ENJOYING THE CAPTAIN'S dinner while on a Caribbean cruise recently was Mrs. Orville (Marian) Wood, former Roseburg resident and now living at Myrtle Creek. Mrs. Wood's two companions are from the left, Mrs. W. A. McKevitt of Newport and Mrs. Nellie Cooper of Portland.

Mrs. Marian W. Wood of Myrtle Creek recently returned home after an exciting month's tour of the south and a Caribbean cruise on the Alcoa Cavalier Steamship. Mrs. Wood is well known by Roseburg residents. She and her late husband, Orville, owned and operated the Rose Theater for a number of years. At present she is helping out at the Rio Theatre in Myrtle Creek, which is owned by her son. In spite of the glamorous places that she visited while on the cruise, Mrs. Wood said, that she found New Orleans, La., the most colorful and interesting. She said that the members of the cruise dined at the famous Glenwood Plantation near the quiet little town of Napoleonville on the Bayou Lafourche. It is a coincidence that the place recently has been written about in the current May issue of the Reader's Digest. Mrs. Wood said that the article is written by Ruth Alexander and is titled "Most Unforgettable Character I've Met."

The fifty-six passengers of the tour arranged by the Churchill Tour Co. of Portland left New Orleans April 16 and arrived in Mobile, Ala., May 2. Their ship stopped at many ports of interest and provided conducted tours of Curacao; La Guaira, Venezuela; Puerto Cabello, Ven.; Guanta, Ven.; Port of Spain, Trinidad. She visited the American Embassy at Caracas, Venezuela. She collected many souvenirs of her trip. Some of her outstanding pieces of jewelry were purchased right at the silver mines near Trinidad.

Mrs. Wood said that the trip was very smooth and the weather was beautiful. The only thing that marred the otherwise perfect picture was the fact that she picked up a flu bug while in the states and was unable to enjoy the wonderful selection of tropical fruits and vegetables.
