

Pork Reported No. 1 Buy This Week In Food Stores

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pork is the No. 1 buy in meat this week. It's available in food stores and supermarkets from coast to coast at bargain-base prices.

Roast loin of pork heads the list of weekend specials in many markets—and if you want to serve it with homemade applesauce, you'll find apples cheap and plentiful also. For this is "National Apple Week," an annual sales promotion event timed to coincide with the peak harvest season.

Smoked ham is another featured item on meat counters this week. Beef rib roasts and sirloin steaks are moderately priced, as is shoulder of veal.

Frying chickens are a little higher in price in some cities, reflecting higher quotations at wholesale, but still constitute an excellent buy. Retail prices in the weeks ahead are expected to move up.

Potatoes and onions are again the "outstanding" buys in produce the quality for most types is better than usual for this time of year.

Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California varieties are highly popular everywhere except in eastern markets.

Cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce and greens are plentiful and moderately priced in most parts of the country. Also listed as good buys are peppers, egg plants and rutabagas.

High on the list of outstanding produce buys are apples. This is the time for harvesting—from the great apple growing valleys of the estimated at 105 million bushels, Pacific Northwest to the Homestead orchards of Maine. The crop is of excellent quality for most varieties.

Pears are also very much in season and are available at moderate prices almost everywhere.

Egg prices, still on the uptrend, may start falling again soon. Production—at a record rate in September—moved still higher this month.

Wholesale Food Costs Drop Lowest In Five Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food costs as measured by Dun & Bradstreet fell this week to their lowest level in more than five years.

At $6.08, the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index was the lowest since the $6.04 recorded in the week of June 27, 1950, at the start of the Korean War.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of 31 basic food items. This week's figure compares with $6.11 the previous week and is 7.7 per cent lower than the $6.55 index for the like week last year.

Higher in price this week were lard, cocoa, steers and lambs. Lower were flour, wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, beans, butter, cottonseed oil, hams, peas, eggs and hogs.
