Agreement Signed For Myrtle Creek Street Paving

An agreement was signed by the Myrtle Creek City Council Tuesday night that virtually completes paving Riverside Drive in Myrtle Creek. The council voted to pay Wine-trout Ford Sales $1,340 for about nine-tenths of an acre running along Riverside Drive, thus widening the right-of-way. This was the last barrier to county paving of the street, which is now heavily rutted. The county has promised to raise the street, pave it and build a new bridge at the juncture of Riverside Drive and Forest Road. The county stipulated it would build the road and bridge if the city would obtain the property where Highway 99 meets Riverside Drive to allow log trucks to turn on and off the highway easier. The city will install a bigger water main across Riverside Drive to allow additional water for the Weaver Addition, according to correspondent Ruth M. Evans. In other action Tuesday, the council awarded a contract for a new city pickup truck to Sig Felt International of Roseburg. Bid price was not immediately available. Other bidders were Young Sales of Myrtle Creek and Barcus Sales & Service of Roseburg.

Upper Olalla Road Section To Be Rebuilt

Rebuilding of a stretch of Upper Olalla Road south of Highway 42 was scheduled to get under way Wednesday, according to Floyd C. Frear, county road engineer. Another rebuilding job, on Reuben Road near Glendale, was started Monday, and work on the Medleys-Elkhead section between London Hill and Oakland is being completed. The Olalla and Reuben jobs will take two or three months to complete, Frear said. Both involve widening and realignment. About two miles is involved on the Olalla Road, between the steel and covered bridges south of junction with the main road. A new grade will be put in so that it will be above high water in winter. The job on Reuben Road covers about five miles between the junction at the east edge of Glendale and Reuben to the northwest. Beyond Reuben, the gravel road stretches on to West Fork and beyond, but is property of the Robert Dollar Co. after that point. Surface work is being wrapped up on the other project, on the road connecting Oakland and Cottage Grove and running east of Highway 99. Involved was a stretch of about one mile at Pinkston Hill where an 18 per cent grade was cut to 7 per cent, Frear said.

CALLING TOKYO — Una Schmidt-Fine, 20, held her son Danny Schmidt Jr., 2 1/2, closely as she waited in her attorney's office in Nevada City, Calif., to talk to her first husband, Airman 2. C. Daniel C. Schmidt, in Tokyo. Schmidt is one of eleven airmen freed from a Red Chinese prison last week. His wife said she married Alford Fine believing Schmidt was dead. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Una Schmidt Notified In June, Says Air Force

WASHINGTON — The Air Force says it sent a telegram and a letter to Mrs. Una Schmidt in June 1954 to notify her that her airman husband Daniel C. Schmidt was reported a prisoner in Red China. Mrs. Schmidt has told reporters that not until November 1954 was she notified Schmidt was a prisoner of war. That was two months after she had married Alford Fine, 21, she said, in the belief Schmidt was dead. Schmidt, 22, is one of 11 American airmen recently released by the Communists. They are scheduled to arrive Friday at Travis Air Force base near San Francisco.

Hurricane Connie Lays Off Carolina Coast

Canada. Most hurricanes blow themselves out shortly after they reach land. But after Hazel, no chances were being taken. Towering waves and high tides already pounded the North Carolina shore and hard tropical showers pelted residents and vacationers moving to safety away from the beaches. Beaches took on a deserted look of winter. The entire east coast from Savannah, Ga., to Provincetown, Mass., was under hurricane alert. Rough seas were reported all along the area. Crowded automobiles, piled high with belongings, moved a way from the Carolina beaches. High water lapped protective sand dunes and beach front homes long before the storm arrived. Two men already have died indirectly as a result of Connie. Their Navy plane crashed at Norfolk, Va., as they sought to evacuate it to safety inland. Air Force, Marine and Navy planes all along the eastern seaboard were put in hangars or flown inland to safety. Navy ships put to sea to ride out the storm rather than be battered against docks. The supercarrier Forrestal, still unfinished at Newport News, Va., was made as secure as possible in her berth.

Two Dignitaries Expected At Milo Academy Program

If plans for the official dedication of the new Milo Seventh-day Adventist Academy materialize, two major dignitaries will be on hand Sept. 11. Invitations have tentatively been accepted by World Seventh-day Adventist President R. R. Fighur of Washington, D.C., and Oregon's Gov. Paul Patterson. Complete program will be announced later by Elder L. E. Biggs, head of the Oregon SDA conference. The Milo Academy, three years under construction, will open its doors to its first pupils Sept. 6. Principal L. E. Russell said only about 175 pupils will be admitted this year because of lack of work opportunities to aid them in financing their room, board and tuition. The school will have a capacity of about 300. Enrollment at the boarding school will include about 93 girls and 82 boys. He also reported that the faculty of 18 is complete. Buildings and grounds in the scenic South Umpqua Valley about 17 miles east of Canyonville have already cost about $750,000. The conference expects to spend about $500,000 more before the academy is completed.

Defiant Convicts Flood Jail Cells, Cause Damage

YAKIMA, Wash. — Eighteen defiant convicts, transferred here after last month's state penitentiary rebellion, flooded their Yakima County jail cells and caused other minor damage in another abortive uprising Tuesday night. Sheriff Bert Guns said the small-scale riot started when the men refused to surrender a hacksaw blade officers learned had been smuggled into the quarters on the fourth floor of the county jail. Guns said the uprising was put down when State Patrolmen, who joined county and city authorities in surrounding the jail, threatened to use tear gas. The sheriff said he learned early in the evening from a source he refused to reveal that the hacksaw blade was in the jail. He ordered the men to surrender the blade telling them they would go hungry until they did so. The men shouted defiance, he said, flooded their cells by stomping on sinks and toilets, and ripped up mattresses. They quieted down, however, when state patrolmen threatened to use tear gas. Later the hacksaw blade was handed to a guard. The convicts, described by state prison authorities as leaders of last month's rebellion, are here awaiting transfer to a new maximum security ward under construction at Eastern State Hospital at Medical Lake.

Democrat Claims Ike Too Old For Office

er runs and is reelected, he will become the nation's oldest president before he completes a new four year term. "Under normal circumstances, political parties probably would not choose such a man," Williams said. "But the Republicans probably are going to force him to run." Williams' statements provoked speedy response from Republican Govs. Langlie and Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland. Langlie said that "any raising of the issue of Eisenhower's age, Williams was 'slandering some of the finest workers and finest minds of the country.'" "In our present stage of national health, the President is not as old as men of 50 or 55 who held the job years ago," Langlie said. "Anyone is being political or naive when he talks about the President's being too old to serve after the job he has done."
