

Curtin Community Church To Draw Up New Chapter

By MRS. RUBY MEACHAM
The Curtin Community Church with Mr. Otis Hardin of Northwest Christian College as pastor would like to extend an invitation to everyone to attend.

A business meeting was held Sunday and a program for the fall season was mapped out. Several parties have been scheduled for those who attend two Sundays previous to the party.

Miss Jane Stanton is the new nursery teacher; Miss Ruth Mays, the intermediate class; Sheldon Nelson, the young peoples class, and Hardin the adults. All teachers are students of Northwest Christian College.

The teachers applied for membership which brought to light the need of an organizational charter. After discussing plans Hardin presented to draw up a charter to present to the people of the community. He will have it ready for approval on Grange Booster Night, Oct. 14. The charter will be open for a couple of weeks for those who would like to become charter members. Then it will be registered with the state.

There will be no denomination included and will operate as a community church.

Edwin Becker, who was seriously injured last week when a log rolled off his truck on him, is getting along very nicely. He was operated on and also had his leg set.

Alvin Allen was operated on Friday for a second time and now seems to be feeling better.

U. S. National Bank To Sponsor Estate And Trust Forum

The U. S. National Bank will sponsor an estate and trust forum next Wednesday in the Civic Room of the Hotel Umpqua. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The forum is part of a series sponsored by the bank and presented in principal cities throughout the state. Bank officials point out that the meetings have earned a reputation for translating some of the generally complex subjects into everyday language.

The series, which is presented as a public service by the bank, highlights questions regarding estate planning, management and settlement which are of special interest to the average family. Recent governmental changes in regulations pertaining to estates also are taken up in the forums.

Harold E. Schmeer, manager of the Roseburg branch, will preside at the forum, which will feature a three-man team from the bank's head office in Portland.

W. D. Hinson, trust officer, will introduce other speakers and will outline safeguards provided by law and the bank in the functions of a corporate executor and the ways in which an estate can be conserved by sound, economic management.

Savings through efficient estate planning and the advantages of various trust procedures, such as life insurance and living trusts, will be discussed by H. E. Butler, assistant trust officer.

L. B. Staver, trust officer, will discuss duties of an executor and responsibility of interested parties. A question and answer period and social hour will conclude the program, Schmeer said.

Neuberger Repeats Claim Robinson Wrote Power Bill

PORTLAND — Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.) Thursday quoted excerpts from a letter which he said established that Kinsey M. Robinson, head of Washington Water Power Co., drafted the bill providing for federal-local partnership in building John Day Dam on the Columbia River.

Neuberger last week at Klamath Falls, in the course of a debate series with Rep. Coon (R-Ore.), charged that Robinson authored the bill. Robinson replied that Neuberger was "talking through his hat" and said it wasn't so. Coon said it was "a bald faced untruth."

In a statement Thursday Neuberger said that the special joint subcommittee of the Senate Interior and Judiciary committees has in its files a letter sent last March 24 from Robinson to Washington's Gov. Arthur B. Langley which said:

"I am attaching a draft of the bill to be introduced in Congress in connection with the proposed John Day development, dated March 22, 1935. I still think that this draft needs some revisions, but I believe they will be rather minor and not change the basic philosophy of the legislation...."

"We expect to have some further telephone conversations between Portland General, Pacific and ourselves relative to this draft, and as soon as we think we have it in fairly final form either Mr. McKee or I will get in touch with you, with the idea of arranging an appointment in Olympia to discuss the matter in somewhat more detail."

The John Day Dam bill, introduced by Coon, provides that local groups may put up the money to pay for power-producing elements of the dam and in return get the power for 50 years.

Shortly after its introduction, Washington Water Power Co., Portland General Electric Co. and Pacific Power and Light Co. said they would be interested in that. The letter's reference to McKee presumably was to Paul B. McKee, head of Portland General Electric.

New B52 Bomber Passes All Tests Satisfactorily

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. — The new B52 eight-engine bomber, star of an Air Force demonstration of might, has passed all its tests thus far, officials said.

The swept-wing bomber was shown to 5,000 persons at this northwest Florida base yesterday as part of a presentation of the Air Force's best planes. It is being delivered to Strategic Air Command forces on a full production basis by the Boeing Aircraft Corp.

An F85F and the B57 American (Martin) counterpart of the British Canberra, both demonstrated "toot bombing." In this hit-and-run technique, 500-pound bombs are lobbed into the air above and ahead of the plane, which scoots away before the explosion.
