Perle Mesta Has Close Call When Mob Sacks Hotel

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of anti-Communist students sacked Saigon's No. 1 hotel today but Mrs. Perle Mesta out-talked them when they took axes to her door.

The students were demonstrating against the Indian-Polish-Canadian armistice commission. As some of the rioters started breaking into her second-floor, air-conditioned suite in the Hotel Majestic the former U.S. minister to Luxembourg threw open the door and shouted:

"No! We are your friends: We are Americans!"

One of the student leaders who understood English formed a cordon in front of Mrs. Mesta's apartment and kept back the mob, which laid waste to the five-story, government-owned building.

With Mrs. Mesta at the time were her two American secretaries, an unidentified American woman visitor and the latter's baby.

They were trapped in the suite for an hour and a half while the student cordon outside beat back several groups trying to break into the room. Finally Frank Malloy, first secretary of the U.S. Embassy, and an embassy Marine guard rescued them unhurt.

Taking as many of Mrs. Mesta's 17 pieces of luggage as they could carry, the group picked their way down the hotel's litter-strewn stairs to the street, where thousands of demonstrators were shouting and hurling stones.

As Mrs. Mesta stepped into an embassy sedan flying the U.S. flag, police fired shots into the air and exploded tear gas bombs.

"To the floor! To the floor!" the chauffeur shouted.

Mrs. Mesta and her party flattened as the car sped through the crowd and down Saigon's main street to the embassy. There she took a short breather to recover from the excitement, then was taken to the Saigon airport. She took a plane for Singapore, continuing the world tour during which she had stopped here for two days.

The rioting followed what had been scheduled as a peaceful demonstration by 30,000 students, refugees and government workers in front of the City Hall to denounce the armistice commission, the Geneva armistice signed a year ago and Communism.

Supporters of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem in recent weeks have been accusing the commission's Indian and Polish members of favoring the Communist government of North Viet Nam.

In The Day's News

Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission made a fascinatingly interesting little talk yesterday in Schenectady, New York on the future of atomic power. It is fascinating because in it he said:

"There is hope for the day when the atom will serve ONLY AS THE SERVANT OF MAN AND NEVER AGAIN AS his destroyer."

He spoke at a ceremony at which a trifling amount of power generated by the working model of an atomic engine for the atomic submarine Sea Wolf was channeled into a public utility system at Schenectady, where the Sea Wolf's engine was built.

The event is significant because it was the first atomic power ever sold for commercial use. The sale, of course, was a mere token.

Is his hope (that the time will come when the atom will serve SOLELY as the servant of man) a vain one?

Not necessarily. Let's go back to poison gas. In destructive capability, it is only

Indictment Hits CIO Auto Union

Federal Law Violated, Says Jury At Detroit

General Fund Allegedly Used To Finance 1954 Political Campaign

DETROIT (AP) — A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted the CIO United Auto Workers Union on charges of violation of the federal corrupt practices act in politics.

The grand jury accused the million-and-a-half member union of using general union funds to finance political activities in the 1954 congressional campaign.

This was the campaign in which Patrick V. McNamara, Democrat supported by the UAW and other labor groups, defeated the then Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican.

A weekly union-sponsored radio program was involved in a grand jury investigation of charges brought by the Michigan State Republican Central Committee.

John Feikens, committee chairman, filed the charges with the Justice Department last March.

The grand jury's indictment named only the union itself. None of its officers, who include CIO President Walter Reuther, were named. Reuther is also president of the UAW-CIO.

Organized labor took a large role in the 1954 campaign. The UAW and other labor groups were among the strongest supporters of McNamara in opposition to the incumbent Ferguson.

The grand jury inquired into the financing of the UAW's weekly sponsored program "Meet the UAW - CIO," over WJBK-TV, Detroit station, Guy Nunn of the un-

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wedding bells for the merger of the AFL and CIO bonded on a discordant note Wednesday with word that the CIO will insist on a new name for the merged labor federation.

The AFL has been hoping to retain "American Federation of Labor" as the title. This is the name the senior labor union organization has used since well before the turn of the century.

The younger CIO, it was learned, has taken the definite position that it will fill the whole merger idea unless the AFL agrees to a fresh name for the new federation.

This became known as AFL and CIO leaders prepared for a closed dinner meeting Wednesday night to iron out remaining merger problems.

