

Oregon Irrigated Crop Value Below Nation's Average

WASHINGTON (AP)—The average gross crop value of irrigated acreage in Washington State was well above the national average in 1954, while that in Oregon was well below, the Bureau of Reclamation reports.

The bureau's 1954 crop report, released by Interior Secretary McKay, places an average gross value of $141.21 an acre on crops produced on the 7,231,770 acres under bureau jurisdiction. This includes projects receiving either full irrigation or only a supplementary water supply.

Washington's 498,080 acres had a gross crop value of $106,498,578—an average of $213.81. Oregon's 425,592 acres had a gross crop value of $43,775,274—an average of $102.88.

By states, the individual projects with total acreage and gross value include:

Washington:
Columbia Basin, 104,327 acres, $16,252,728; Okanogan, 3,680 acres, $708,507; Yakima, 390,073 acres, $89,537,343.

Oregon:
Arnold, 3,091 acres, $307,298; Baker, 7,305 acres, $253,300; Boise, 1,492 acres, $117,829; Burnt River, 15,115 acres, $820,210; Deschutes, 94,289 acres, $11,413,585; Grants Pass, 7,226 acres, $826,686; Klamath, 151,945 acres, $14,143,021; Ochoco, 8,233 acres, $765,190; Owyhee, 81,217 acres, $11,477,695; Umatilla, 23,886 acres, $1,721,025; and Vale, 31,703 acres, $2,123,535.

Iowa's Governor Recommends Plan For Farmer Aid

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa Gov. Leo Hoehch today recommended that the United States government buy livestock and stockpile food for an emergency as a means of bolstering falling farm prices.

These were two of the four recommendations Hoehch made in an address prepared for the opening of the Midwest Republican Farm Price Conference, which he called.

He said he believed his recommendations would immediately "relieve the farm price squeeze" and would "give us a permanent, prosperous farm and a national economy."

Attending the conference were governors of Nebraska, South Dakota, Indiana and Kansas and representatives of the chief executives of Wisconsin, Wyoming and Illinois. All were expected to present proposals for shoring up the nation's farm economy.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson sent word he was "looking forward to receiving the results" on the conference.
