Sweepstakes Bill Given Approval In New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Despite opposition cries that it is "a sign of moral, political and financial bankruptcy," the New Hampshire Legislature has passed a bill which would establish a two-million-dollar state sweepstakes based on horse races.

Republican Gov. Lane Dwinell has indicated he will sign it. Sponsors, estimating annual revenue at two million dollars, tacked it onto a $350,000 school construction bill but the Senate killed an amendment to earmark all income for education.

The proposal, defeated in the Legislature for the past three or four years, calls for two special horse races a year at Rockingham Park in Salem. The State Racing Commission would control operation of the sweeps.

No plans have been announced to show how the scheme would work, but its sponsor, House Minority Leader Laurence M. Pickett, a Democrat from Keene, suggested tickets be priced at $5 and that the top prize be $25,000.

EXPLICIT DOG TAGS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Religious preferences of members of the Armed services will hereafter be spelled out fully on their dog tags instead of being designated by single letters.

The Defense Department said this will make it possible for chaplains in an emergency to know precisely which last rites to administer.

Russians Resume Nuclear Weapons Tests, Says AEC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced here that the Russians have resumed testing of "nuclear weapons."

The brief announcement said only: "Within the past few days the Soviets have resumed testing of nuclear weapons."

"This may mean the beginning of a new test series."

The most recent previous announcement of Soviet tests was made Oct. 20, 1954.

Before that—in August, 1953, the AEC confirmed Russian claims to have conducted a thermonuclear (H-bomb) experiment. It said both fusion and fusion of atoms—commonly called "atomic" and "hydrogen" blasts—were involved.

Two weeks later the AEC said there had been a fusion-type explosion which appeared to be part of a series. The commission said at that time it would not make announcements of each separate blast of the series.

Thursday's announcement did not specify whether the new explosion was of the fusion type involving the splitting of some material such as uranium-235, or the fusion type involving the combining of extremely light weight atoms, such as forms of hydrogen.

As late as June 24 the AEC indicated it had had no evidence of a major nuclear blast by Russia in almost a year.

At that time Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, a nuclear scientist, wrote that it could be revealed that the Soviets "conducted at least two super bomb tests this spring." He said non-governmental scientists picked up strong radioactive indications of an explosion in May.

Asked about Lapp's statement, the AEC said: "The commission has consistently followed a policy of informing the American people of its tests of nuclear weapons and of tests in Soviet territory."

"There has been no change in this policy."

There has been no public disclosure of the means by which this country monitors nuclear tests in the Soviet Union, but widespread reports say the main reliance is on radioactivity tests of the air downwind from test sites.

Last February the Russians came out with a claim to an edge over the United States in the production of both atomic and hydrogen weapons.

Governor Vetoes Horse Race Gambling Measure

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—The 134th New Hampshire Legislature adjourned at 12:07 a.m. Saturday after a marathon 13-hour meeting in which it sustained Gov. Lane Dwinell's unexpected veto of a controversial bill that would have established the nation's only state-operated sweepstakes.

The governor said the bill, designed to raise an estimated two million dollars a year in state revenue, was "contrary to the best interests of this state."

The veto—first and only such action by the governor since he took office last January—followed protests by church leaders and others that the bill raised a moral issue "affecting the good name of the state, the cause of religion and the welfare of all our people."

Supporters of the sweepstakes plan had contended the state needs the money and that it would help wipe out illegal gambling.