Virtually all arrangements for the merger of the 10-million-member AFL and the 5-million-member Congress of Industrial Organizations have been completed, except to name the proposed new group. The actual consideration is supposed to be sealed at a series of conventions in New York City next December.

'Doped, Drunken, Divorced'

Baptist Woman Leader Warns Of Dangers From Types Of Vicious Parents

LONDON (AP) — A leading American woman Baptist warned Wednesday of the dangers of "3-D parents" — doped, drunken and divorced.

Mrs. Blanche Moore Hodge, Portland, Ore., president of the American Council of Baptist Women, told delegates to the Baptist World Alliance Jubilee Congress there is no substitute for God and love in bringing up a family.

She told a story of a little child in the ward of a big American hospital who had failed to respond to all treatment.

"Then one of the great doctors of the world came into the ward and paused by the crib.

"Then he wrote instructions on a chart — 'This baby to be loved every two hours.' In the rush hospital routine this little mite who was not doing too well was picked up, fondled and loved until he could feel within his being the feeling of being wanted."

Mrs. Hodge, a small figure in a blue dress, leaned over the platform and flung her arms as she said: "Brethren, in a few weeks that baby was doing well."

She said that in New York's Bellevue Hospital there is a new

Timber Problem Of Windigo Pass Up For Solution

A hearing this week in Washington, D.C., before Chief Forest Officer Richard E. McAdams of the U.S. Forest Service concerns a request by the L & H Lumber Co., Sutherlin, that white fir and mountain hemlock in Windigo Pass some 100 miles east of Roseburg, be offered for sale.

The company's original request to Regional Forester J. Herbert Stone, Portland, was denied earlier this year. Stone, Tuesday, said principal reason for the denial was lack of time to examine the pros and cons of the proposed sale and to see how it would affect surrounding communities.

Following Stone's rejection, the company carried its appeal to McAdams.

The timber in Windigo Pass is near the point where Deschutes, Douglas and Lane counties meet. It has never been included in the Forest Service's count of salable timber. Sid Leiken, owner of the L & H Lumber Co., pointed out Tuesday.

In all, some three billion board feet of timber in the three counties would be involved eventually, according to Umpqua National Forest Supervisor Vondis Miller. He said recently that "years ago, when allowable cut of Umpqua Forest was computed, the timber was considered unmerchantable."

Even now, he continued, it's value hinges on cheap transportation. A main line railroad is running only a few miles from Crescent Lake where the company proposed to place the mill.

Much friction arose following the request. Communities in central Oregon — Bend, Redmond, Sisters, etc., felt another sawmill would be detrimental to their economies, according to Stone. He said Tuesday that "right now the saw capacity of mills in the Deschutes Circle area is in excess of the allowable sustained yield cut of public and private lands."

Present at the Washington hearing and representing men interested in the requested sale is W. O. (Bun) Kelsay, Roseburg.

Drew Youths Rewarded For Fire Suppression

The Keep Oregon Green Assn. has mailed "service-under-fire" awards to two Drew youngsters responsible for suppressing two fires in the woods.

They are Geraldine L. Wilson and Ivan Ray Wilson, according to Hildard M. Lillgren, district ranger at Tillamook.

The two aided in putting out a fire early this spring, then on July 7 found and extinguished another fire in an abandoned automobile body, apparently started from a cutting torch.

Blows Struck During House Group Hearing

Fists Fly In Wrangle Over Bill Denying Aid To Segregated Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fists flew in a name-calling session of the House Education Committee Wednesday at which members debated, 17-10, a move to deny federal school funds to states and local districts practicing racial segregation.

Members, who declined to be quoted by name, said tempers already made edgy by the segregation wrangle exploded in fist-fights between Rep. Powell, Negro pastor of New York City, and Rep. Bailey (D-WVa).

According to accounts of the closed-door session, corroborated by several committee sources, Bailey charged Powell with seeking to destroy federal school aid legislation by insisting on an anti-segregation amendment.

In the ensuing exchange, the word "lie" was passed and Bailey leaped up and swung on Powell.

Informants said Bailey landed one or more blows on Powell before other committee members separated them.

Accounts by committee witnesses said chairs were overturned and Powell was partially knocked off balance before Rep. Kelley (D-Pa) and Rep. Perkins (D-Ky) seized Bailey, and Chairman Barden (D-NC) and Rep. Landrum (D-Ga) got to Powell.

