

Teamsters, Miners Sign 5-Year Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL Teamsters Union's western conference and the Independent Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union Saturday announced agreement on a five-year mutual aid pact.

It provides for a joint committee that will settle any differences between the unions, and handle joint organizing campaigns. The unions also will help each other in contract talks, and on legislative matters.

The pact, affecting about 350,000 members of the western conference of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and about 60,000 members of the mill workers, was signed Friday by officials of both unions.

The IBT's western conference, one of four geographical divisions, includes 11 western states, western Canada, and Hawaii and Alaska. The mill union also is seeking similar pacts with the southern, central and eastern conferences of the IBT.

Officer Attacked During United Air Lines Strike

SEATTLE (AP)—An auxiliary deputy sheriff was injured and two men were arrested Sunday in a brief flareup of picket line violence in the United Air Lines flight engineers' strike.

Melvin C. Cottle, 32, an auxiliary deputy serving as a guard for United, swore to a complaint charging third degree assault against George Laube, 32, a flight engineer, and Edward Daniels, 45, a longshoreman.

Cottle said he was pulled from his car and struck on the head by five men outside the gates of United's maintenance hangar at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport.

The picket line disturbance followed the arrival Saturday night of 40 maritime union members in support of striking AFL Flight Engineers' Assn.

After the disturbance, the airline obtained a temporary restraining order limiting pickets to two each at each of the six entrances to the UAL building.

Flight engineers complained the order and maritime men removed picket signs but remained nearby as "spectators."

Fewer Children Getting Second Anti-Polio Shots

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 20 per cent fewer youngsters are getting second shots than received the first in the Salk vaccine drive against infantile paralysis.

This was indicated in an Associated Press survey, which found at least 3,627,036 children nationwide have received a second vaccination so far. The first round total shown by the survey was 7,754,354.

These figures came from state reports, but actually the second round total is higher because some states had no statistics yet available while others had only incomplete or estimated figures.

Sergeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele told TV interviewers Sunday that "chances of not getting paralytic polio are improved by about 75 per cent" through vaccination.

The national immunization program was launched last spring with the idea of giving a series of three shots to children in the critical age group. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis provided most of the vaccinations, giving them to first and second graders.

Two States Hold Back
Plans for the third round are still undecided while experts study how much immunity has already been built up.

The AP survey disclosed the second shot program has been completed in 21 states and is nearly finished in four others. It is still under way in 21 states while two others—Idaho and Massachusetts—are not taking part in the second round.

State health authorities, on the average, estimated about 80 per cent of the children who took the first shot will get the second.

Boy Missing 54 Days Found Dead In Thicket

CRANE, Ind. (AP)—Three boys tramping through a thick forest yesterday stumbled on the body of Ronnie Weitkamp, 54 days after the 3-year-old boy's disappearance sent 2,300 servicemen and civilians combing the huge Crane Naval Ammunition Depot for 30 hours.

The body of the youngster was found 50 yards north of the depot, where the child's father Lawrence Weitkamp works as an ammunition inspector.

Capt. Robert Dillon, chief state police investigator, said a preliminary check brought out no reason to suppose foul play. He said it appeared the boy died of "starvation and exposure."

The commercial says there will be a test pattern on the air Dec. 15. The engineer said that isn't possible because of construction still to be completed at the TV transmitter at Roseburg.

The follow-up service has been a part of the OCB teacher training program for several years, but this is the first year on a full-time basis.

Advisory Committee Gives Sutherlin Athletic Report

An advisory committee to the Sutherlin School Board has presented two recommendations to the board regarding athletics in the grade schools.

The first is that coaches should allow as many boys as possible to play in competition.

The second referred to tackle football. It is that the pupils not be allowed to travel more than 30 miles from school to play in interschool contests. Schedules would be limited to six games a year, and night games could be played only on Fridays.

Jungle Girl Who Caused Singapore Riots Will Wed

BERGEN-OP-ZOOM, Holland (AP)—"Jungle Girl" Bertha Hertogh, now 18, became formally engaged Sunday to a Dutch cabinet maker.

Announcement of her Moslem child marriage four years ago touched off a wave of riots in Singapore.

Her former Malay husband established best wishes to Bertha and her fiancé, 21-year-old Johan Gerard Winkendael, who is completing his army service.

Bertha's parents were taken prisoner by the Japanese invaders of the Netherlands East Indies 13 years ago. The child's Malay nurse smuggled her into the jungle and raised her as her own.

