

Hoover Asserts We Should Mention Something Good About American Way Of Life

NEWBERG, Ore. (AP)—Herbert Hoover said Wednesday on his 81st birthday, "We should lift our eyes unto the hills from whence cometh our help. We should occasionally mention something good about ourselves."

The former President, in an address prepared for delivery at the dedication of his boyhood home here as a national shrine, said, "During the last score of years our American way of life has been deluged with criticism. . . .

"Altogether, if we look at the criticisms alone, we seem to be in a very, very bad way. . . . But," he continued, "we could point out that our American way of life has perfected the greatest productivity of any nation on earth; that our standard of living is the highest in the world. . . .

"In the government field we could suggest that our supposedly decadent people still rely upon the ballot and the legislative hall to settle their differences without a secret police with slave camps. . . .

"And we could suggest that we alone of all nations fought in two world wars and asked no indemnities, no acquisition of territory, no domination over other nations. . . . Hoover said he, himself, has joined in criticism of the American scene because of my anxieties over mistaken policies and especially the influence of Karl Marx on our way of life."

Other criticism, he said, "comes from the fuzzy-minded totalitarian liberals who believe that our creeping collectivism can be adopted without destroying the safeguards of free men. . . .

"It comes bitterly and daily from the Communists at home and abroad who would overthrow our American system. And it even comes from free nations whom we have tried to help. . . . Hoover recalled that he was brought here some 70 years ago to live with his uncle, Dr. Henry J. Minthorn, a physician and Quaker educator, and his wife. . . .

He told of Minthorn's experience with the Communist influence. "We could point out that our American way of life has perfected the greatest productivity of any nation on earth; that our standard of living is the highest in the world. . . .

Some criticism, he said, "comes from the fuzzy-minded totalitarian liberals who believe that our creeping collectivism can be adopted without destroying the safeguards of free men. . . .

"It comes bitterly and daily from the Communists at home and abroad who would overthrow our American system. And it even comes from free nations whom we have tried to help. . . . Hoover observed that he, himself, has been critical of developments because of my anxieties over mistaken policies and especially the influence of Karl Marx on our way of life."

Interior Secretary Douglas McKay, a former Oregon governor, introduced Hoover at the ceremonies. . . .

Police Crack Queens Bank Robbery Case

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI says it has cracked the largest cash bank robbery in history, seizing two men as alleged members of a smooth-working quartet who held up a Queens bank to the tune of $25,000. . . .

Warrants were issued for two other men thought to have been the ringleaders in the carefully planned holdup. A fifth man has been held as a material witness. . . .

Arraigned yesterday and charged with violating the National Bank Robbery Act were James McCoo, 36, and Frank Cocchiaro, 34, both of Astoria, Queens—now far from the looted Woodside, Queens, branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank. . . .

McCoo, accused of taking part in the robbery, was held without bond. Cocchiaro was held in $50,000 bail, charged with aiding and abetting the stickup. . . .

Cocchiaro's wife, Mildred, was a teller at the Woodside bank when four bandits appeared on the morning of April 6 and made off with their record haul without firing a shot. Mrs. Cocchiaro since has resigned. . . .

Ass't. U. S. Atty. Paul W. Windels said none of the stolen money has been recovered. Windels also said that the holdup was partly an inside job but did not point a finger at any employee. . . .

Redmond (Ninny) Cribbins, 48, alias Mike Malloy, and Thomas (Duke) Connelly Jr., 30, both veteran criminals, are sought for questioning. . . .
