

Singing Service Set For Glendale Baptist Church

By MRS. G. B. FOX
The Rev. Roy Bedwell of the Glendale Southern Baptist Church announced this week that special singing services are being held at the church every Monday and Thursday evening at 7:30. The services are for members of all churches, not members of the Baptist Church alone.

The Rev. Roy Bedwell further stated that plans are being made for a singing school at the Baptist Church at a later date if enough persons are interested. The church has contacted Clyde Burleson of Lenwood, Calif., concerning the possibility of such a school, and Burleson has agreed to come for a two week period at a fee which can be divided among participants in the school. Burleson is a former member of the Stamps Quartette, and has been with the Stamps company for some 25 years.

Persons interested in a singing school are asked to contact the Rev. Mr. Bedwell and other members of the church as soon as possible so that they will know plans.

The Rev. Lester P. Stone of Kennick, Wash., will be the evangelistic speaker at special revival services being planned by the Glendale Southern Baptist Church March 6 through March 20. The pastor, the Rev. Roy Bedwell stated that services each evening will begin at 7:30 p.m. and are open to the public. The revival is to be a soul campaign, rather than a membership drive.

Men of the Glendale Southern Baptist Church organized a Men's Brotherhood at the church last week. Officers were elected as follows: president, Robert Thomas; first vice president, Mac Napier; second vice president, Floyd Hatton; secretary-treasurer, R. A. Hays. The Rev. Floyd Yates of Medford brought the message. Sandwiches, coffee and cake were served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. E. B. Dollar of Glendale spent a few days in Tacoma and Portland recently, returning here Feb. 18.

Joe Smart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smart, was released from active service Feb. 24. He made a short visit with his family in Glendale after returning from Germany before his official release last week.

Fred and Palmer Stroud, both of Glendale, received word this week of the death of their mother. Both have gone East for the funeral.

WASHINGTON — President and Mrs. Eisenhower heard evangelist Billy Graham preach Sunday at the National Presbyterian Church, of which the Eisenhowers are members.

Graham's sermon—his last appearance before the leaves March 12 for a six-week crusade in Scotland—was on faith. He asked: "Can you, in the midst of the storms in your life, say like the Apostle Paul, 'I believe?'"

The service ended, Eisenhower and Graham walked together down the center aisle and out of the church ahead of the congregation. They were preceded by Mrs. Eisenhower and the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson, minister of the church.

Liner Leaves Strikers Stranded At N. Y. Dock
NEW YORK — The Queen of Bermuda was at sea Monday, steaming toward the island of Bermuda, and leaving 300 striking crewmen stranded in New York as alleged "deserters."

The 22,500-ton vessel sailed Sunday without passengers, and was manned by a skeleton crew of 120. The strikers, members of the British National Union of Seamen, had left the ship in protest against the firing of three crewmen who had sought a $30 monthly cost-of-living pay increase. The line claimed the discharged crewmen had become "agitators," threatened other members of the crew and wrote insulting notes to the ship's officers.

Mississippi Tries Out New Lethal Gas Chamber
PARCHMAN, Miss. — Mississippi's new lethal gas chamber claims its second victim Friday when Allen Donaldson, a Louisiana Negro, was executed for robbing a white woman.

Donaldson beat the woman and fled with her purse. It contained one nickel. He was convicted of armed robbery, punishable by death in Mississippi.

The woman recovered from the beating. Gerald Gallego, executed Thursday, was the chair's first victim. He was a constable who tried to arrest him and later a Jackson jailer who sought to prevent his escape from the Hinds County Jail.

Democrats Not United On $20 Tax Slash Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Holland (D-Fla.), says he will oppose the $20-a-person income tax cut passed by House Democrats.

"We Senate Democrats were not consulted on the $20 reduction by our colleagues in the House," he said in a statement, "nor have we held any party conference on it, so the matter is not a party issue."

But pointing up its political significance, a Democrat who asked not to be named said he has no doubt that a "campaign document" is being prepared as the minority report of six Democrats on the Senate Finance Committee who supported the tax cut. He said it will be used in the 1956 campaign. Senators Byrd (D-Va.) and George (D-Ga.) voted with seven Republicans on the committee to knock out the tax cut provision which the House had passed after a bitter partisan battle. Byrd said last week at least 10 Senate Democrats would support his stand on the Senate floor, but he declined to name them.

In addition to Holland, Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said during the weekend he would oppose the cut on the ground resulting inflation might "result in our people actually losing money in the long run."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said he thinks there is a "good chance" the House will back down if the Senate defeats the tax cut.

No date has yet been fixed for the start of Senate debate on the tax bill. It has been delayed, for one thing, to await filing of the Finance Committee's minority report.

Man Confesses Killing Woman

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. — Sheriff Murray Britton said Saturday a ranch hand walked into his office and told him he killed a waitress in a Bakersfield, Calif., tavern in 1952 by hitting her on the head with a whisky bottle in a fight.

