ron or Baker while he and his family were on vacation in Mexico. He died of sunstroke. Mrs. Parron is the former, Elizabeth Ann Huntington, who formerly lived in Olalla.

War Readiness Urged Despite Hopes For Peace

PHILADELPHIA — Secretary of the Army Brucker called Monday for continued "firm and sustained combat readiness" despite the hope for peace.

In an address to the annual meeting of the American Bar Assn., he said the summit meeting at Geneva last month "has given us some reason to hope for the gradual lessening of world tensions and the eventual establishment of a stable order based on justice."

But he added that "it would be tragic to take counsel of mere hopes, and upon such a slender premise allow our military might to deteriorate."

Lloyd Wright, ABA president told the group that individual liberty and initiative have been endangered because too many Americans have bartered away the right of self-government for financial favors granted by the federal government.

American Traits Junked

He said that Americans "have drifted down the path of paternalism, looking more and more to security, wherever or however it may be found and abandoning the good old American traits of thrift, dignity in work, independence and pride of accomplishment, and the joy of succeeding by overcoming all obstacles."

Members of the National Press Photographers Assn. will attempt to show Monday afternoon that picture taking under modern conditions does not upset the decorum of the courtroom.

U.S. Atty Gen. Brownell has called for the experiment. An ABA rule, known as Canon 35, forbids the taking of photographs in the courtroom during the progress of judicial proceedings. The canon has been adopted by 14 states.

Legal Problems Delay Report On Salk Vaccine

WASHINGTON — Legal problems again have delayed a report by the Public Health Service on Salk polio vaccine manufactured by Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif.

The investigation was started April 27 after six cases of polio developed in persons inoculated with Cutter vaccine. The use of Cutter vaccine was suspended.

The Welfare Department said here it hopes the report on Cutter can be released by next week. This is the third successive week that it failed to appear after forecasts that it was about to be made public.

The legal obstacle was reported to stem from the Biologicals Control Act which prohibits revelation by the government of processes, operations and other data it discovers in controlling such products as the Salk vaccine.

Commenting on rumors that the report will be "favorable" to Cutter, a Welfare Department spokesman said:

"When released the report will speak for itself. Until it is released, the Department, of course, can't comment on its content."

Radio Station Assails Orders Of Labor Chief

OREGON CITY — Radio station KGON, now being picketed by AFL electrical workers, has filed suit in circuit court here asking reversal of two orders by Fred G. Scherer, state labor commissioner.

An official of the station Saturday asked the court to set aside orders certifying a union local as the employees' bargaining agent and denying the station's petition for reconsideration of the union recognition order.

The petition also attacks conduct of the employees' election which was won by a union majority.
