Doctor's Judgment Good, Judge Rules In Court, Wed., June 22, 1955—The News-Review, Roseburg, Ore. 3

PORTLAND (AP) — U. S. Judge Chase Clark, in a ruling Monday, said that a malpractice charge against a doctor proved only that he was "an able and skilled physician and surgeon."

The defendant was Dr. Peter S. Ford who now is stationed with the Air Force in Portland but last year was in practice at Burns. While there, a needle broke in the course of closing an incision. He located it with X-ray and removed it two days later.

Suit for $50,000 was brought by Mrs. Frank Garber of Sacramento, the patient, charging negligence.

Judge Clark said the breaking of a needle was not evidence of negligence, while finding the fragment disclosed "unusually good judgment and ability" on the doctor's part.
