Water Failure Closes School At Lookingglass

By HAZEL S. MARSH

Failure of the water supply at the Lookingglass School necessitated closing school Monday. A temporary supply was provided by the use of a large portable tank owned by the Marsh Orchards and made available to haul water from the supply at the Douglas High School. School was resumed Tuesday.

Training
Notice has been sent out that the schools of the district will be closed Monday, Oct. 3, to permit the teachers to participate in the in-service training course at Myrtle Creek.

Roy Ellis of Arago was a guest over the weekend at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ellis.

Appreciation has been expressed by valley residents adjoining the property on which the small house burned at midday Sunday, for the prompt and efficient manner in which residents responded to the call for aid in fighting the grass fires which spread rapidly from the burning building. Neighbors had the grass fires under control before the Douglas Fire Protective equipment arrived. The burned-over area covered several acres and included an abandoned prune orchard.

The Lookingglass Substation of the Bonneville Power Assoc. is on an adjoining tract to the burned over area. Quick action on the part of the fire fighters prevented any damage to the power station.

Mrs. Kathryn Hutto of Glendale was guest speaker at the Lookingglass Church at the Sunday morning service. She was accompanied by Mr. Hutto and their daughter, Alma Grace, who sang preceding the message. Mrs. Hutto is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Montgomery who were residents of the valley for a number of years. Mrs. Hutto and her two sisters and three brothers received their schooling in the Lookingglass schools, graduating from the high school then conducted in the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutto and daughter were over night guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jacoby and family entertained at Sunday dinner honoring the Huttos and the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cory of Winston.

Mr. and Mrs. Corvin Heard went to Astoria Sunday to attend a family reunion.

Oil Well Becomes Family Member Outside Window

SHERMAN, Tex. — The Charles Giarraputo family at 1915 N. Crockett St. feels as if that oil well were just a member of the family.

"That oil well" is actually just outside the window, flush up against the south wall of the Giarraputo home.

But its huge motors throb, the drills stem clanks as it's slammed into place in the rig towers, and the Giarraputo home shakes and groans with the noise. It's been going on for three months.

"Sometimes I don't even notice it at all," Mrs. Giarraputo told a reporter. "But sometimes (she raised her voice a bit as the noise rose outside), when I'm hot and tired and the children have been difficult, the noise just seems to bounce off the walls."

"Pony Jim"—that's 5-month-old James Anthony — has lived with the noise for four fifths of his life and doesn't know anything different.

Jeannette, 2, was frightened at first by the big diesel trucks but has grown used to it.

"I asked the doctor if the noise would damage the children's ears," said Mrs. Giarraputo. "He said the noise wouldn't, but they will probably have some trouble adjusting to silence again."

The drills still have about a thousand feet to go before they reach the 11,500 foot depth where they hope to hit oil.

Meanwhile, life gets difficult. The heat from the rig makes it impossible for Mrs. Giarraputo to use her kitchen much during the day. She washes the dishes in the evening. Most family dinners are cooked on an electric bean pot, a gift of Mrs. Giarraputo's mother.

And Mrs. Giarraputo had to move into the north bedroom with the children. The 11-foot southeast bedroom was too close to the drilling. Once the drilling crew hit a gas pocket, Mrs. Giarraputo had to turn the pilot light out on her gas stove and evacuate the house for a day.

A neighbor, Freddie Lee, says, "It's like having neighbors next door, the kind that fight all the time."

The Giarraputos have one consolation: They can dream of some measure of wealth, or just think about it when the noise is too much. They have an interest in the well and are rooting for it to pay off.
