Senator's Wife Taken To Task For Criticism

same room for four weeks during one session, and then later when the legislature was not in session and the cost was different.

One veteran senator sent me a copy of Mr. Sprague's editorial with a note appended which said: "Either, if you are wrong, there has been a blanket reformation around here."

Mr. Sprague pointed out a little caustically that, even if there were hardships attendant to living in Salem during a session, we asked for it. Hence, I suppose, complaints are out of order. But constructive criticism should never be out of order. And all during Mr. Sprague's brilliant career in Oregon he has fought untrudgingly to correct injustices and inadequacies in his chosen surroundings. And thanks to his crusading spirit, Oregon is a better state in which to live.

I hope I have set myself straight with Salemites, and out of fairness, I hope I have cleared myself with Roseburgites, who may also have thought I was panning Salem, when I was really trying to crusade a bit for adequate salaries so legislators could afford to live in Salem during the session.

My last word on the subject was that we do like Salem as much that most of those here will keep coming back as long as God and the voters are willing. But as long as we are here we'll probably go right on fighting for all sorts of changes.

Milk Bootlegging Threat Possible In Proposed Bill

SALEM — The House Food and Dairy Committee wondered Tuesday what to do about the Agriculture Department's milk bill after being warned that it would encourage bootlegging of milk.

The warning was given by John Gale, Molalla grade A producer, who said some grade B producers would bootleg their milk without state inspection, rather than conform with the higher grade A standards as proposed in the bill. The bill would eliminate B and C grades.

The committee heard varying estimates of from $500 to $3,000 to what it would cost each of the 27 grade B producers in the state to convert to grade A standards.

O. K. Beals, state chief of foods and dairies, said his department is neutral on the subject. But he added that it's hard to enforce the standards for three different milk grades.

Support for the bill came from spokesmen for the Oregon Dairy men's Assn., Oregon Dairy Industries, and Northwest Retail Ice Cream Manufacturers Assn.

They warned that milk standards must be maintained to prevent epidemics. They pointed out that Portland, Salem, Eugene, Astoria, Klamath Falls and Medford already prohibit the sale of B and C grades.

Gale said that if the bill becomes law, "the Department of Agriculture would need $100,000 to enforce it. Some B producers will buy the extra equipment and comply, but some will go into bootlegging. There's no advantage in trying to crucify a small operator."

Under a bill, the B producers would have to have an extra room, because grade A milk requires that washing and bottling can't be done in the same room. Special bottling and capping machines also would be needed.

Trucks and vehicles moving into the area from outlying vicinities, however, bore greater traces of the white stuff.

Temperatures for the next five days will remain near normal, however, the weatherman said today, with early period temperatures hovering between 40 and 45, rising to 55 degrees later in the week. Lows will be marked at 30, 38, he said.

'Friendly Forces' Keep Possession Of Airplane Strip

TALKEETNA, Alaska — A mock battle for a temporary airstrip constructed of snow and brush as part of the army's giant cold-weather maneuver, "Operation Snowbird" ended Monday with "friendly forces" still in possession of the field.

"Aggressor forces" seeking to dislodge defenders of the small makeshift field near this small community 50 miles north of Anchorage were close to the defense perimeter when the phase ended. Actually there was no victory or vanquished because the "battle" in the snow-filled Susitna River Valley was a training exercise carried out in strict accordance with the Army's script.

Officials said, however, much information valuable to planning for actual combat operations in the numbing cold and snow had been gained.

More than 2,000 paratroopers of the 503rd Airborne Infantry Regiment from Camp Campbell, Ky., and hundreds of tons of supplies and equipment were parachuted to earth during the maneuver.

Monday engineers of the 503rd completed construction of the runway of the airfield entirely from snow and brush rolled flat and frozen hard.

The first plane to use the makeshift strip was a C47 transport. Exercise officials heaved a sigh of relief when the maneuver involving mass drops of paratroopers concluded without either serious casualties or fatalities.

It will be the committee's regular quarterly meeting, Hill said.

Government Asks Trial For IBC

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department moved at top speed today to bring the International Boxing Club to trial as a monopoly that violates the antitrust laws.

The trial will take place in New York City and a spokesman for the Justice Department's Antitrust Division there said it probably would be sometime before the end of the calendar year—July 1.

The Supreme Court yesterday refused to grant boxing exemption from antitrust laws as it did baseball.

Last year the 10 world championship fights in the United States were promoted either wholly by the IBC or by the IBC in partnership with promoters in other cities. The government contends that since 1949, only two of the 21 championship fights held in this country were promoted by groups other than the IBC.

A woman who lives between Glendale and Wolf Creek is recuperating at home today after a painful operation in which a car door handle had to be removed from her arm.

The jolt threw Mrs. Schoonover forward into the windshield and against the car door. As she bounced against the door, the door handle imbedded in her arm. She was rushed to Forest Glen Hospital in Canyonville where a long operation followed to remove the handle and repair the arm.

Contempt Charges Bring Fines, Prison Terms

PORTLAND — Three Portland men, convicted of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions at a House Un-American Activities Committee hearing last summer, Monday were fined $250 and sentenced to prison.

Federal Judge George Boldt of Tacoma sentenced Donald M. Wolam, a former dock worker to the maximum of a year in prison. John R. Macenzie, a former chain store manager, and Herbert Simpson, former clerk, were sentenced to 10 months.

The judge said he had decided not to impose the maximum fine of $1,000 because that might work a hardship on the men's families. All are married and have children. Attorneys for the three said they would appeal.

Roseburg has the standard four high school classes — freshman through senior. Dillard School District seniors 20 to school in Roseburg.

In an interview here today D. Russell Collins, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Collins Hair and Scalp Experts, Inc., said "There are as different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so-called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Collins firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offers a guarantee," Collins said. "Once a person avails themselves to the Collins treatment, his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee: If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress in the Very First 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Collins specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Collins firm can perform wonders. Everyone is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.
