COMIC BOOKS TOPIC AT DRAIN WSCS

Indecent literature on newsstands was the main topic at the meeting of the WSCS of the Drain Methodist Church Thursday evening.

Ray Martin of Oakland representing the Knights of Columbus was guest speaker. In his discussion of plans for ridding newsstands of filthy, indecent, immoral literature, Martin stressed five examples of material on newsstands that fall into these classes. They were: comic books which glorify crimes and criminals; books or magazines predominantly sexy; those featuring illicit love; those carrying indecent or suggestive illustrations and disreputable advertising. Three ways suggested by Martin for keeping this undesirable literature away from children were: keep it out of the homes; ask neighbors to watch what materials enter their homes and watch readership habits.

Hostesses serving refreshments were Mrs. Dale Skewis and Mrs. Jack Young.
