

TIME OUT FOR WATERMELLON, above, shows Mrs. Carter cutting a melon for her five favorite men: her husband and their four sons: John, Loren, Galen and Steve. The attractive kitchen has large picture windows at each end. All of the electrical appliances are in brown and built in shining counters carrying out smoke-color and pink in a modern design. The dining area and family room with a large fireplace may be entered from either end of the kitchen.

THE BRUCE CARTER HOME, above, which was recently completed, is shown from the side of the residence overlooking a large lawn and the South Umpqua River. Windows on this side of the home show the living room, family room, kitchen, long hallway and master bedroom.

AN ENORMOUS TREE, with built-in platform, and long branches making perfect swings, is enjoyed by the four Carter boys. At the base of the tree, the boys have pitched a tent for out-door living. On the ladder is Steve; on upper left limb are Loren and Galen, and John is shown on the platform.

Society

LOTUS KNIGHT PORTER

SATURDAY, JULY 16, 1955

—The News-Review, Roseburg, Ore. 5

MR. AND MRS. BRUCE CARTER and their four sons, Loren, 10; Galen, 12; John, 8; and Steve, 3, are pictured below in a family portrait. Their beautiful new, modern-style three-wing home has been built on six acres on the South Umpqua River in Riversdale. Hand-hewn beams were used in the ceilings and native woods predominate. Interesting color-notes are used in the four bedrooms and two bathrooms. Large picture windows are used in all of the rooms, to allow the family to enjoy the many beautiful views, including woods, mountains and the river. Mr. Carter is a business associate of Carter Tire Company. Grandmothers of the Carter children are Mrs. W. H. Carter and Mrs. Hedwig Watzig, both of Roseburg.

All Pictures On This Page
By "Chris" Of
Fredrickson's Photo Lab

EVER TRY WALKING a really narrow fence—well, it will be easier in another year thinks Steve, who sits down after a couple of tries. John, Loren and Galen kept their balance in fine shape for the photographer to get the above pose.