The man said the man identified himself as Oscar Hood, 45, alias Oscar Binyon. He quoted Hood as saying the woman was Molly Ford, 35, and that he hid the body in a Bakersfield garbage dump.

The man said he finally became overcome with remorse and decided to surrender to authorities.

(At Bakersfield officers said the body of Mary Forbes, 48, alias found Dec. 21, 1952, in a clump of bushes northeast of the city. The coroner estimated she had been dead 15 days. Tracks indicated the body had been dragged to the bushes from a car.)

Britton said he contacted police at Bakersfield, who said they had been looking for Hood for questioning in the case. He held Hood pending their arrival to take him into custody.

Horse, Lariat Aid In Beach Rescue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A patrolman used a horse and lariat to save a boy from drowning off Ocean Beach Sunday after the boy had plunged to the aid of another distressed swimmer.

Carrying the rope, Patrolman Arthur Hagstrom, 28, swam out to Malone, nearly unconscious in the surf from fighting an ebb tide undertow.

Hagstrom pulled Malone, 39, Daly City accountant, to ward shore until he was nearly exhausted. Nick Papazian rode his horse out to Hagstrom, who looped the lariat to Papazian's saddle.

The horse then pulled Malone to shore with Hagstrom holding his head out of water. Hagstrom is a former lifeguard.

Bruce McFarland, 28, whose wave for help Malone had answered, came safely to shore by himself. The ebb current's pull stopped, explained McFarland, "or I wouldn't be here."

Mystery Bleeder Puzzles Doctors

CHICAGO (AP)—The top men of several medical skills have joined in the hope of finding a cure for Peggy Lee Davis, pretty, 15-month-old mystery "bleeder."

The blue-eyed, Auburn-haired girl is suffering from a baffling blood malady that has killed her sister and afflicts her brother and mother.

Doctors at Presbyterian Hospital have ruled out homophilia. But they can find no record in medical history of a similar case. After 12 days of tests, they say only they have found several leads which could turn out to be promising.

Deceptively, Peggy is the picture of health and happiness in her padded crib. The crib is padded to protect her from cuts or scratches which could start the dread bleeding.

But the bleeding also can start from no apparent cause. A nose bleed of one day duration has drained off as much as one-third of the 25-pound girl's total body blood capacity.

Peggy showed no signs of the malady until she was 7 months old. However, a year and a half ago Peggy's sister died of a massive bowel hemorrhage at the age of 17 months. And Peggy's 6-year-old brother has had 33 transfusions to replace blood that seeped into his bowels, joints and muscles.

Doctors said Peggy's 26-year-old mother, Mrs. Joan Davis of Lisca, Neb., and Mrs. Davis' two sisters suffer in lesser degree from the same blood condition.

Italy Debate Ends In Near Fight

ROME (AP)—Senate debate on the Paris accords for German rearmament broke up Saturday in a wild uproar. It stopped just short of a free-for-all fight.

Left and center senators hurled threats and waved fists at each other, but the Senate president closed the session before any fists actually landed.

The pandemonium ended the second week of debate on Western European Union in the Senate. It will resume Monday and probably continue most of the week before a vote is reached.

Saturday's trouble, the first since debate began, erupted when Communist Sen. Emilio Sereni started to heckle Christian Democrat Sen. Giovanni Messe, a World War II marshal who fought on the Russian front.

Messe retorted and Communists and fellow Socialists charged into the well of the hall, shouting threats and waving fists. Christian Democrats and other center senators began to move too and the president ended the session.

County Barracks Of World War I Vets Local Plan

Organization of a Douglas County Barracks of the Veterans of World War I is the aim of Ralph J. (Red) Baldwin, adjutant and organizer, who is spending a few days in Roseburg while forming a temporary command.

Veterans of World War I started about three years ago in Florida and is growing very rapidly. Baldwin reports, National membership now is in excess of 50,000. Oregon leads the nation in percentage enrollment with more than 2,500 affiliated veterans. Membership is limited to those who served in the first World War.

Purpose of the organization, Baldwin explains, is to "obtain consideration for the forgotten veteran."

Congress is being asked by the organization to liberalize compensation, pensions and hospitalization for World War I veterans, whose numbers have been reduced to about three million and who are dying at the rate of 8,000 per month. All veterans of that war, Baldwin points out, have reached an age where increased benefits are essential.

A former resident of Roseburg and Sutherlin, Baldwin now lives in Salem. During 1948 and 1949 he was general chairman of Sutherlin's Timber Days celebration. He now is devoting full time to the recruitment of veterans for the new organization, which has 23 barracks already established in the state, with 12 more in process of formation.

He is stopping at the Grand Hotel in Roseburg, where he will be available for interviews with interested veterans through Wednesday morning.
