Portland Weather Office Moved To Airport Station

PORTLAND (AP) — The Portland Weather Bureau moved away from its downtown office Wednesday, and combined operations at its airport station here.

Col. Eckley S. Ellison, chief meteorologist, said the consolidation should result in increased services for the public.

The consolidation resulted in elimination of one job, that of a facsimile and teletype operator, Mrs. Mary Bates, who was transferred to the Salem Weather Bureau office.

One of the new services, Ellison said, will be a daily forecast of the pattern of radioactive fallout that would result if an enemy atomic bomb were dropped on Portland. The same service is being performed at 15 other cities in the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Woodruff, Nelda Norris and Ray Deadman traveled to Klamath Falls Sunday to make room reservations for the State Grange meeting to be held there in June. They reported that the drive up over the Crater Lake highway was beautiful with the dogwood blooming in profusion. They returned by the Green Mountain way.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fortine and Mr. and Mrs. John Wassen of Grangeville, Idaho, were in the valley calling on friends, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Woodruff and Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Michel.

Mrs. Minnie Williams of Compton, Calif., has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Zora guthrie. Mrs. Gutherie will move to Eugene later this summer.

Another in the increasing flow of visitors to the community were Mr. and Mrs. Alex G. Walter of Forest Grove. They are the parents of Mrs. Melvin Curtiss. Walter is with the State Forestry in the Tillamook burn area and is on vacation before the fire season begins.

Mrs. Anderson, who with her family recently purchased the Gutherie Iris Gardens, says she wishes everyone could see the beautiful Holy Land Iris now in bloom. It blooms just before the Beared Iris. The garden is outstanding in color this year and is open for all to enjoy. Something new has been added to the farm. The Andersons also raise Shetland ponies.

Camp Easter Seal Will Open On July 6 At North Lake

OREGON'S FIRST and only summer camp exclusively designed, and operated for crippled children is Camp Easter Seal. The camp, opened last summer, is financed through the sale of Easter Seals by the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Camp Easter Seal, Oregon's only summer camp exclusively for physically handicapped youngsters, will open July 6 and continue in operation through Aug. 18, James M. Torson, executive director of the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the Easter Seal agency, has announced.

The camp, located on North Lake of Ten Mile Lake near Reedsport, will accommodate boys and girls from 6 to 18 years of age. Sessions will be for 10-day periods as follows:

July 6 to 16, six to nine years, July 18 to 27, eight to 11 years; July 29 to Aug. 7, 12 to 17 years, and Aug. 9 to 18, 18 years and older.

Torson said the camp is open to all children, regardless of their handicap. Attendants can be provided for those whose handicap is so severe that they need assistance at all times. Fee for the 10-day session is $25 and an additional $20 for an attendant, if needed.

Torson said there are some campships available through service and fraternal organizations for needy youngsters.

Applications should be sent to Torson at the Portland headquarters of the Easter Seal agency, 1135 S. W. Yamhill Street, Portland. The camp can be reached by bus.

The sessions will include fishing, craft work, hiking, camp fires and other group activities, Torson reported. An occupational therapist will be included on the camp staff, along with other trained personnel.

Breakdown Given On Rotary Club's Safety Car Check

A breakdown of figures tabulated in last week's vehicle safety check, conducted here by Rotary Club and the Roseburg Police Dept., shows that nearly 25 per cent of 3,088 vehicles checked had faulty equipment.

Of the number, according to Dep. Police Chief Vernon M. Murdock Jr., 759 car and truck owners were told of unsafe items on their vehicles. It amounted to 24.6 per cent of the total.

The inspections were taken to heart by 103 owners, who returned later to have their cars rechecked and passed.

About 30 per cent of all owners in the Roseburg area took advantage of the free and voluntary inspections. Police Chief Stan Olson estimates there are about 10,000 registered vehicles in the Roseburg area, with about 6,000 registered inside the city.

Inspections were made on exactly 2,800 automobiles and 288 trucks during the five days that three check lanes were open in the city.

Of the 2,800 cars, faults were found on 663, with 84 returned to be passed. Unsafe conditions were found on 23.4 per cent of the cars. Bad equipment was found on 96, or 333 per cent of the trucks, and 19 were returned for approval.

More than one defect was found in many instances. On the 759 vehicles which failed to pass the first time, 1,027 faulty items were found—880 on the 663 cars and 147 on the 96 trucks.

Following is a breakdown of faults which inspectors found:

Item	Cars	Trucks
Brakes	146	20
Headlights	90	18
Taillights	381	75
Steering	20	2
Tires	102	5
Exhaust	38	8
Glass	43	10
Wipers	26	3
Rear mirror	4	0
Horn	30	6

Chief Olson noted that of 59,839 traffic accidents which were recorded in Oregon during 1954, about 3,000 could be traced to mechanical defects on vehicles.

KIDS PAY TRIBUTE — This bronze statue of Pinocchio, loveable wooden character from Carlo Collodi's famous children's tale, was recently dedicated in a schoolyard in the author's home town, Ancona, Italy. It was paid for by Ancona's schoolchildren. Inscribed on the statue's base, which represents a book, are the words: "To Pinocchio . . . The Children of Ancona."
