

Chamber Board Plans Convention Invitations Here

Roseburg Chamber of Commerce directors, fired by the success of recent conventions here, are making plans which may attract more statewide gatherings to the city.

High on the list is publication of a brochure to be presented with invitations to various state organizations to convene here, according to Harold Hickerson, secretary-manager.

The brochure is to contain a roster of lodging facilities, catering services and meeting places.

A convention committee, headed by Emil Ramberg, was appointed by President Leroy Hiatt. It will compile a list of all trade and business associations with a statewide membership to be added to the present list of fraternal, service, labor and other types of organizations now on file.

Members of local organizations then will be asked to invite their statewide organizations to the city. Directors also considered a plan to place end cuts of a large Douglas fir log at each highway entrance to the city to draw attention to the city's role in the logging and lumbering industry.

For the remainder of the summer, the board of directors will meet at luncheon on the third Mondays of the month for the second regular business session of each month.

Bruised Body Of Girl Found On Chicago Walk

CHICAGO — The bruised body of an 8-year-old girl who had been missing since Monday was found Thursday on the sidewalk under a viaduct on the South Side.

The girl was identified as Mary Manzo, who had been missing since her mother, Mrs. Lucy Manzo, 28, sent her to a drug store with 25 cents to buy a baby bottle nipple.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron said this "is definitely a sex case." He declared the injuries showed the girl had been tortured.

Mary's shoes, socks and underwear were missing. Her dress was rumpled.

Oil Painting Brings International Attention To Douglas County

An oil painting of the California Oregon Power Co.'s Slide Creek Power House on the North Umpqua River has brought international attention to that area of Douglas County.

The painting by Paul Rabut shows the power house in early spring, surrounded by towering Douglas firs and backgrounded with snow drifts. It appeared as the January illustration on the 1933 General Electric calendar.

The original was chosen for the New York Art Directors Show in New York City and then reproduced in the directors' 32nd annual publication of advertising and editorial art.

Later it was selected as a representation of art in industry and was exhibited for a year in European art centers.

It has been presented to the power company by General Electric. In making the presentation in Maryland recently, GE regional Vice President C. C. Walker said his firm had received many letters from persons who had viewed the picture, asking its locale.

"Apparently they had the idea of spending their vacations in this beautiful area," Walker commented, "so we hope the painting has brought fame and some additional vacation business to your communities."

VA Manager Denies Charges Made By VFW

Washington, D.C. It is also inspected by the Civil Service office from Seattle.

Wadsworth also pointed out that the service organizations have made many inspections of the hospital and "no discrepancies were found."

In fact, Dennis Sullivan, national field service representative of the American Legion inspected the hospital and was pleased, he told Wadsworth. In fact, said Church, the "hospital has been commended by these very organizations since Dr. Wadsworth assumed leadership."

(Wadsworth took over administration of the office Aug. 30, 1933)

As an example of the effectiveness of Wadsworth's administration, Church said is the new $150,000 physical medical rehabilitation building which will be dedicated next month. It is the first permanent type building construction since 1925.

Turning to the dietetics department, Dr. Wadsworth pointed out that eight people in the department were recently retired because of physical disabilities. As a result, he said, the department had to be reorganized. It was reorganized under dietitian Mrs. Marie Bolduc, who came here highly recommended from the San Francisco regional office, and has a national reputation in dietetics. Church said, Church continued that after the reorganization, an "improved service has resulted at actually lower cost."

The Roseburg hospital has about 350 full-time employees and has been recently authorized more personnel, Church said. It handles about 625 patients. The hospital has a full staff of physicians and psychiatrists for the first time in years, Wadsworth said.

Wadsworth also said the state VFW service officer had even made an inspection tour recently and had found nothing amiss. At that time, the officer did raise a question about the grade of meat served to patients. From correspondence received from him since that time, Church said, the VFW service officer was satisfied.

The question of quality of meat was due to a recent change in procurement of meat. Pre-cut meat is now purchased instead of whole carcass meat.

House Committee Votes For $1 Minimum Wage

WASHINGTON — The House Labor Committee Thursday voted 21-9 to boost the federal minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 an hour next March 1.

The committee defeated by a 15-15 tie vote a Republican proposal to put the minimum wage levels at 90 cents, the figure requested by President Eisenhower.

The President only Wednesday placed minimum wage legislation near the top of his list of things he would like Congress to complete before adjournment planned now for July 30, and reiterated his support for the 90 cent figure.

