The Glendale Business and Professional Women's Club met at the home of Mrs. Ida Edson in Glendale Thursday evening.

Questions discussed included the need for another full-time policeman, increase in salary of certain city officials because of increased duties and the probability that it will be possible to begin work on the new city sewer system within the coming year.

Members brought up the question of a bank in Glendale, and Proffitt replied that the situation at present looks favorable.

Plans were made for members of the BPW to meet at the City Hall Tuesday evening to work on mending city library books which have been moved from the library to the basement while the city hall is being redecorated.
