CAROL LANE, shown above, America's first lady of touring, will speak on "Vagabondage, U.S.A." when she talks before the Roseburg Lions Auxiliary at Carl's Haven Monday, May 9, announced Mrs. C. A. Thomas, club president, today. Miss Lane is women's travel director for the Shell Oil Company and she contends that many motorists overload their cars with unessentials. In her travels about the country every year she has learned to pack lightly and stow her gear systematically in the trunk of her car. (Picture by Romaine).

Highlighting her talk will be demonstrations and discussion of such practical travel hints as how to budget for a trip, how to read a road map more advantageously and how to keep children entertained while traveling.

Miss Lane, who is women's travel director for the Shell Oil Company, in traveling more than 60,000 miles annually, has discovered a new way to escape the bondage of daily cares. She calls her elixir "Vagabondage, U.S.A." — the preventative planned to eliminate monotony in touring. Her formula shows how a family can plan its travel time to allow for the greatest enjoyment and satisfaction on their highway holidays.

In one part of her demonstration she accomplishes what the male traveler has heretofore thought impossible; she packs — by systematic filling — a complete female vacation wardrobe into a 26-inch suitcase. There are also suggestions for compact and practical care of the children's many necessities.

Shell's travel director will also illustrate how to take a Tourette. "A Tourette," she explains, "is a week-end trip taken within a 200 mile radius of your hometown." Miss Lane advocates such jaunts not only as an increased opportunity for travel adventure, but as a welcome mid-year vacation experience and an opportunity for "dress rehearsal experimentation" in preparation for longer trips.

BENSON PTA HAS INTERESTING MEETING AT SCHOOL MONDAY

Benson School PTA met Monday night in the school gym for the last session of this year. Recently installed officers conducted the business session and presented an interesting and varied program. Cub Scouts from Den No. 3 presented the colors and led in the salute to the flag and the Rev. Vernon Klein gave the invocation. Glen Buehning presented the Benson School band in a short concert. Several sixth grade band members played instrumental solos. The goal through the year is for sixth graders to learn to play a solo number before an audience, giving each of them a personal accomplishment beyond being only a part of the large band group.

Linda Ellison and Betty Fee, cornets, Bruce Oliver, drummer, and Gary Meyer, trombone, all displayed fine skill and poise as they presented their solo numbers. Penelope Ostrander and Mrs. Ken Ellison accompanied them.

Marvin Smith, assistant superintendent of School District No. 4, discussed the proposed school budget. He answered questions regarding some of the detailed items contained in the budget and urged parents who "believe in our schools" to continue to support them.

Mrs. Warren Robinson, president, announced that the annual Visitation Day for new first-graders and their mothers will be held at the school May 10, beginning at 1:30 p.m. This is an opportunity for parents and children to begin their acquaintance with Benson School and its teachers, leaders and curriculum. The PTA asked Mrs. Warren Robinson to represent them at the Douglas County session of the White House conference on Education, which was held Friday evening at Fullerton School.

The Executive Board made several suggestions concerning a project for next year, both as to how money should be raised and for what purpose it should be spent. The board asked parents to seriously consider these suggestions and to fill out a questionnaire in reply to their recommendations.

Prior to the business meeting, open house was held in each of the classrooms. This has been an outstanding feature of this year's PTA program, wherein teachers are present in their rooms to meet and visit with parents. They may discuss each child's progress and see some of the work being done by them. Both parents and teachers feel that this program has resulted in a better understanding between teachers, parents, and children.

Sixth grade mothers were hostesses for the social hour following the meeting.