Small Boy Killed When Tornado Hits Twin Cities

MINNEAPOLIS — A tornado which cut a five-mile swath through a section of Western Minnesota late Thursday killed a 2-year-old boy, injured at least 13 others and started a path of destruction which spread as far east as the Twin Cities.

Hardest hit was a 30-mile stretch west of Marshall, Minn., where the twister wiped out farm buildings, flattened crops and ripped power and telephone lines.

Little Ronnie Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlow Larson, was flung 300 feet and killed.

Sutherland Serial Election Slated; MC Cancels Vote

Sutherland residents Monday will vote on a serial levy to raise $30,000 a year over the next five years for school construction in the school district.

At Myrtle Creek, however, election on two bond issues — for $35,000 and $40,000 — originally scheduled for Monday has been cancelled, according to the Myrtle Creek Mail.

The Sutherland levy, which would add about 6 mills to the property tax burden, is being asked by the school board and a school planning group.

It has been estimated there that growth of the district will be such that 10 additional classrooms will be needed in the district in the next five years. It's planned now, conditional to the approval of the levy, to start a four-classroom addition to West School next summer.

Later, it's anticipated, four more elementary rooms would be built in the district and some improvements made to the junior high school. Each of the elementary units would cost about $40,000, it's estimated.

The Myrtle Creek election was called off because of an error in publication of a legal notice, the Mail said. It was reorganized under the school board Wednesday night. The board will meet again Monday for further consideration of the issues.

The $35,000 issue would be for construction of an industrial arts building and other improvements at the high school, while the $40,000 issue would provide building of a multipurpose room at Tri-City School.

Former Rose Festival Queen Now Miss Portland

PORTLAND — Jan Markstaller, 18, who just last month finished a year's reign as the Portland Rose Festival queen, Thursday became Miss Portland.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce reported that its selection committee was told last Friday by the Seaside Chamber of Commerce that Portland lacked an entrant for the Miss Oregon contest.

It quickly picked Miss Markstaller, who represented the city at celebrations in Alaska and elsewhere in publicizing the Rose Festival. She attended Oregon State College last year.

The Seaside pageant will be July 15-16.

Winston Officials Studying Return To Water District

Winston city council and planning commission members met in special session this week to mull the problem of providing residents with an adequate water supply.

The city's rejoining with the Winston-Dillard Water District seemed the only adequate solution to the group, according to City Recorder Ray Harrison.

Harrison said the council would take further action on the matter when they meet again July 21 in the city's offices. The city automatically left the district when it was incorporated, Harrison added.

In order to rejoin the district it would be necessary for Winston residents to vote approval, as well as persons residing in the district.

The city recorder pointed out that in order to get sewers in the city an adequate and definite supply of water was necessary. The city budget now contains a sewer sinking fund of about $9,000, he said.

Council members want to know how Winstonites feel about the proposed consolidation, he continued, and they hope a good show of residents will attend the coming council meeting. Mayor Frank True presided over the Wednesday evening meeting.

Roseburg, Phone Officials To Meet

A meeting between officials of the City of Roseburg and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has been set tentatively next week in Portland to negotiate a new franchise for the telephone company in the city.

The old franchise terminated this past spring, and the city and company have been working on a gentlemen's agreement under terms of the old franchise.

The city is seeking an approximate 3 per cent annual payment, based on gross receipts of the company's local service. The company, in turn, is trying to extend most terms of the old franchise, which included annual payment to the city of 2 per cent of its gross local receipts.

City Manager George Farrell said the meeting tentatively is arranged either for Wednesday or Friday of next week.

24-Hour Sailing Record Smashed In Pacific Rink

LOS ANGELES — A 24-hour sailing record that had stood for 29 years was smashed Thursday as the schooner Ramona logged 393 miles in the transpacific yacht race from Los Angeles to Honolulu.

The 109-foot vessel, owned by William Pomeroy of San Francisco, shattered the record set in 1926 by the late Don Lee's 130-foot steel schooner, Invader — 288 miles.

The Ramona has taken over the lead in the race and the flagship Morning Star, which set the pace for the first two days, has been shunted back to third as the Constellation moved up to challenge the Ramona.

Winds of 20 and 30 miles prevailed Thursday and the weather was warm and sunny. A message from John Griffith's Los Angeles Mattai said she had been passed by the catamaran Waikiki Surf during 20 knots.
