The National Assn. of Evangelicals Tuesday urged the State and Defense Departments not to become party to any agreement in which American servicemen in Spain "would be refused the right to be married by a chaplain of our armed services."

Dr. Henry H. Savage of Pontiac, Mich., president of the group, said he had written the departments that "to allow the state church of Spain to dictate how and to whom American citizens can be married in Spain would be an open affront to all true Protestants."

Religious regulation of American marriages is a subject peculiar to Spain, at least among the lands where American servicemen are regularly stationed in numbers or will be in the future. In such other

As an example of the hazard for young fish, one study found that at Baker Dam, 250 feet high, 64 per cent of the sockeye and 5 per cent of silver salmon going over spillways were killed, and 34 per cent of sockeye and 28 per cent of the silvers passing through the turbines.

Irrigation diversions and polluted industrial waters are other dangers for young fish. The traffic lights could steer them past these hazards also.
