no unauthorized personnel would have access to information concerning it.

Busenbark, contacted by telephone Monday evening, said the move was made to stop curiosity seekers. He added that no more information concerning the drilling operation would be available. The Community Gas and Oil Co., Inc., president was very hopeful concerning the drilling.

One unnamed spokesman indicated the security guard had been put up to prevent major oil companies from securing free information concerning the hole.

Canyonville Man Fined For Drunken Driving

J. W. Rhoads, 24, Canyonville, was fined $250 and given 10 days in jail Monday after he was found guilty of drunken driving, according to District Judge Warren A. Woodruff.

Rhoads, arrested Sunday by state police, pleaded innocent when arraigned; then waived right of jury trial.

Also lodged on a drunk driving charge is Waldo Eugene Bass, 42, Springfield, who was fined $300 and given a six-months suspended sentence by Reedsport Justice of the Peace R. H. Goodwin. Bass was unable to pay the fine.

3-Year-Old Child Killed In Car-Truck Collision

THE DALLES — Eddie Remillard, 3, was killed Monday in a truck-automobile collision that injured two other youngsters and two adults.

The boy, son of Mrs. Agnes Remillard of The Dalles, was thrown from the car in the collision. Injured were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd O. Daley, The Dalles, and Mary George, 3, and her brother, Billy, 16 months. The Daleys were taking the children for a drive when the mishap occurred.

FINDS FOR DEFENDANT

A circuit court jury Monday afternoon found for the defendant, Duane N. Coble, in a suit brought by Frank Wooster.

Wooster had sought a judgment of $2,503.10, alleging the defendant sold him tools and merchandise at a Roseburg Richfield station on Aug. 21 and that the merchandise was worth only $1,690 instead of the purchase price of $4,200.

Funeral Service For Isaacs Set

Funeral services for Vincent (Ikey) Isaacs, 80, lifelong resident of the community, will be held in the chapel of Long & Orr Mortuary Thursday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Ellsworth Tilton of the First Methodist Church officiating.

Isaacs died on Saturday following a short illness. Concluding services and interment will follow in the IOOF Cemetery.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Effie Marcey of Myrtle Creek; two brothers, Elmer of Springfield and Oliver of Myrtle Creek, and several nephews and nieces.

OFFICERS NAMED

The Roseburg Choral Society has elected new officers with Walter Fredrickson being named president. Sid Fredrickson was named vice president, and Pat Dishman secretary-treasurer. The new officers will take up their duties Jan. 1. The group meets weekly in the music room of the Roseburg High School under the direction of S. Clarence Trued.

Lady Lions To Maintain Christmas Seal Booths

Lady Lions have undertaken the task of maintaining Christmas Seal booths at the Post Office, according to Mrs. William F. Amiot, executive secretary of the Douglas County Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

The booths are open now. Volunteers will accept donations by those persons who have received seals through the mail, and also will sell seals.

Various other organizations will work with Lady Lions in taking turns at running the booths. Amaranths will have charge of booths in each of the banks, Mrs. Amiot said.

Mrs. D. R. Dimick of the West Side Lady Lions is chairman of the Christmas project.

RAINS CONTINUE

Rains will continue for the next five days, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts, with the total precipitation amounting to about one to two inches. Temperatures will remain near or slightly below normal, with maximum temperatures ranging in the 40s and minimums hovering in the low 30s.
