

Hollander's Talk Shows Rotary Foundation Value

through the employment service, before finally getting mill, the woods, work. Of haying, the Hollander said "I never want to do that again."

Never Heard Of Hans Brinker In passing, Leffelaar pooh-poohed a couple of well-known American stories: About the boy who saved Holland by holding his finger in a hole in a dike, and about Hans Brinker and the silver skates.

He also wryly pointed out that all people in his country do not wear wooden shoes and that only a few wear the colorful national costume.

He welcomes the opportunity to see Americans "showing yourselves as you really are and not as you may pretend to be," and believes it is an invaluable contribution toward world peace and understanding.

The speaker was introduced by Percy Croft, President Harold Host presided. During the program in the Hotel Umpqua, the oldest past president of the local club, Jack Harding, presented a pin to the immediate past president, Roland West. There will be no regular Thursday noon meeting next week because of the club's annual picnic. Members and guests are to gather at 6:30 that evening at Umpqua Park.

Roseburg police appropriated BB guns from two boys, 13 and 15, Thursday afternoon after they had been observed shooting from the Oak Street Bridge. The boys were to appear in municipal court today and police said the guns would be returned on court order.

Accord Aims To Expand County Parks Program

able. Longer leases with a renewing clause would permit improvement to these properties, reports Charles Collins, park superintendent. The department, however, does not feel it proper to invest money in improvements on land held under short leases.

Rep. John P. Amacher, chairman of the parks department, reports that the department returned to the county general fund a surplus of $5,000. The money, he said, was not enough to buy some of the sites desired in the program and remained from last year's operation.

The new policy, the court announced, will be more flexible. The department is authorized to negotiate for park sites and the court will make determination on price and will either accept or reject sites. Purchased land will be held for later development.

This policy, Judge Hill reports will free the department from a fixed acquisition budget. The court indicated it would make funds available to meet the expanded program, but will pass judgment on each proposed acquisition. Funds from timber sales and other special sources will be earmarked for the parks program and used only as suitable properties are made available, Judge Hill states.

Clackamas Loses Plea In O & C Land Decision

standing controversy between the Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management over which agency should administer the disputed lands.

Back of the Clackamas County's action was the fear that transfer of jurisdiction to the Forest Service might lead to eventual lowering of the 18 counties' share in the timber sale receipts. Under O&C law the counties now receive 5 per cent of the receipts. Under Forest Service policy counties receive only 25 per cent of such receipts.

In resolving the long standing controversy, Congress put administration of the disputed 42,000 acres in the Forest Service but provided that the counties still would receive 5 per cent of the sale receipts from the timber.

Congress Action Stands The court said: "In ultimate analysis the county complains of a threat of damage which it fears, rather than an actual injury. But in any event the public domain in Oregon passed to the United States when Oregon was admitted. Such a provision was implicit in the act of admission."

"... No taking is involved in the 1954 act. And of course the courts cannot interfere with the administration of public property as arranged by the Congress and the executive, so long as constitutional boundaries are not transgressed by either branch or statutory ones by the latter."

TRUCK DAMAGES CAR

A logging truck hit the rear of a passenger car during the 5 p.m. traffic rush on Stephens Street Thursday when the car driver attempted to turn into the right-turn lane feeding traffic onto Second Avenue South.

Roseburg police said about $250 damage resulted to the car, driven by Delle Cosmus Carlson, Anderson, Calif. It was struck by a truck driven by Charles Gikenson, 1130 Ballif St.

Officers issued no citation, reasoning that Mrs. Carlson was unfamiliar with Roseburg traffic.

SETTLEMENT MADE

A settlement of $6,000 has been made to E. F. and Ruby A. Black by the City of Myrtle Creek, according to City Atty. James McGinty. The plaintiffs earlier filed suit for damages, alleging fumes from the city's nearby sewage disposal plant lowered the value of their property. The settlement came as a result of a court ruling last March.

Man-Made Satellites Projected By America

information on the earth's upper atmosphere is expected.

Circles In 90 Minutes The satellites would circle the earth once every 90 minutes, so that even if they remained up only a day or two there would be opportunity for study.

Scientists of all nations are to be informed of the orbits the satellites will travel and the frequencies on which they will broadcast, if it is possible to equip them with radio.

The whole project is designed as part of this country's participation in the International Geophysical Year, from July 1957 to December, 1958.

The period has been set aside by some 40 nations, Russia included, for research and worldwide observations in the field of the earth sciences.

The satellite program, on the basis of present, rough plans, is expected to cost some 10 million dollars.

Benefits Foreseen What will this rather fantastic development mean in the way of benefit for mankind? Various scientists at the conference, representing the National Academy of Sciences and the National Science Foundation, said that there are possibilities in several directions.

For one thing, more information may be obtained about the ionosphere, which is important in radio communications.

Information may be obtained which may improve weather forecasting.

A better idea may result of the effects of the light and ultra violet radiation from the sun.

More information may be obtained on cosmic rays and meteorites.

