

Indians Take $15 Million For Their Fishing Rights

WHITE SWAN, Wash. (AP) — Yakima Indian tribesmen have agreed to a $15,019,640 settlement for their ancestral tribal fishing rights at Celilo Falls on the Columbia. Approximately 4,000 will benefit. Tribal representatives voted 197 to 10 for the proposal. In another new development here, tribal representatives met at The Dalles and voted to ask Congress to appropriate $130,000 to relocate the homes of Indians who will be displaced on both sides of the river.

Biggest Peacetime Outlay For Air Power Embraced In Budget Given Congress

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Military spending of 34 billion dollars in the next fiscal year was proposed Monday by President Eisenhower, with two-thirds of the total going to air power and with accent on the "nuclear-air retaliatory" arms of the Air Force and Navy. Eisenhower told Congress, in his budget recommendations for the year starting next July 1, that this expenditure would be the largest peacetime outlay for air power and related programs. In assigning this paramount position to the combined power of hydrogen and fission bombs and the planes to carry them, the President said this power is being "supplemented by other military forces of great strength, flexibility and mobility and by the forces of our allies." "Never in our peacetime history have we been as well prepared to defend ourselves as we are now," he declared. "New weapons of unparalleled effectiveness are being integrated into the combat elements with all practical speed." Without specifying hydrogen and standard nuclear fission bombs, he said that in the next fiscal year "expanded production facilities will be in operation and production of weapons will increase." A table showed that in the next fiscal year the recommendation is to authorize contracts for weapons production totaling $308,348,000 against an estimated $261,822,000 for the current year. A-Powered Subs Noted Eisenhower noted the first atomic powered submarine, the Nautilus, has been launched (she was due to begin trials Monday), with a second nuclear submarine, the Sea Wolf, scheduled for launching sometime this year and with two others provided for. Eisenhower said he is recommending additional nuclear subs. At the Pentagon, it was explained that this meant three additional boats to bring the fleet of atomic subs to seven. There was new stress, too, on guided missiles. The budget earmarked 675 million dollars for guided missiles next year against 519 millions estimated for the current year. A fifth supercarrier of the 60,000-ton Forrestal class was recommended. These new weapons spell still greater firepower for the armed forces and, in turn, less manpower. The President said "the structure of our military forces must be subjected to continuing review and adjusted to reflect the rapid technological progress of this nuclear and electronic age." Cutback Program Re-told He restated the manpower cutback program: To reduce from a present force of about 3,200,000 to about 3,000,000 by next June 30 by June 1956. The Pentagon explained this meant that by June 1956 the Army would have 1,027,000 men, the Navy 657,000, the Marine Corps 133,000 and the Air Force 975,000. Only the Air Force would add men. The Navy will operate a "little over" 1,000 ships, of which about 406 will be combat types. This compares with about 1,100 now in commission. The cutback will be entirely in non-combat categories. Here is how the proposed spending budgets for the armed forces would compare in the next fiscal year: Air Force $15,600,000,000 ($15,200,000,000 estimated for current year.) Navy $9,700,000,000 ($9,875,000,000 for the current year.) Army $8,850,000,000 ($8,900,000,000 for the current year.)

Oklahoma Murder Suspect Nabbed By FBI

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Otto Austin Loel, on the FBI's "Ten most wanted" list since May 1954, was arrested here Monday. Loel is wanted by Oklahoma police for murder, the FBI said at Jacksonville. A woodsman trained in the use of knives and guns, Loel was picked up on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder, the FBI said, in the stabbing death of Elizabeth Jeanne Henderson of Compton, Calif., Jan. 10, 1954. The FBI said he was found living in a rudely made palmetto hut in a junk yard. Loel had been arrested on a drunk charge and released on Jan. 9. A routine check of his fingerprints through Washington FBI revealed his identity.

Traffic Charges in Oregon Upped

Over 122,000 convictions on traffic charges were reported by Oregon courts to the department of state last year, Secretary of State Newby reports. Newby said the conviction records, submitted to licensing authorities as required by law, are entered in the files of individual drivers. The information is coupled with accident reports, to check how well each driver is able to stay out of traffic trouble over a period of time. The licenses of 6,962 drivers were suspended during the year, the majority on recommendation of the courts or on conviction of serious traffic offenses for which license suspension is mandatory. Leading violations carrying the automatic suspension penalty was driving while intoxicated, which grounded 3,110 drivers during the year. Driving with a previously suspended or revoked license brought further suspension periods to another 1,048 operators. Newby said the convictions reported in 1954 represented an increase of approximately 47,000 over the preceding year, but that most of the gain was due to increased cooperation from traffic courts in connection with the department's stepped-up license suspension program.
