Hutchins Renews Plan For Check On Newspapers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert M. Hutchins Thursday revived the once-controversial proposal to create a non-profit, non-government agency to check on the performance by newspapers of their public responsibilities.

Hutchins, chairman of the Fund for the Republic, Inc., did so in an address prepared for the opening session of the three-day annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

The editors six years ago rejected the proposal made originally in 1949 by the Commission on Freedom of the Press headed by Hutchins. The Society said ASNE "is itself, and must be, a continuing committee of the whole on self-examination and self-government."

Hutchins renewed the suggestion Thursday with criticisms only slightly less barbed than those of the commission he headed in 1949. He told the approximately 400 editors that "most of you have watched the erosion of freedom without a twinge," and accepted incidents in connection with it "as a matter of routine."

With "monopoly newspapers" holding the field in 94 per cent of the cities, he said, the press has a greater duty than ever before to abandon the "entertainment" of readers and devote itself to what he called its purpose—"the enlightenment of the people about their current affairs."

He conceded that "the best American newspapers are as good as any in the world and that the average is high," but he added: "You are educators, whether you like it or not. You make the views that people have of public affairs. No competition can shake you from that position."

"You will lose it only if you neglect or abandon it."

Visit Here—Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Marsh and family were the latter's brother-in-law and sister, the Rev. and Mrs. Forrest Hill, of Albany, who formerly resided here, where the Rev. Mr. Hill was pastor of the Roseburg Nazarene Church for nine years. They were here to attend the district meeting of the Nazarene Church.

Pan American Will Use Suggestions For Safety

SEATTLE (AP)—Pan American World Airways will use safety suggestions made by witnesses at a hearing here into the ditching of a Stratocruiser off the Oregon coast March 26 which cost four lives, an official testified Thursday.

George Anberbauer, San Francisco, emergency equipment training assistant, appeared before the four-man Civil Aeronautics Board hearing panel.

He said the air line's engineers already have designed an installed webbing to hold life rafts more securely in place and that other suggestions will be incorporated into the training program for crew members.

Several witnesses have testified that the force of the "ditching" released the life rafts from their storage area.

Capt. Sam Peters, chief pilot of the Pacific-Alaska Division, said wreckage washed up on coastal beaches has failed to reveal any evidence why the No. 3 engine fell off the plane, causing the crash. Nineteen persons were rescued from life rafts.

QUEEN HAS BIRTHDAY

WINDSOR, England (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II celebrated her 29th birthday Thursday with a brisk canter in Windsor great park. To take the ride in the park near Windsor Castle where she is staying with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and their two children, the Queen had to tear herself away from a big stack of greetings, letters and telegrams from many nations.

Peters also said there was an "indication of some damage to the tail of the plane and it seems doubtful whether Capt. Herman Joslyn, the pilot, could have flown the plane to an airport even if full power had been available."

Mark Smaby, Boeing Airplane Co. engineer, testified Wednesday that apparently some part or object may have become imbedded in the elevator-control surfaces or in the fuselage-control wires of the aircraft.
