

Air Force Announces Plans For First Rocket Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has announced here it is ready for the first rocket powered flight by the X-2 research plane, designed to penetrate the heat barrier with speeds of roughly 2,000 miles per hour or more.

The X-2 is the first plane specifically built to explore the point in speed where many metals weaken or break down due to tremendous air friction.

The aluminum alloy normally used in aircraft has been replaced by stainless steel and other materials. Since ordinary windshield glass would melt at such speeds, highly tempered glass which can withstand temperatures of 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit has been used.

The plane was built by Bell Aircraft Corp. for the Air Force and the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics.

The Air Force did not estimate its speed, but said it will fly faster than the earlier X-1A, which exceeded 1,650 miles an hour in December, 1953.

The new research plane already has been tested in gliding flight. It was carried up to altitudes of around 30,000 feet by a mother plane and released to glide back to earth. These tests have been conducted at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., where the first powered flight of the rocket craft is scheduled in the near future. In these flights, too, the X-2 will be carried aloft by a mother plane.

A special provision has been made for the pilot's safety. The heavily insulated cabin is both pressurized and detachable. Should the pilot have to bail out at high altitudes, an explosive charge can separate the entire cabin from the rest of the aircraft.

A ribbon-type parachute would slow down the falling cabin until it reaches an altitude where the pilot can safely make use of his own parachute.

Utahans Won't Bolt Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Utah's Republican Sens. Watkins and Bennett made it clear here that they don't favor bolting to a Democrat for president next year, as suggested by their state's GOP governor, J. Bracken Lee.

"I'm certain he does not speak for the majority of the Republicans in Utah," Watkins said, adding the governor has a perfect right to voice his views.

Bennett said he regards Lee's suggestion as "another in a series of attacks on the President, with a new twist to it," and he added, "President Eisenhower is the greatest asset the Republican party has and I believe he will again head the party and be re-elected."

Lee, attending the governors' conference at Chicago, told newsmen Tuesday that whether he would support Eisenhower next year, if the President seeks another term, depends "pretty much on who is on the other ticket."
