Carol Atkins, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Atkins, 1077 Mill St., Roseburg, had a hard time holding onto her catch, but finally cornered the animal. She vied with four other girls under 13. Carol had a name for it, Porky, and she hopes to raise it.

And plans for organization of a model airplane club came from fair activities. Model contest chairman Lex Lester listed the following winners in Saturday flight competition: Gene Foley, Roseburg, first with 500 points; Ernie Radike, Dunsmuir, Calif., second with 480 points; Darrell Kingsley, Seattle, Wash., third with 40 points.

CHURCH MEET SET

The executive committee of Christian Women's Fellowship of the Westside Christian Church, at Harvard Avenue and Broccoli Lane, Roseburg, will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Rodeo Amateurs Compete At Fair

A pair of amateur rodeo performers from Cottage Grove and Myrtle Point caught the fancy of a crowd at the Douglas County Fairgrounds arena Sunday afternoon.

They took part in a jackpot rodeo sandwiched in between horse races (see sports page) as an added feature of the annual county fair.

J. B. Leonard of Cottage Grove got on a performance of calf roping which would have been a credit to a professional show. In one of the final events of the day, Leonard dropped and tied his calf in a snappy 17.8 seconds.

The other star of the show was young (14) Russ McCall of Myrtle Point. He captured the heart of the crowd for sheer courage. Despite his tender years, he topped most of his seniors in both sections of calf roping and a wild cow milking event.

He was third in cow milking and was ranked sixth and seventh in the two sections of calf roping. His roping times were 48.3 and 68.4 seconds.

Winston Man Also Shines

From the Douglas County area, Ike Winship of Winston was top hand. He was first in wild cow milking with Walt Mask of Roseburg doing the "mugging," and was third in one section of the calf roping event. He dropped the calf in 25 seconds flat after lassoing it around one of its rear legs to stop it for the tie.

Steve Hill of Eugene put in a sturdy performance by posting a 29-second time in calf roping while finding it necessary to use two loops.

Results:

Calf roping (first section) — Ed Pyeatt, Cottage Grove, 20.3 seconds; Dave Winship, Winston, 22.6; Ike Winship, Winston, 25.0. Jackpot winnings were $50, $30 and $20.

Calf roping (second section) — J. B. Leonard, Cottage Grove, 17.8; Tod Tennant, Cottage Grove, 21.1; Leroy Winship, Roseburg, 26.7. Jackpot winnings were $36, $21.60 and $14.40.

Indians Slate Ticket Sale

Season tickets for four Roseburg High School home football games go on sale Tuesday morning for one week.

Athletic Director Bob George reports that those promised preferential season tickets are now being contacted. This project (in which donors to the grandstand building fund are allowed to buy season tickets before the public sale opens) will be completed today.

George said the season tickets can be secured by the public after today at the J. C. Sporting Goods Store in Roseburg. He said all season tickets priced at $6 will reserve seats in the grandstand now being constructed. He reported the seats will be excellent, with no posts to block the view. They will be between the 30-yard lines.

The season tickets will remain on sale through Tuesday, Sept. 6.

The home-game slate starts at the end of that week, Sept. 9. The visiting foe will be Estacada. The other home games pit Roseburg against Medford Sept. 23, Eugene Sept. 30 and Grants Pass Oct. 21. General admission tickets will be available for these games at the gates, George said.

Meanwhile, the Indians who had one of their best seasons last year, begin preparing for their grid wars today. Coach George has scheduled workouts twice daily (including Saturday) until the Estacada game.

Disarmament Talks Resumed At Geneva

agreed to. The inspectors could not roam Russia. They'd be restricted to major rail centers, harbors and airfields. The United States had insisted on a much wider kind of inspection.

At Geneva President Eisenhower went the Soviets one better by proposing that each side let the other keep a check by aerial inspection. Eisenhower got a lot of mileage out of his proposal, propaganda-wise.

The Russians were caught flatfooted and to this day have neither accepted Eisenhower's plan, rejected it, nor come up with some other plan of their own.

Two Big "Ifs" Faced

It is possible the Russians will provide a sensation in the U.N. subcommittee meeting by some offer that would match or outdo Eisenhower's. If they have such an intention, they've kept it quiet.

If they accept Eisenhower's aerial inspection plan, it is the President who may wind up embarrassed for the U.S. Senate would have to approve both a disarmament and inspection plan.

The Senate might not go for the aerial check idea. The Russians, since they don't have to answer to their people, are in a better position to offer a plan which they can make stick.

Nothing done at the subcommittee meeting is final anyway. That meeting, while it can be useful, is like a scouting expedition into the thinking of the Big Four.

All the representatives at the subcommittee meeting can do is report back to their governments—for any approval to be given—or what the other side has offered.