In 1945 the Hertoghs were freed and began the search for Bertha. They found her in 1949, near Singapore, married at 13 to a young Malay teacher, Manuvel Adabi.

When the British court annulled the marriage and returned the girl to her mother, Moslem rioters spread death and destruction through the colony.

After her return to the Netherlands, Bertha attended a Roman Catholic convent school near her neighbors in this little Dutch town west to the local Catholic church to witness the posting of banns.

Adabi, who now works for a law firm in Singapore, said he bore "no ill feelings." He married a pretty Malay girl in February 1954.

Price Support Planned To Aid Small Farmer

000 per farm. The present program sets no limit.

Also, the present system restricts the output of crops in terms of the number of acres that can be used for them. Critics have charged that encourages farmers to grow more and more food per acre as their acreage allotments are reduced, rather than decreasing their output as the program intends.

Officials said they are seriously considering fixing production limits in terms of bushels, pounds and bales, rather than acres.

Plan "Borrowed" Claim
Other administration proposals may include:

1. A "soil fertility bank" plan under which farmers would be paid for taking surplus cropland out of production and building up fertility on that land for the future.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said Saturday a soil bank proposal he had advanced has been "borrowed" by the administration and converted to its own purpose.

The senator said GOP farm officials previously rejected his plan as unworkable and too costly. Now, he said, Benson is adopting a "watered down" version without the "standards I had provided to safeguard farmers and consumers alike."

2. A "moderate" disposal project for the present 7-billion-dollar government stock of farm surpluses which would include a stepping up of overseas disposal of cotton and wheat—two of the biggest surplus headaches.

Officials said the plan would take care not to dump goods on the market in a manner to antagonize friendly foreign competitors.

Council Backs Bid For Water Study

Members of the Umpqua Conservation Council, meeting at Elkton High School Friday night, endorsed a recent Douglas County Court Order that would urge the State Water Resources Board to place the Umpqua River watershed on a high priority of the board's investigations.

The action came after the evening's main speaker, Jack Binford of Portland had urged the formation of a voluntary board for the Umpqua watershed which would be similar to committees organized in the past on the Willamette and Columbia river basins.

Binford, vice-chairman of the State Water Resources Board, explained to the meeting of about 75 persons the structure of the Board and how it affects the statewide picture.

He outlined the duties and responsibilities with which the board is charged under Oregon law.

Another speaker, Dr. Donald Bauer, president of the Coos Bay chapter of the Isaac Walton League of America, discussed coastal fishery problems. He stressed the importance of an abundance of clean, pure water which is necessary for the propagation of fish life.

The gathering enjoyed a many-varied feast of moose, elk, bear, venison, goose, duck and salmon meat for dinner, according to Charles S. Collins, secretary of the State Wildlife Federation from Roseburg.

Fugitive Surgeon Sought On Texas Kidnaping Charge

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—A Texas surgeon who fled into hiding with his small son of his third marriage and the daughter of his fourth wife telephoned a threat from New Mexico, Sheriff Noble Crawford said Sunday.

Police pickup orders were issued in Texas and New Mexico for Dr. Frank Sainburg. He disappeared with the boy, Philip Sainburg II, 4, and the girl, Mary Jean Nance, also 4.

Sheriff Crawford said Sainburg told his father-in-law, Longview Attorney Neal Smith, that Smith would never see Mary Jean again if kidnap charges against the doctor aren't dropped. The phone call came from Hobbs, N.M.

Sainburg is charged at Itasca, N. Y., with kidnaping his son from the apartment of the boy's mother Jan. 19, 1954. She lives at Itasca under her maiden name of Mrs. Doris Blanchard. She got a divorce May 21, 1954.

political overtones surrounding the AFL-CIO merger. Some Republicans have voiced fear the combined labor organization will seek to over-exploit its potential political strength.

Co-Operation Stressed
The President, in a message he talked over in detail with Secretary of Labor Mitchell and other advisers in advance, stressed the view that employer and employee must work together for "mutual prosperity."

"The splendid record of labor peace and unparalleled prosperity during the last three years," he said, "demonstrates our industrial maturity."

Eisenhower said this came about "against the backdrop of non-interference by government except only to protect the public interest, in the rare cases of genuine national emergency."

He called on the delegates, too, and the union members they represent, to think of themselves as citizens first.

"The roads you travel, the schools your children attend, the taxes you pay, the standards of integrity in government, the conduct of the public business is your business as Americans," he said.

The President wound up his message with a slap at the Communists' methods of controlling populations abroad.