$53,445 Damages Asked For Traffic Injuries Dorothy J. Tucker has filed suit in circuit court, seeking $50,000 general and $3,445.65 special damages for injuries received in a traffic mishap south of Roseburg on Aug. 8, 1954.

The suit is against Arcoa, Inc., of Portland. It is alleged a two-wheel trailer of the company came loose from a pickup driven by George F. Jones and crashed into a car driven by the plaintiff's husband. It is further alleged the trailer, rented from Larry Winters at Port Angeles, Wash., was not rigid so it could be safely attached and locked to the pickup pulling it.

S. P. To Observe Usual Schedule For Derby

riders have signed applications with the Chamber of Commerce to ride in the derby, but others are expected from Cottage Grove and Yoncalla.

The Josephine County Mounted Sheriff's Posse also will have riders in the race, Anderson said. A few applications from Grants Pass were filed today.

Alan Knudson, in charge of the race, said there will be plenty of riders, even though the Lane County Mounted Sheriff's Posse withdrew because of prior commitments.

State Sen. Paul E. Geddes, one of three senators who led the way to a public hearing after AP announced plans to end passenger service in southern Oregon, will speak briefly at the celebration here Sunday morning. So will George Luoma, acting for Mayor Ernest Barker Jr.

A veterinarian, Dr. Donald Rone, will accompany the flood-light-equipped truck illuminating the way for riders.

Four Divisions Mapped The route horsemen will take was mapped out Thursday night by Knudson and others. It was to be mimeographed today for participants.

The route has been divided into four divisions after it had been discovered that riders will cover 67 miles instead of 75 as estimated at first. The divisions are: Eugene depot to the Pass Creek Bridge, 23 miles; the bridge to the top of Rice Hill, 19 miles; Rice Hill to Wilbur Junction, 12 miles; and the junction to Roseburg depot, 13 miles.

Geddes today was to receive word from Gov. Paul Patterson saying whether the governor would send a message from Salem. The message, if forthcoming, would be carried by "Pony Express" riders.

It is learned here that Life Magazine plans to take pictures of the event. It also will be picked up by the National Broadcasting Co., through KUGN, Eugene, to be taped. Then NBC will release the tapes in seven 3-minute spots on its program, "Monitor," in the early morning of Aug. 7.

Oregon Easter Seal Sale In 1955 Shows Increase

The 1955 Easter Seal campaign of the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults showed a gain of nearly $7,000 over last year, James M. Torson, executive director, reported at a meeting of the society's executive board here.

The total receipts as of June 30 were $123,729 as against $116,779 a year ago, Torson advised.

CANNON BALL WOUNDS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An Alhambra 12-year-old is in General Hospital for removal of a cannon ball from his left shoulder.

A cannon ball? That's right, it's a quarter-inch ball from a miniature brass field piece. The propellant is firecracker powder. It was made by a friend of Michael Bryant, who was struck by a ball Thursday during "artillery" practice in a vacant lot.

Farm Fish Pond Labeled Success

Thursday's farm fish pond field day was pronounced a success by Wayne D. Mosher, assistant county extension agent.

Mosher said more than 30 persons visited the two ponds slated for inspection. Early risers viewed the pond on the Harold Boucock farm in Scotts Valley at 10 a.m. Later they were joined by other interested residents at the Harvey Schultz farm on Boomer Hill Road, Myrtle Creek.

Featured speakers were William Pitney and James Vaughn of the Oregon State Game Commission. Both ponds were seined, Mosher said and fish were found each time. He said viewers learned that the 3 to 5-inch rainbow trout planted in March in the Boucock pond hadn't grown as much as expected.

The rainbow and brook trout planted at the Schultz pond in February when they were one-inch long now measure as much as 8 inches in some instances. Mosher said the difference can be due to feed supply and more favorable water temperatures.

Myrtle Creek Jury Hangs In Traffic Case

A six-hour trial resulted in a hung jury and a call for a new trial at Myrtle Creek's municipal court Thursday.

On trial, charged with drunken driving, was Lester G. Rees, 41, Myrtle Creek. He had been arrested by city police July 16.

The trial started at 1:30 p.m., and at 7:30 it had not been able to reach a verdict, according to Municipal Judge J. D. Myllybeck. He dismissed the jury and said another trial will be scheduled, probably near the end of August.

Rees was released under $250 bail, reports correspondent Ruth M. Evans.

Wife Of Woods Accident Victim Demands $75,000

A woman who claims she has suffered mental anguish and the loss of her husband's consortium after he was permanently injured in a woods accident has filed suit for $75,000.

Agnes S. Pagel filed the suit in circuit court against Roseburg Lumber Co. She alleges the company was in violation of state safety codes on Aug. 24, 1953, when her husband, Arthur H., was hit by a log while working as a choker-setter.

Mrs. Pagel claims her health has been impaired, that she suffers mental anguish by being forced to witness the suffering of her husband brought about by the accident.