Barden gavelled the session to eventual order with admonition to members to keep their "passions" in check.

Bailey denied the incident. "It never happened," he told newsmen.

Powell's comment was: "Cleve Bailey and I smoke cigars together and are old friends. We always will be."

After the uproar, the committee defeated the anti-segregation amendment.

Sutherland Lists Events For Annual Timber Days

Two big events to add color to Douglas County Timber Days August 12-14 in Sutherland have been announced.

They are log rolling (men and women) and ax throwing contests, according to Chairman Harry Sprague. Excavation on a special log pond started Tuesday.

Sprague said it would be dug by employees of the Ed Funderburk Construction Co., which is donating the time and equipment.

The Timber Days committee hopes to have a pond 30 by 40 feet and "not too deep." They plan to make log rolling contests annual features of timber days.

An entry fee will be charged men. There will be none for the ladies. Logging events chairman is Mike Petherick, Sutherland.

Winston Council Seeks Law Enforcement Cop

Winston City Council members hope to have a law enforcement officer selected and in office by Aug. 1.

At their meeting Tuesday evening they interviewed three applicants for the position, reports News-Review Correspondent Mrs. Robert Nichols.

The Winston "fathers" wrapped up a second important business item. They set Aug. 16 as the date for a city election to determine if residents wish to re-enter the Winston-Dillard Water District, the correspondent learned from Recorder Ray Harrison. The election will be held at the city offices from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Russians Will Not Consent To Unification Plan Unless W. Germany Quits NATO

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP) — The Western Powers pressed today for some sort of East-West negotiations on German unification despite Russia's firm declaration that this is not the time.

Informed quarters said the Western foreign ministers, at their daily meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, would make a determined effort to win agreement for further German discussions, either at the current summit talks or later.

Two Pilots Die, 2 Others Unhurt In Air Collision

HIGH POINT, Md. (AP) — Two veterans of combat flying plummeted to their deaths in the tidewater country of Chesapeake Bay Tuesday after running into another plane 3,000 feet in the air.

Both twin-engine craft were from the Bolling Air Force Base in Washington, a short hop away. The two occupants of one plane walked away from their with only slight injuries, although it broke up after hitting a house.

The plane carrying 1st Lt. Francis D. Viering, 31, of Washington, D. C., and Maj. Lud Millster, Alexandria, Va., carried them almost directly earthward to their deaths.

Their C45 Beechcraft transport hit near High Point High School, exploded and burned.

The fliers in the other plane, a B25, were Maj. Leonard H. Bonham, San Jose, Calif., and Maj. W. T. Phillips, Florence, Ala.

They almost managed to fly their crippled craft to Friendship Airport about 10 miles away. They failed by 1,000 yards, crashing into the house of William, James and Kenneth Murray.

Mrs. Argda Hunter, who cleans house for the Murray brothers, was inside with her two children, 9 and 7 years old. They managed to get out safely.

Children Receive 2nd Polio Vaccine Shots

Final inoculations of the anti-polio vaccine in the initial phase of the program were administered at a clinic in the Douglas County Health Office Tuesday. A total 118 children received their second shots.

This was the last phase of the injection covered by serum paid for by the polio foundation. Meanwhile the second shots were given at Redwood last Friday in a similar clinic.

Under the schedule set up when administration of the shots started, the first booster shot was to be given a month after the first. Still another shot is considered necessary for continued immunity.

Dr. E. J. Wainwright, county health officer, reported today that the third shot will probably have to be administered by the family physicians of children who have received the first two. He said the schedule calls for the third shot to be given between seven months and a year after the second shot.

Oiling Of Streets Will Get Third Sutherland Try

Oiling of some three miles of Sutherland streets is expected to begin Saturday, reports City Manager Hugh McKinley.

Levy Fact Rant

Gone and perhaps forgotten—except perhaps by a few octogenarians—are those old insurance annuity advertisements publicizing a plan for "comfortable" retirement on $100 a month.

FRAMEWORK for new wings to the Douglas County Courthouse was being completed today, about two weeks after arrival of structural steel for the project. With steel in place for the east wing, pouring of cement floors was begun today. Workmen still had a few girders to place on the west wing. The new wings, costing nearly three-quarters of a million dollars, will more than double space for county offices. The project will not be completed until next year. (Paul Jenkins photo).
